

Rep. Gibbons Will Be Gov. Herter's Chief Lieutenant During the Coming Legislative Session on Beacon Hill

A tall, angular, soft-spoken man, who was born in a log cabin on the outskirts of Kentucky's blue grass country, only a few miles from the historic birthplace of Abraham Lincoln, will serve as Governor Herter's first lieutenant in the legislative battles which will be fought on Beacon Hill during the coming months.

He is Representative Charles Gibbons of Stoneham, who has stepped down from the post of Speaker to that of minority leader in the Massachusetts House of Representatives. On his shoulders will rest the heavy responsibility of steering the Governor's program through a body in which the Democrats will have control.

Few men could be any better prepared or equipped than is Gibbons for the difficult role he will fulfill. Yet, he is a resident of Massachusetts by accident, and but for one of the strange turns of fate Governor Herter would not have his strong, steady right arm in a vitally important branch in the State government. For the reason the Republican House chieftain happened to settle in Massachusetts was that he fell in love with a Chelsea girl while serving in the Navy.

The eldest of six children of a Baptist circuit preacher and sharecropper, Gibbons, now the Republican field general in the House of Representatives, has a colorful and picturesque background.

GOVERNOR CHRISTIAN A. HERTER congratulates Harold O. Cook of 386 Wolcott street, Auburndale, chief forester of the Commonwealth, on the 47th anniversary of his joining the Department of Natural Resources. Mr. Cook, a nationally-known authority on silviculture, is said to be the oldest forester in the nation in point of service with a single forestry unit. He joined the Massachusetts Department after his graduation from the Harvard University School of Forestry in 1907.

A total of 28 current and former Newton youths were inducted into the armed forces the past seven days following a pair of sendoff ceremonies Friday and Tuesday at Selective Service Headquarters in Newtonville.

Father Quinn Of Australia To Speak Here

Rev. Peter Quinn, native of Australia, will be the speaker at the meeting Sunday of the Holy Name Society of Our Lady's Church, Newton. Members of the Society will attend the 8 o'clock Mass and receive Communion together. A short business meeting will be held immediately afterwards in the High School.

Father Quinn is temporarily staying at Our Lady's Help of Christians Church in Newton. He is a graduate of Propaganda Fide University and Lateral Law School, Rome, Italy. He entered St. Charles' Seminary, Perth, Australia, and was ordained December 21, 1950 at Propaganda College in Rome, Italy, and he is a specialist in Canon Law. He has been sent to the United States by his Bishop to observe the Ecclesiastical Court's procedure. The subject of his talk will be on "Australia and its Background."

Will Protest Removal of 2 Station Agents

A petition is being circulated among the residents of Newton Highlands seeking to oppose the proposed removal by the New York Central Railroad of the station agents at the Eliot and Chestnut Hill Stations on the Highland Branch.

A hearing on this matter is to be held at the State House in Boston on Monday, January 10, in Room 166, Department of Public Utilities, at 10:15 a.m. All persons interested in opposing the proposed removal of the station agents, or any other downward revision of the railroad service, are urged to attend this hearing.

Traffic Signals Sought at Site Of Dec. Fatality

Traffic lights are being sought by Police Chief Philip Purcell at the intersection of Centre, Cabot and Sargent streets, Newton, site of a fatal accident on December 13.

In a letter to the Board of Aldermen, Chief Purcell reported there had been an average of five accidents a year, causing property damage or injuries, at the triple intersection over the last five years. The December victim was a Cambridge man who apparently was seeking a street sign when struck.

In his letter, Chief Purcell stated, "It has been strongly suggested to the Police Department that a traffic light be installed at the junction of Centre, Cabot and Sargent streets. As you know, there was a fatal pedestrian accident there on Monday night, December 13, shortly after 5 p.m."

"The volume of vehicular traffic during certain hours between 7:30 and 9 a.m. and 4:30 and 6 p.m. is rather heavy in relation to the width of Centre street. At these times there is also considerable traffic entering from Sargent and Cabot streets into Centre street."

The recommendation has been referred to the aldermen's Street Traffic Committee, which will study the possibility of lights and report to the full board.

Plan Protest Meeting Monday On Zone Change

According to Charles A. McCarthy, president, the Newton Lower Falls Improvement Association will hold a protest meeting against change of zoning from single residence to business.

The land in question is located on Washington street between Beacon street and Belmont Park.

The meeting will take place at St. Mary's Church in the Parish House on Concord st., Newton Lower Falls, this coming Monday at 8:00 p.m.

All residents and interested parties are urged to attend.

Would Remove Some Meters on Washington St.

Removal of parking meters from the south side of Washington street between Church and Richardson streets, Newton, has been recommended by the Police Department in a communication to the Board of Aldermen.

Calling attention to the fact that the area is not in a shopping center, Sgt. William H. Dowling has recommended the rescinding of the parking meter ordinance for the railroad side of Washington street between Church and Richardson streets and that two-hour parking be permitted there.

On the opposite side of Washington street, angle parking has been abolished from Jewett street to 399 Washington street, and has been replaced by one-hour parallel parking from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m., Sgt. Dowling reported.

The recommendation has been referred to the Aldermanic Street Traffic Committee under the chairmanship of Alderman William A. Diman.

Brookline Street

Claim Curve Perils Children Attending Spaulding School

Brookline street residents, backed by the Spaulding School Parent-Teacher Association and the Oak Hill Improvement Association, made a strong plea Monday to have a dangerous curve in their Newton Centre street straightened out before any children attending the school are traffic victims at the corner.

Elimination of the curve was favored by 14 residents attending a public hearing before the Board of Aldermen, who emphasized their request with a petition signed by members of the Spaulding School P.T.A.

The one voice in opposition was raised by Robert E. Cunniff of 393 Brookline street. He said he had no objection to the widening and straightening of the dangerous curve, but he didn't want the city to move the street across his front yard.

Cunniff urged changing the city's plans so that the street would run through vacant, level land across from his house. He claimed the bend "was put in for a safety measure" as it slows traffic. Straightened out, Brookline street would become a speedway, Cunniff declared.

Those in favor of the straightening were led by Henry K. Shor of 90 High Rock terrace, a member of the health and safety committee of the Spaulding School P.T.A. He bolstered his arguments by citing previous approval of the project by both the Newton School Committee and the Police Department.

He cited several accidents at the curve, blaming them on the unexpected sharp turning of the street. In the last snowstorm, a heavy truck skidded on the curve and slammed into a stone wall on the opposite side.

"I hate to think what would happen if children had been going to school that day," he said.

Street Commiss'r Confirmed; Elect 5 City Officials

The appointment of a new street commissioner was confirmed and five city officials were returned to office Monday night by unanimous votes of the Board of Aldermen.

Elected as street commissioner, as of last Saturday since he was already at work, was Frank K. Perkins of 127 Waverley avenue, Newton, after a somewhat confused vote.

The docket for the night carried his middle initial as "R", and according to the aldermen's rules each of the 18 members present solemnly arose in turn and repeated the incorrect name for the street position while the reporters at the press table wiggled signals frantically.

The error was not noted until the vote had been completed, and someone named Frank "R." Perkins had been elected. Board President Wendell R. Bauckman quickly asked the board members if he could change their votes, and the nomination of the right Perkins—who has been acting as street commissioner since the first of the year—was confirmed.

Also by unanimous votes, Archie R. Whitman of 15 Ithaca circle, Newton Lower Falls, was re-elected city treasurer and collector of taxes for a 1-year term, and John D. Martin of 51 Thaxter road, Newtonville, was named comptroller of accounts for three years.

Reappointments by the mayor or confirmed by the board were William E. Hopkins of 11 Willard street, Newton, and William B. Marquis of 79 Ridge road, Waban, as members of the Planning Board for 3-year terms, and Sydney B. Holden of 54 Bothfield road, Newton Centre, as a member of the Board of Assessors for three years.

Double Census Count Is Now Under Way

Forty police officers are devoting their off-duty time to the annual assessed poll listing task which started Monday of this week, Police Captain Charles E. Walker has announced. In addition to the poll listing there has been added the state decennial census.

The patrolmen are working under the direction of Sgt. William J. Bell and will receive extra pay at the regular daily rate. The two listings are expected to require about six weeks and, according to City Clerk Monte G. Basbas, will cost approximately $12,000.

Officers are filling out two cards for each listing, one for the city's assessed poll book of residents 20 years of age and over, and the other for the state census of all inhabitants.

Newton's population in 1953 was listed at 85,999 but it has been estimated that there are 87,000 persons in the city at the present time. Approximately 65,000 assessed poll cards have been prepared by the Registrars of Voters to be filled out by the listers.

Would Remove RR Agents at Eliot and C.H.

A hearing to displace agents from the Chestnut Hill railroad station and the Eliot Station in Newton Highlands will be held Monday, January 10, at 10:15 a.m., in room 167 at the State House by the Department of Public Utilities.

The New York Central Railroad, which has leased the road from the Boston and Albany, has requested permission to remove the agents. Some opposition is expected from local residents.

"It is well known that we are losing money on our communication business," a spokesman for the railroad said, explaining that the request is being made for economy. "Our income has gone down and expenses up on that line," he stated.

If the request is granted, Eliot and Chestnut Hill stations would be kept open and heated during the winter, and caretakers would be employed to keep up the fires and look after the buildings.

Will Not Affect Tax Rate; to Use Water Receipts

A $350,000 bond issue, first step in an overall revision of weak spots in the city's water system, was authorized Monday night by a unanimous vote of the Board of Aldermen at Newton City Hall.

The 10-year bond issue will not affect the tax rate, since it will be financed from Water Department revenue. Construction of two huge storage tanks and connecting mains is expected to overcome water pressure problems in various sections of the city until at least the year 2000.

The project was recommended by consulting engineers Coffin and Richardson of Boston, who began a survey of the city's water problems shortly after the changeover in May to the Metropolitan District Commission water system.

More than $800,000 worth of improvements were recommended by the survey. The two main items planned at present are the 400,000 gallon storage tanks in Auburndale and Oak Hill. Also slated is 10,000 feet of additional water mains to eliminate difficulties in the local system.

The Auburndale storage tank is estimated to cost a total of $95,000, including 800 feet of 16-inch water main to connect with the Washington street main. A similar figure is estimated for the Oak Hill tank and connecting 16-inch mains.

Other water mains planned are 4200 feet along Grove and Moulton streets, Newton Lower Falls, costing $42,000; 2800 feet from Winchester street at Wallace street, to Dedham street at Parker street, Newton Centre, costing $38,000; 2200 feet from Washington street across railroad property to Grove street, Auburndale; 900 feet along a part of Dedham street, $15,000.

Monday's action only authorized the bond issue. Appropriations for the work outlined will have to be approved by the aldermen before any construction begins.

1955 Campaign to Conquer Polio Off to Flying Start

Thousands of volunteers throughout Massachusetts launched the 1955 campaign this week to conquer polio. The campaign will continue through January 31.

Buoyed up by memory of the recent polio vaccine trials in which more than 28,000 Massachusetts boys and girls took part, they will set out to raise funds which will help to bring victory over polio.

Parents throughout the Commonwealth, realizing that the vaccine developed by Dr. Jonas Salk of Pittsburgh may bring an end to the battle against polio, were among the busiest and most dedicated of the volunteers.

"Although the future looks bright," said Bill Cunningham, Boston columnist and 1955 MOD state chairman, "we do not yet know positively the results of

INCINERATOR PROJECT
The bill for repairs to the city incinerator rose to $260,000 when another $30,000 was authorized in advance of this year's budget.
A similar sum was voted last month for replacement of hoppers and grates in the firing ovens, but this portion of the original request was held until the January meeting so it would come under the 1955 budget.

The latest appropriation will pay for new lights, ventilation improvements, fireproofing, fire hoses, a new floor and locker room. At a previous aldermen's meeting, the condition of the incinerator plant was described as "deplorable," and these funds will allow a general "face-lifting."

A $31,000 street construction project for paving the playground half of Albemarle road, Newtonville, was not reported out by the public works committee, as further study was requested. Other projects held for study by the committee were $17,500 for construction of Russell road, West Newton; $2200 for sewer construction on Crafts street, Newtonville; $2300 for Dedham street, Newton Centre; and $5685 for an 805-foot water main extension on Deborah road, Oak Hill.

Approved were $16,500 for construction of Barbara road and $10,000 for Elizabeth circle, both of West Newton, and $11, 500 for purchase of cold water meters, since no meters are now on hand. The aldermen also voted $1500 for drain and sewer construction through private land north and east from Auburndale park, Auburndale, provided the owner of the land contributes another $5000 before construction starts.

City Treasurer Archie R.
Whitman was authorized to borrow up to $5,000,000 to finance city operations until 1955 tax receipts are received. This is an item which comes up every year and is almost automatic.

Last year, Whitman held the borrowing to $3,000,000, although he could have borrowed more. Finance committee chairman Earle D. Wood expressed the hope that the
this year.

To build up the city's stock of parking meters, $1375 was appropriated from parking meter receipts. Extra meters on hand have now been used up, Wood reported, leaving the city with none for emergency use.

"Occasionally someone is a little too anxious to get parked and knocks one over," said Wood in explaining the need for extra meters.

All growth that is not toward God, is growing to decay.

the trials, and we must remember that the chapters of Massachusetts have been under extremely heavy expense."

Although final figures are not in, more than $710,000 was spent in Massachusetts alone last year for the treatment of 2345 patients. This is exclusive of many thousands spent in Massachusetts medical centers on research into the cause and cure of polio.

"The vital patient care program must continue for those thousands already stricken," Cunningham declared. Nationally, he pointed out, the March of Dimes in the last recorded 12-month period spent $28,000, 000 on patient care.

He paid tribute to his state vice-chairman, Edward C. Donnelly, Jr., Boston advertising executive; and Mrs. Arthur Hotch of Watertown, state chairman for women's activities, as well as to the nameless thousands throughout the state who have worked faithfully to conquer polio over the years.

The year 1954 brought 1023
new cases of polio to Massachusetts. These were in addition to the thousands of cases contracted in previous years and requiring treatment over an extended period, he pointed out.

Cunningham urged early and generous gifts to help restore a treasury seriously depleted by heavy expenses.

an D. Malcolm of 118 Wiswall road, Newton Centre, principal of the Spaulding School, pointed out that 87 children have to use the narrow sidewalk beside the curve every school day, unless they take a detour. It is an "un-students to walk back along that sidewalk for after-school coun-

"The hazard to the children," declared Erik H. Hanson of 239

Christmas Activities- Many And Varied at Pomroy House

The Christmas activities were many and varied during the Christmas week at the Pomroy House, a Newton Red Feather Agency. From young to old, something was planned for all.

The Supper Club composed of 12 girls entertained some of the members of the Newton Boys' Club at supper which the girls prepared under the direction of Miss Rosemary McAuliffe, their leader. Supper was followed by games and general fun.

The children of the Nursery School sang songs for their mothers and brothers and sisters and presented their mothers with the gifts which they had made for them. The members of the Nursery School were presented gifts given by the Mothers' Club, the Cheerful Club and a new Young Mothers' Club. The parents of the Nursery School children had their own fun at a party on Thursday evening with James Boudreau, chairman of the group, in charge of the evening of games, carol singing and exchange of gifts. Mrs. William Hattery served refreshments, assisted by her committee, Mrs. Arthur Murphy, Mrs. Gerard Matthews, Mrs. Querino Pozzi, Mrs. Edward Gallagher.

On Monday evening the members of the Mothers' Club sat around the fireplace for Christmas stories and carol singing. Mrs. Mary Farrell and Mrs. Angie Bartberger had charge of refreshments when Mrs. Florence Charlton and Mrs. Isabel Morton poured at the coffee table.

Members of the Cheerful Club were entertained by a group from the Newtons with a musical program conducted by Mrs. William N. Oedell. Mrs. Albert W. Schoonmaker accompanied at the piano with Mrs. Kenneth Waite of the Newtons planning the program. During the afternoon Mrs. Carl Smith had charge of games while Thatcher Hollis assisted with

Larger Seating Capacity at Stadium Urged

Enlargement of grandstand seating facilities at Dickinson Stadium have been suggested by Carl L. Swan, faculty ticket manager to the Newton School Committee.

Mr. Swan would have a stand built across from the present concrete stands that now seat about 5700 people. He pointed out that Newton sold 1,311 tickets to standees at the recent Newton-Brookline game.

"If you go around asking people to support school activities then it's hard to have to refuse them tickets to the one game they want to see," Mr. Swan contended.

The committee which did not make any definite recommendations, was wary of buying more stands, which would be filled once or twice a year.

Supt. Harold B. Gores also pointed out that TV may cut into attendance further.

Total sales at Newton's nine football games this year grossed $15,828.12, plus the Student Activities Ticket allotment of $204.60, bringing the gross receipts for both to $16,032.72. Subtracting the cost of ticket collection, police and officials, net receipts for the year was $8,860.72.

By LEE LOUMOS

In the "old days" in radio, one of the early morning favorites was the cheerful fellow who put you through your daily exercises - pushups, hops and skips, stretches and deep-knee bends. And what has this to do with television today?

That's easy... because a TV picture can go through some exercises, too... generally to the chagrin of the set owner. Take the "stretch," for instance. Did you ever have your set do a long horizontal stretch on you, pulling out to the side? That's an exercise that can sometimes be stopped by adjusting the hold control... but it's also a common symptom of a failing tube in the set's horizontal circuit.

What about jumps and roll-overs? These exercises can be started by interference or by faulty adjustment in the vertical controls. Of course there are a lot of other tricks that a TV picture can perform that a human being can't imitate... like picture shrinkage, for example, which usually comes with failing power tubes... or loss of sound, like that breathless feeling you have when you've done your exercise. Maybe it's just as well that we don't carry this comparison too far. After all, we don't want the set collapsing in a heap on the floor the way a man does after ten pushups.

Our technicians are experts on "TV ailments." They know just what steps to take to correct any reception problems and they have the full stock of replacement parts to make your set continue itself to just one exercise... giving you the best possible picture.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbias. For a better choice in the finest TV, visit our showroom.

He was a district supervisor for long lines in Newton. Born in Albany, N. Y. Mr. Dunn has lived in Newton for 18 years. He is a member of the Sherwin Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers, an organization for those who have been with the Bell System for 21 years or more. Married to the former Josephine Barrett, he is the father of two children, William and Edward.

Traditional Open House Held New Year's Day by YMCA

Newton YMCA held its traditional Open House for members and the people of the communities served by the Association, New Year's Day from 2:30 to 5:30 p.m. in the YMCA building, 276 Church street, Newton 58.

The program this year was varied and new in comparison to programs of past years. Members and staff worked hard to plan the exhibits and demonstrations that showed the work of the Association as well as entertaining the visitors.

So that the adults could move around more freely, the little tots were entertained by showings of Walt Disney's prize winning film, "Beaver Valley."

Among the new features this year were golf demonstrations by members of the John Hoyt Kent golf instructional staff and an exhibition of the ever increasingly popular trampoline.

In addition to the physical program there were many boys and young peoples program features, including a Junior Hi-Y club induction of new members and a food sale by members of the Tri-Hi-Y clubs in the main lobby for benefit of the Newton Y's World Service fund.

A craft exhibit under the supervision of Miss Margaret Underhill, leader, was held in the Youth Work Division craft shop. In the first floor recreation room, there were displays from the four Newton YMCA camping programs; Camps Frank A. Day, Massasoit, Chickami, and Vagabond.

Members of the Board of Directors, headed by Frederick S. Bacon, president, acted as guides and hosts for the Open House. Leonard D. Garfield, adult program secretary, was the staff co-ordinator.

Shirking Duties?

A very satisfying news item this week is one noting that a United States Senate subcommittee studying juvenile delinquency is prepared to blast the "comic" book industry for its glorification of "crime, horror and sadism."

Although this portion of the report deals only with so-called comic books, it applies equally as well to other salacious and indecent literature easily available to our younger citizens.

Responsibility for the content and distribution of objectionable comic books, a preliminary draft of the report states, lies squarely on the shoulders of publishers, but much of the burden for "continuing vigilance" belongs to parents' and citizens' groups.

"Civic organizations can do a worthy job by calling the attention of parents to materials offered for children's reading that fall below the American standard of decency by glorifying crime, horror and sadism," the report reads.

The Graphic agrees wholeheartedly with the subcommittee's conclusions, especially with respect to the role of civic, church and parent organizations. Local organizations—unless formed merely as social circles—are shirking their responsibilities if they close their eyes to the immoral dangers lurking on virtually every newsstand in the "Garden City."

Faith in the Future

With the early days of 1955 now upon us, our faith in the future of our country and our economy can make this "the best year yet."

We must have an atmosphere which encourages confidence and that faith... an atmosphere in which men are inspired to try and try again, secure in the knowledge that they will not be despoiled of the fruits of success either by confiscatory taxation or by the more insidious method of monetary inflation.

A greater understanding of how our free economy operates is essential in order to overcome the economic fallacies which beset the nation and to promote the acceptance of sound, proven economic principles which are necessary for making 1955 "the best year yet."

And with the acceptance of these principles The Graphic wishes all its readers a happy and very prosperous 1955.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

When their truckload of steel shavings dribbled out onto the highway, causing a dozen flat tires in Hampden, Ohio, truck operators Floyd Wiseman and Roger Eberts were fined $10 each by Mayor Nickell and were put to work with brooms sweeping nearly nine miles of roadway.

Stephen A. Mitchell, who recently resigned from the chairmanship of the Democratic National Committee, plans to spearhead a drive for the nomination of Adlai E. Stevenson as the Democratic candidate for President in 1956. As national committee head, Mitchell had to maintain a pretense of neutrality, but now that he is a private citizen he is free to devote himself to Stevenson. So far, of course, Adlai has not said he will run.

Out in San Pablo, Calif., cab driver
William Myer and filling station attendant William E. Van Meter reported that a holdup man robbed them of $20, then handed them a fifth of whiskey, gave them six minutes in which to drink it, thereby placing them in such a condition they were unable to tell their story to police for several hours.

A. B. "Happy" Chandler, former baseball commissioner and before that U. S.
Senator and Governor of Kentucky, is attempting a political comeback in the Blue Grass State. He has launched his campaign for the Governorship, although the Democratic primary in which he is running will not be held until next Aug. 6.

C. F. Colwell, 39, of Fort Worth, Tex., saw a 74-year-old woman in the window of a burning house. He braced himself to catch her, and the lady promptly dropped onto his head a bottle of ketchup and a jar of mayonnaise she was trying to save from the conflagration. While he was still dazed from the ketchup and mayonnaise, she jumped down and sent him crashing to the ground. Mr. Colwell declares that he never really meant to be a hero anyway.

Political Overtones

He received his early education in a one-room schoolhouse that contained all eight grades. Later he graduated from Baptist Church in Barbersville, Ky., an institution which specialized in training country school teachers.

Gibbons worked for a short period firing boilers on a freight locomotive running between Louisville, Ky., and Jellico, Tenn., subsequently served a six-year hitch in the Navy, leaving it with the rank of radio operator and on his discharge from the service went to work as a telegrapher.

While he is now recognized as an authority on Massachusetts government and possesses a remarkable record of accomplishment during his two years as Speaker and the four he served as Republican House leader, Gibbons still possesses a slight southern drawl in his deliberate manner of speaking.

Representative Gibbons was one of the chief architects of the legislative record achieved by Governor Herter during his first two years in office.

But he gave probably the outstanding demonstration of his capabilities and his qualities of leadership during his previous four years as Republican House chief, from 1949 through 1952, when Paul A. Dever was Governor and the House was under Democratic control.

It was then that Gibbons maintained a brand of party discipline in the House which caused observers to sit up in respectful attention.

He worked then under greater handicaps than he will during the next two years. He had no power of patronage then, as he does now, and he was forced to rely principally on the force of his own personality and on his ability to appeal to the party loyalty of the men and women he was leading when it was necessary to rally them.

But he did a superb job, and he won fight after fight on the floor of the House, when the odds appeared heavily against him. Part of his success could be attributed to the fact that he insisted effectively that the Republican House members be on hand, when important measures were to be voted upon, and he made the most of what he had to work with.

It is largely because of Gibbons that many onlookers anticipate that the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives is not going to be the great obstacle to Governor Herter that might be expected at the first blush of consideration.

Some politicians apparently believe that the lower branch of the State Legislature will spend a major part of its time killing the measures submitted by Mr.
Herter and passing bills intended to embarrass the administration.

That is not likely to be the case with Gibbons serving as the Republican field general and leader on the floor of the House.

There may be some prolonged debates and lengthy battles in the Legislature this year, and this 1955 session is likely to last much longer than did the sessions in either of Governor Herter's first two years in office.

But a pretty safe prediction right now would be that Mr. Gibbons will win more fights than he will lose.

Developments on Beacon Hill during the next 18 months could well push Gibbons to the forefront as the outstanding Republican contender for the Governorship in 1956, in the event that Governor Herter chooses not to run again.

Gibbons was an avowed candidate for Governor back in the spring of 1952, but he stepped aside after Mr. Herter consented to carry the Republican banner into the gubernatorial campaign that year.

He is the type of person who never sidesteps an issue because it is too controversial or too hot to handle. In 1952 he was one of the Bay State supporters of the late Senator Robert A. Taft, and at the Republican national convention he went down the line with Taft. As soon as that fight was over, incidentally he accepted a prominent position in President Eisenhower's campaign like the political soldier that he is.

Neither Lieutenant Governor Sumner
G. Whittier nor Congressman Laurence Curtis, the other two potential G.O.P. candidates for the Governorship next year, were delegates to the '52 convention, and Gibbons would be almost certain to have the backing of the former Taft followers in any struggle for the gubernatorial endorsement, and many of the House members also would rally behind him.

Gibbons is one of the busiest individuals on Beacon Hill. One might well gather the impression that he never has time for anything but politics, and there are periods of the year when that is pretty close to the fact.

However, like many public celebrities, including President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Churchill, he is an amateur artist in what spare time he has, and he occasionally has paintings on exhibition in galleries.

He is a key figure in Governor Herter's administration, and he will be one of the Republicans to watch in the months to come.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

A framed legend which hangs over the fireplace in the office of Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Democratic floor leader in the U. S. Senate, reads:
"You ain't learnin' nothin' when you're talkin'." While Johnson has been boomed at times as a possible candidate for the Presidency, he does not regard himself as one, declaring that he is conscious of his own limitations and that he already has gone further in public life than anyone but his mother ever thought he would.

JAMES L. RICHARDS

Services for James L. Richards, 96, board chairman of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company and reputed to be one of the nation's richest men, will be private. He died Sunday at his home, 47 Kirtall road, Newtonville.

Although he never attended college, Mr. Richards was a great believer in education. He was for many years a director and trustee of Northeastern University and one of its principal benefactors. In 1938 its Richards Hall was named for him.

One of the pioneers in the utility industry, he had continued active in business up to last September, reporting to his Boston office every day. He made weekly train trips to New York until his 95th birthday as an executive committee member and director of the American Sugar Refining Company.

Born in East Longmeadow on a farm, Mr. Richards made his fortune in the tobacco business and tried vainly to retire at the age of 42. However, many companies kept calling for his services and he served as a director for 33 concerns at the same time.

Mr. Richards was married to the former Cora E. Towne of Springfield who died in 1951 at the age of 90.

He always maintained that "an executive needs a month or two off each year, no matter what comes up."

He also had been a trustee of Wesleyan University and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Surviving are a son, Edwin
M. Richards of Chestnut Hill;
a daughter, Mrs. Robert J.
Leonard of Pelham Manor, N.
Y.; a sister, Marion L. Richards of Springfield; nine grandchildren, 26 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

MRS. NELLIE A. ABARE

The widow of the late Eli Abare, she had lived in Newton for the past 34 years. She is survived by a daughter, Miss Olive Abare, of the same address.

Funeral services were held Monday morning with a Requiem High Mass at St. John the Evangelist Church at 9 a.m.

Interment was in the family
lot at Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

To Hold First Open House of The New Year

The first Open House of the New Year will be held at the Jackson Homestead Sunday,
January 9, from 3 to 5 p.m.
The exhibit of laces and hand-woven fabrics will be continued through January. Many new acquisitions will be displayed.
The trustees and directors will welcome all visitors.

The classes for children will be held at the Homestead on Tuesday, January 4, 2 to 3 and 3 to 4 p.m. Because the Jackson Homestead was unable to accommodate all children who, in the Fall, expressed an interest in these classes, this second series, beginning on January 4, is being held and will continue for 8 weeks.

For information regarding this special program offered to the children, or for registration, please call Mrs. Walter Sears, DEcatur 2-3920, immediately.

MISS JEAN BAIRD BRIDE OF MR. WILLIAM ROBERT HANEY

The First Church of Belfast, Maine, was the scene of a candle-light ceremony Wednesday, December 22, when Miss Jean Baird, daughter of Judge and Mrs. Edward Graham Baird, became the bride of William Robert Haney, son of Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Haney of Newtonville. The wedding took place at four o'clock with Dr. Charles A. Haney, father of the bridegroom, and Rev. Frank Pitman of the First Church officiating.

Lighted tapers shone on the fan-shaped bouquets of white chrysanthemums and snapdragons which decorated the altar. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Edwoud Farm, hope of the bride's parents.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white velvet princess style gown with a cathedral train and her mother's wedding veil with a cap of Brussels' lace caught with orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of white orchids, roses and stephanotis.

Preceding the bride to the altar was the bridegroom's sister, Miss Aldyth Louise Haney, her maid of honor. Other attendants were Miss Victoria Pearson and Miss Elinor Dean of New York City. They wore winter blue waltz length gowns of velvet, and carried sheaths of silver leaves. Half hats trimmed in matching shade of blue velvet completed their costumes.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Baird chose a patio length sheath dress of Dior blue lace with beaded details. Her black hat was also trimmed with beads and she wore a corsage of pink orchids. Mrs. Haney, the bridegroom's mother, was gowned in dusty rose lace with matching accessories. Her corsage was of brown orchids.

Charles A. Haney, III, brother of the bridegroom was best man. Groomsmen were Mr. Bruce Hawley, Mr. William White and Mr. James Haney of Boston and Mr. Frederic Brace of Belfast.

Friends of the bride's mother, Mrs. Roger Brace, Mrs. Philip Crosby and Mrs. Irving Young acted as hostesses at the reception. When the couple left for their wedding trip the new Mrs. Haney wore a French black and white tweed suit, a fitted black coat and a corsage of white orchids.

The bride will graduate from Radcliff College in June. Mr. Haney is an alumnus of Tufts College and a member of Delta Upsilon Fraternity. He will graduate from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration in June. On their return from the wedding trip the couple will be at home at 21 Wendell street, Cambridge.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

At the last meeting, Wednesday, January 5, at the Newton Highlands Congregational Church parish house, the Music Committee offered a most interesting afternoon of music beginning at 2 p.m. Jennette Anderson, concert pianist of Wellesley Hills, presented "Portraits of the Romantic Composers in Music and Legend", a lecture-recital. This was a program of high caliber and wide appeal in which the audience witnessed the rise and progression of the Romantic movement and was given an insight into history as it was made at that time. It met the Romantic composers and followed them through the intriguing episodes of their lives. It discovered not only what each composer, with his own personality and ideals, contributed to the movement, but also how the general principles behind the movement affected the works of these composers and consequently why their music which we play and love is what it is.

Jennette Anderson is a graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music and has headed the departments of music at both Atlanta University and Tilton Seminary. The great insight, clarity, and dexterity with which she played were outstanding and her unusual method of presentation made her performance a thoroughly delightful as well as an educational one.

Following the program tea was served. The Club is to be congratulated for having filled 55 bags with gifts which were distributed to Veterans' Hospitals for Christmas.

Marriage Intentions

David H. Buchanan, 18 Nye square, Brockton, and Lillian A. MacMullan, 12 Daniel street, Newton Centre.

Michael P. DePasquale, 102 Webster park, West Newton, and Lorraine Macchione, 107 Elliot street, Newton Highlands.

Miss Anne Bullen Weds Mr. Warren C. Bosworth

At four o'clock on Christmas Day, Miss Anne Smith Bullen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Warren Bullen, became the bride of Mr. Warren Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bennett Bosworth of Akron, Ohio, who were unable to attend.

Dr. Joseph Cony MacDonald performed the simple, but impressive double ring ceremony at the home of the bride's parents in Waban, Massachusetts. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a dress of champagne lace over taffeta, with a portrait neckline and bouffant skirt. Her shoulder length veil was caught to a coronet of lace and seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of variegated holly and feathered white carnations with a corsage of white camellias and stephanotis.

Miss Emily Bullen, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her dress was cranberry red taffeta with a sweetheart neckline and bouffant skirt. She carried a cascade bouquet of variegated holly and feathered white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Bullen wore a gold lame dress with a corsage of red camellias.

Corporal Jed Wentworth Bullen, II, of the United States Marine Corps, brother of the bride, was best man.

Mr. George Wright Briggs, Jr., of the New England Conservatory of Music and a close friend of the bride's parents, played the bridal march on the Hammond organ. The organ was played during the reception by Mr. Willem Frank of the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and attended Mt. Vernon Junior College in Washington, D.C. The groom was graduated from South Hills High School, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and attended the University of Utah. He served two years in the United States Air Force. After a wedding trip to New York and New Jersey, Mr. and Mrs. Bosworth will make their home in Bennington, Vermont.

DRAMA AND PAST PRESIDENTS DAY TO BE HELD JANUARY 14

The West Newton Women's Educational Club will meet Friday, January 14 at 2 p.m. at the Second Church Parish House, West Newton. This will be "Drama Day" and also "Past Presidents' Day," when the President, Mrs. Sidney R. Williamson, will present each Past President to the Club and invite her to give a brief resume of her administration. Mrs. William L. Warner, Chairman of the Fine Arts committee, will have charge of the program for the afternoon.

The choral group, Mrs. George Bagnall, Mrs. Wallace Burbo, Mrs. Raymond Farnum, Mrs. C. David Gordon, Mrs. Homer Lucas, Mrs. Werner Nelson, Mrs. Frederick Rousseau and Mrs. C. Roy Rock, will sing "When You Walk Alone"; and the Drama Group will present a one act play "The Skin Game", with the following cast as they appear: Mrs. A. K. Taylor, Mrs. Nelse Herve, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, Mrs. Werner Nelson and Mrs. C. Roy Rock. Following this there will be a short skit called "I Have a Secret", with Mrs. Albert Kreider the Master of Ceremonies; and Mrs. Merrill Smith, Mrs. Charles E. Gibson, Mrs. L. R. LeClair and Mrs. J. S. Leonard on the panel. Also, Mrs. George H. Hayden, Mrs. Donald O. Moody, Mrs. Frederick K. Rousseau and Mrs. C. Roy Rock, who have the secret.

Following the program a reception to the Past Presidents will be held in the Ladies' Parlor. Hostesses at the tea and social hour will be Mrs. Edward A. Crosby and Mrs. Merrill Smith and their committee. Each club member is invited to bring a guest to this meeting.

TEMPLE SHALOM SISTERHOOD HOSTESS AT JOINT MEETING

On Tuesday, January 4, the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton was hostess for the annual joint meeting of the Sisterhoods of four Reform Temples of Greater Boston at the Temple Israel Meeting house, Riverway and Longwood avenue, Boston.

A stimulating and informative panel discussion of interest to every Jewish woman, from the Liberal Jew's viewpoint, entitled "The American Jewish Woman" highlighted the program and was followed by an open forum and question period. Mrs. Benjamin Levine, president of the Sisterhood of Temple Sinai, introduced the panel participants:

Mrs. Max Gold, vice-president of the Sisterhood of Temple Sinai, and a member of the board of trustees of Temple Sinai discussed "The Jewish Woman in the Home." Mrs. Herbert W. Winer, past president of the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton took for her topic "The Jewish Woman in the Synagogue." Mrs. David M. Small, honorary director of Temple Israel Sisterhood, past president and present board member of Boston Section National Council of Jewish Women, president of Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Club, discussed "The Jewish Woman in the Community." Mrs. Carl Spector, chairman of Committee of Peace and World Relations, Temple Ohabei Shalom Sisterhood, president of New England Hadasah, first chairman of Greater Boston Women's Division of Bonds for Israel and past chairman of Combined Jewish Appeal of Greater Boston Women's Division acted as the moderator.

W. N. Educational Garden Club

The West Newton Educational Garden Club will meet Monday, January 17th at the home of Mrs. William DeMelle, 51 Davis Avenue, West Newton. Dessert-coffee will be served at 1:00 P.M. by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. George D. Thomas. Following the business conducted by the leader, Mrs. Otto O. Prophet, there will be talks on "Our Garden Favorites," by Mrs. Francis R. Sage and Mrs. Edwin M. Wolley.

Horace Mann PTA

The Horace Mann P.T.A. will honor someone whose devoted service to the community has earned a tribute from its citizens, someone whose understanding and friendliness have won the esteem and love of many people — old and young, far and near. The identity of this person will be revealed in a "This Is Your Life" program at the January 11 meeting on Tuesday evening at 8:00 p.m. in the auditorium of the Horace Mann School in Newtonville.

Among the well known guests will be Mayor Howard Whitmore and Alderman Stuart M. Spaulding. However, the naming of all those who will be present to contribute to the portrayal might give away the secret, says George W. Taylor, Jr., president of the Horace Mann P.T.A.

Important also is the announcement of the Food Sale to be held at the school that evening under the direction of Mrs. Robert M. Stover, 54 Eddy Street, Newtonville.

In charge of refreshments for the social period following the meeting are Mrs. Gordon Ellis, 10 Walker street, Newtonville, Home Room Mother for the Fourth Grade (Miss Andrews' room); and Mrs. Eric J. Wheatley, 17 Bunker Lane, West Newton, Home Room Mother for the First Grade (Miss Larson's room).

MISS JEANNE ANN DELMASTRO WEDS JOHN STANTON O'CONNELL

Miss Jeanne Ann DelMastro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent DelMastro of 987 Beacon Street, Newton Centre, became the bride of John Stanton O'Donnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John B. O'Donnell of 988 Beacon Street, Monday, December 27, at the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre. A double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Arthur T. McClory at 10 A.M. The reception was held at the Simpson House in Newton Highlands.

The bride's father gave her in marriage. She wore a white princess gown with a lace bodice and satin skirt and a long Belgian lace veil caught in an orange blossom crown. She carried a bouquet of calla lilies.

Miss Margaret Cairn of Newtonville, maid of honor, was crowned in red velvet and tulle. She wore a red velvet hat and carried green carnations. The best man was Bernard A. O'Donnell of West Newton, brother of the bridegroom. George Cullen and Donald Boylan of Newton Centre were the ushers. The bride's mother wore a burgundy velvet dress scattered with rhinestones and the bridegroom's mother wore plum crepe. Leo Brehm played the wedding march and Thomas Brehm was the soloist.

The couple are honeymooning in Washington D.C. and will reside in Falmouth where the bridegroom is a teacher at the high school.

Miss Linda J. Lash and Miss Emily Bullen, students at House in the Pines, Norton, are at home for the Christmas vacation. Miss Lash is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Lash of 469 Brookline street, Newton and Miss Bullen is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur W. Bullen, 199 Collins road, Waban. Both girls are members of the Glee Club, the Spanish club and the Service League. Miss Lash is also a member of the Dramatic club and Miss Bullen is active in the Riding club and on the Library committee.

Big Christmas Mail at Newton Centre P.O.

Now that the rush and hustle of Christmas is over it is fitting that some recognition be made of the efficient manner in which the Newton Centre Post Office was managed. Normally there are 37 employees at this office but during the Christmas period this number was increased to about 90 employees.

During this period over 563,150 pieces of first, second and third class mail and over 29,350 pieces of parcel post were sent out of the Newton Centre Post Office. More than 717,860 pieces of mail were delivered by the Newton Centre carriers. This year the patrons of the Newton Centre Post Office used more 3-cent stamps on their Christmas cards than 2-cent stamps which is in line with the suggestion made by Postmaster Finn of the Boston Postal District. Records show that during the month of December the Newton Centre sold over 200,000 two-cent stamps and over 320,000 three-cent stamps.

Under the constant supervision of Supt. William A. McKenna and his very capable assistant George H. Ferran, the Newton Centre office functioned very smoothly. The stamp, parcel post and money order windows were open at all times during the Christmas period and were manned by efficient and courteous clerks. At no time was there a congestion in the lobby and many comments were made regarding this very efficient and courteous service. Newton Centre was one of the few offices open until 6:00 p.m. on the two Saturdays preceding Christmas day and this additional service was greatly appreciated by patrons not only from Newton Centre but also from Newton, Newtonville and Chestnut Hill as was evidenced by the large number of packages and cards which were mailed throughout these two Saturday afternoons. Extra depositories for local and non-local mail were placed in the lobby for the convenience of the patrons.

All mail was cleaned up daily and on Friday, December 24, no first class mail or parcel post was left undelivered. Such efficiency and consideration on the part of Mr. McKenna and Mr. Ferran and all of the personnel of the Newton Centre Post Office deserves recognition.

Newton Sports

Defending champions filled Newton High's cup of woe to overflowing this week by inflicting a trio of defeats in hockey, track and basketball. Belmont was the villain in Newton's second straight ice loss, while Rindge Tech twice downed the Orange and Black in the other sports... Despite an outstanding performance by Tiger co-captain Russ Halloran, Rindge outlasted the Orange and Black, 73-71, at the winner's gymnasium. The see-saw battle kept the bandbox gym in a constant uproar up to and beyond the final whistle... Both teams took turns in pulling away to brief leads. Newton was in front, 19-16, at the quarter, dropped five behind at the start of the second period, but led, 35-33, at the half. When play resumed the Tigers didn't find the basket until half the third stanza was gone and Rindge had spurred to a nine-point margin... Newton, with Halloran playing like a whirlwind dervish, moved ahead in a wild fourth quarter. The score was tied seven times until Rindge took a two-point lead with seven seconds to play. At the buzzer, little Mouse Kasarjian had two foul shots for the Tigers but missed them both while the gym rocked with screams by the frenzied spectators... High scorer was Stan Chamberlain, who poured 27 points through the hoop, while Halloran was next with 18.

Halloran played like a demon both on offense and defense, and scored most of his points in the second half. He made the game close when Rindge started to pull away in the third quarter by outshooting the Technicians to four points in the space of five seconds with alert play... Don't count these boys out yet. Rindge must play a game at the Tiger's court, and Newton will be primed for revenge. If this game is any yardstick, it looks like an exciting season for hoop followers.

Newton's unpredictable ice sextet remained winless New Year's afternoon as Belmont scored a hard-fought 2-0 victory. The Orange and Black, saddled with two defeats after a surprising first-game tie with Melrose, showed amazing improvement over its last performance against Stoneham, but still lacks the scoring punch to climb up to a higher rating in the G.B.I. League... The Tigers spent a good deal of the game in the Belmont zone, and hung within a single shot of tying the score until a freak goal in the final period put the decision out of reach. Belmont goalie John Volpe came up with 20 stops for the shutout, while diminutive Brian Dooley in the Newton cage had 11 saves to his credit... Top G.B.I. scorer George Higginbottom broke the scoreless deadlock after a fruitless first period, sending a 45-foot blast past the diving Dooley from just inside the blue line. Ken Gardner added the insurance tally at 2:25 of the final period, banking a billiard shot off a Newton skater's foot into the cage... It was an amazing turnaround for the Orange and Black six, which appeared slow, listless and uninspired against a supposedly puny Stoneham squad the last time out. Stoneham skated over, around and through the Tigers, but Newton threw up a rugged defense against Belmont, unbeaten and a good choice to repeat as G.B.I. champions... All the Tigers benefitted from the two-week layoff during the holidays, and Coach Jack Hall has plugged the serious leaks that appeared in the defense against Stoneham. If a few of the boys could come up with that scoring touch, Newton would be ready to move up from its lowly seventh place position.

Saturday afternoon, at approximately 3 o'clock, the Orange and Black face off against Cambridge Latin in a battle for the cellar. Latin has shown almost nothing this year, and has had even more trouble than Newton in denting the scoring column. This is one which Newton should take, and a win could leapfrog into the first division as the games go according to form. Another defending champion knocked off Newton Saturday afternoon when Rindge Tech's outstanding trackmen opened the Metropolitan Interscholastic Track League with a 45-32 victory over the Orange and Black. One Newton runner was knocked flat, another jostled badly off stride and jumper-hurdler John Simcock was unable to compete, or the decision might have been a good deal closer... Rindge has come up with some spectacular performers every year, but Newton figured to have a chance of avenging its lone loss on the Metropolitan boards last year. Rindge Tech is loaded again this season, however, and got off to a good start for the championship again... The Tigers showed their muscles to advantage in the shotput, which is probably wrapped up in Orange and Black ribbons for the whole season. Mel Shine grabbed first place with a 49 foot, 6 3/4 inch heave, with John Angier and George Burgess close behind to shut out Rindge... Bill Mullahy outlasted the opposition for first place in a 4:59.2 mile, and Tom Koller took first place in the 50-yard hurdles to pace the Tigers in the track events. Koller, who tied with two other Newtonites for third place in the high jump, was top scorer for the locals with his 5 1/3 points... The bad breaks which ruined Newton's challenge were (1) a spill by Dave Brahms at the start of the 600, after which he barely missed running in the money and wound up fourth; (2) a jostle which knocked Barry Gilvar off stride in the relay race and dropped Newton into a hole it never could get out of; and (3) an old football injury which kept Simcock, rated a sure point-getter in the high jump and hurdles, out of action. Better luck next week!

Council Church Women Hold Panel Discussion on Monday

The Mid-Winter Meeting of the Newton Council of Church Women will be held at Centenary Methodist Church, 230 Central street, Auburndale, Monday, January 10, at 2 p.m. As in former years, the theme of the Mid-Winter Meeting is based on the organization of the Council and its work. This year it will be presented through a panel discussion on "The Achievements and Objectives of United Church Women."

Those taking part in the Panel will be Mrs. Emil Hartl, past-president of the United Church Women of Massachusetts; Mrs. Stanley E. Clark, president of the Wellesley Council of Church Women; and Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst, past-president of the Newton Council of Church Women. Mrs. Hugh Robinson, president of the Council, will preside. Following the Panel there will be a question period, at which time delegates will be able to obtain information to relay to their individual churches, which represent five Protestant denominations in Newton. The program is open to the general public as well as to the delegates of the 24 member churches.

Mrs. Charles Clay, president of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of Centenary Church, and the Rev. Sidney Adams, minister, will bring greetings to the meeting. The devotion will be led by Mrs. Paul S. Schilling, Secretary of Spiritual Life of the Woman's Society. The tea following the program will be given by the Executive Board under the chairmanship of Mrs. Sidney Adams with the assistance of Mrs. Hollis Wyman, vice-president of the Woman's Society.

RICHARD KNOX LEE, C.S.B. London, England

Richard Knox Lee of London to Be Lecturer

Pure Christianity as the only unassailable basis for world peace, as well as for healing and salvation, will be the topic of a lecture on Christian Science to be given by Richard Knox Lee of London, England, in Newtonville, Sunday, January 9.

Members of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, sponsoring the lecture, have invited the public to attend without charge. Mr. Lee will speak in the church office, 391 Walnut street, Newtonville, at 3:30 p.m. His subject will be Christian Science: The Supremacy of Spirit.

The lecturer was for many years active in education in England. He became a student of Christian Science after he was healed of an illness that had invaded him from the British Army during World War I. He has been in the public practice of Christian Science healing since 1929.

Christmas Seal Sale In Need Of $3500 More

The Christmas Seal Sale of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is $3,500 short of the $20,000 needed to carry on its work in Newton for the coming year.

An increased demand for free chest X-rays in 1954 required the Association to extend its case finding program. In the West Newton survey alone, 2,000 free chest X-rays were given to Newton residents. Unless the Association reaches its $20,000 goal, these valuable case finding projects offering annual free chest X-rays will have to be discontinued.

The Association wishes to thank those people who have so generously supported their rehabilitation and health education programs which are also totally dependent upon the Christmas Seal Sale. However, these programs will have to be drastically cut unless the $3,500 shortage is made up by the 13,000 people who have not yet answered the Christmas Seal appeal.

Files Bill to Have Link Open

A bill has been filed by Representative Arthur G. Heaney which would require the Mass. Turnpike Authority to co-ordinate construction of the entire East-West toll road so that the connecting link from the Boston arterial system to Route 128 may be ready for use simultaneously with the opening of the main turnpike. "Newton's position in this affair is an extremely difficult one," said Rep. Heaney. "It appears now that the Authority plans to bring the highway only as far east as Route 128 for the present. Although a considerable sum was, I am told, earmarked in the bond issue for studies of a connecting link to Boston, (thus admitting, incidentally, that such a link will be necessary), these studies are not to be started until at least next Spring. A whole year will have been lost. In the meantime, a two-edged sword hangs over the city. Not only are many residents uncertain and worried about the future of their homes, but the city administration faces the prospect of a huge influx of traffic into Newton streets, which are certainly incapable of taking such a burden. The expense involved would be tremendous."

"Members of the Authority have been at all times courteous and considerate. However, I feel they have completely failed to realize the impossible situation which will be imposed on the City of Newton if this turnpike is opened in 1956 with its terminus at Nickerson Field as now planned. This legislation is designed to clarify the situation and to try to relieve the city of the terrific expense and utter confusion which can be expected if nothing is done."

Davis School Grade Meetings

The first in a series of Davis School grade meetings will be held on Wednesday evening, January 12, at eight o'clock. Miss Anne C. Schiavone and Miss Lillian Neary will meet with the parents of their fourth and fifth grade pupils. There will be informal discussions of the courses of study and everyone is invited to actively participate. Mrs. Kenneth Morey and Mrs. J. Ellis Bowen, room mothers, will serve as hostesses and will assist the parents and teachers.

On Tuesday evening, January 18, Miss Helen C. Laganas and Mrs. Caroline C. Allen will meet with the parents of their third grade pupils. Many third grade experiences will be pointed out and a general discussion will ensue. Mrs. Donald B. Lawson and Mrs. Robert B. Giles, room mothers, are assisting in the arrangements.

Plans for grade meetings to supplement general P.T.A. meetings were formulated last spring because many parents felt that smaller informal discussion groups might prove invaluable in bringing about a better understanding of various age-grade levels. Anyone who feels that there is an area in which he is particularly interested is asked to notify the teachers prior to the meetings.

The tentative schedule for other grade meetings is as follows: Tuesday, March 15, Grade 6, Mrs. Natalie Romberg and Mrs. Frank Fovort, Jr., assisted by Mrs. Max Brauninger; Tuesday, March 29, Grade 1, Miss Anne E. Gorman and Miss Ann M. Keane assisted by Mrs. Paul Landry and Mrs. Stanley Smith; Monday, April 4, Kindergarten, Mrs. Mildred B. McCarthy, assisted by Mrs. Thomas S. Hayden and Mrs. James Ray; Tuesday, April 2, Grade 2, Miss Margaret G. Wingate and Mrs. Pauline B. Gilman, assisted by Mrs. Carlton Stewart and Mrs. Stuart Herriek; April (date to be announced), Grade 5, Miss Pauline A. Larson assisted by Mrs. Thomas F. A. Flynn.

On Monday evening, January 10, the members of the executive board are holding a reception in the parlors of the Second Church for the members of the faculty, and husbands or wives. The members of the executive board are: Mr. Raymond R. Forte, Mr. Paul O'Donnell, Mrs. Wayne V. Schell, Mrs. Melvin L. Taymor, Mrs. Eli Feldman, Mrs. Oscar Murphy, Mrs. William H. Bright, Mr. J. Ellis Bowen, Mrs. Carl E. Hartbow, Miss Mary J. Nugent, principal and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. A. Flynn.

Mr. Paul O'Donnell, chairman of the Building and Playground Committee has announced that there will be a meeting of this group at the school on Friday evening, January 14 at 8 o'clock. Plans for the improvement of the play area will be discussed.

The next executive board meeting will be held on January 24 at 8 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ellis Bowen of Waltham St., West Newton.

The next general P.T.A. meeting will be on Monday evening, February 7, 1955 at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium, Sammy White of the Boston Red Sox will be the featured speaker.

Newton Luncheon Aids Speech Clinic

An advertising kick-off luncheon for "Aid to Speech Therapy," sponsored by the Emerson College Woman's Committee, was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Cecil Rose, 50 Green park, Newton.

All proceeds from the program book and annual spring luncheon of the group, now being planned, are used to support the Speech Clinic at 145 Beacon street, Boston, and mobile speech clinic units, one of which is now located at the New England Medical Center in conjunction with the Cleft Palate Center.

Mrs. Frank Bronstein of Waban is chairman of the program book. Mrs. Mitchell Mintz of Newton is luncheon chairman and Mrs. Samuel Kanter and Mrs. Charles E. Batchelder of Newton are co-chairmen of hostesses. Mrs. Adrian O'Keefe of West Newton is a member of the luncheon advisory board.

NOW PLAYING — ENDS SATURDAY

"Totem Pole Matinee" Features Stan Richards, Top Talent and Students Each Saturday at 2 p.m.

Four stars will share the spotlight with Disc Jockey Stan Richards on "Totem Pole Matinee" Saturday from 2 p.m. to 3 over WBZ-TV, Channel 4, on January 8.

Bob Manning, Sarah Vaughan, Betty Clooney, Jerry Vale and Pat O'Day will be guests on the new televised record hop that emanates each week from the Totem Pole Ballroom at Norumbega Park.

Manning, well-known to viewers of the Jackie Gleason show, will sing "My Love Song to You" which has sold 560,000 records in just a few weeks.

Judging from the show's first audience, there will be a capacity crowd in the ballroom for the telecast. A feature of the afternoon will be the presentation of selected teenagers dancing before the camera and also rating new records with Stan and the guests.

The show was inaugurated on Dec. 19 as a constructive way to combat juvenile delinquency and was endorsed by Massachusetts' district attorneys and approved by Boston Catholic Archbishop Richard J. Cushing. Sponsored by Howard Johnson's and produced by Kenneth Mayer, "Totem Pole Matinee" is the first and only televised record hop in the east.

Each week, teenagers and college students are invited to attend the telecast direct from the Totem Pole Ballroom at Norumbega Park. They will be featured dancing and as members of the rating-panel for new records.

The telecast is presently making plans to hold dance contests at local schools with the winners also featured on future shows.

Unitarian Worship To Be Subject

"Unitarian Worship" will be the subject for the third meeting of the Discussion Group, to be held at 8 o'clock Sunday evening, January 16, in the Alliance Room of the West Newton Unitarian Church. Led by the Rev. John Ogden Fisher, this is an open discussion group to which all members, friends and interested persons in the community are welcome. Resuming after the holidays, this group will meet regularly on the third Sunday evening each month. The newly published "Pocket Guide" to Unitarianism is being used as a basis for study and discussion.

The board of trustees of the First Unitarian Society in Newton will meet at 8 o'clock Monday evening, Jan. 10, in the parish house.

Three children were christened at a special Christmas christening ceremony, including Whitney Stuart Cranshaw and John Elton Cranshaw, the two small sons of Mr. and Mrs. Philip W. Cranshaw, 28 Orchard Ave., West Newton. Also christened on this occasion was Andrew Scott Laughland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Laughland, 340 Hammond Street, Chestnut Hill.

N.H. Sailor Has English Yuletide

Richard E. Delesdernier, yeoman second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland O. Delesdernier of 78 Floral street, Newton Highlands, spent Christmas in London, England, while stationed at the headquarters of the commander in chief of U.S. Naval Forces in the Eastern Atlantic and Mediterranean.

Christmas in England is practically the same as in the U.S. A turkey adorns the center of the table, but sweet potatoes and cranberry sauce are missing. Carolers sing in the streets, and Christmas trees stand in the corner of most living rooms. The spirit is here and most servicemen stationed in England have the opportunity to spend Christmas in an English home.

The third meeting of the Oak Hill School PTA meets Mon. This Monday, at 7:45 p.m. in the auditorium of the Country-side School.

A film entitled "Shyness" produced by the National Film Board of Canada, which is noted for its excellent portrayal of problems concerning child behavior, will be shown. This film deals with the problems of three different types of shyness in children; the causes for their shyness; and how the problem may be dealt with through greater understanding by parents and teachers.

Following the movie, a discussion will be led by Dr. Edward Landy, Director of Counseling Services for the Newton Schools. Refreshments and a social hour will follow this discussion.

Weeks Junior H.S.

The true spirit of Christmas is giving, not getting. Every year at Weeks this feeling is expressed as many divisions "adopt" a needy family and give them a Christmas box with toys, clothes, and food.

Divisions 216x and 216m were among the numerous divisions to do this. We chose committees from volunteers and eagerly constructed plans. A well-balanced menu was composed and placed in a conspicuous spot. All enthusiastically signed their names promising to bring certain foods. By the week before Christmas, Room 216 was filled with an abundance of food. Good, clean toys and clothes were added to our rapidly expanding pile. To top everything off, we purchased a useful gift for every member of the family. By Wednesday, December 22, our Christmas box was packed and gift wrapped. Two boys and two girls were chosen to deliver this package to the family and pledged to secrecy. Their great joy and overwhelming thanks were much more than enough reward.

Panel Discussion To Be Held By Reyim Sisterhood

Three outstanding guests will serve as panelists in a discussion on "Neighborhoodness" at the regular meeting of Temple Reyim Sisterhood of West Newton Thursday January 6, at 8:15 p.m. at the Temple.

Rabbi Harold Kastle, spiritual leader of the Temple, will act as moderator. Dr. Libbie B. Bower, is School Consultant for the Massachusetts Association for Mental Health. Her chief focus deals with the training of teachers in the area of Human Relations. Dr. Mary L. Grimes is supervisor of the Community Church Sunday school. Mrs. Philip McNiff has been associated for 10 years with the Community Relations Council in Cambridge and now is a member of Mayor Howard Whittemore's Human Relations Advisory Board. A question period will follow the discussion.

The program has been arranged by Mrs. Israel Arnold, chairman, and her committee, Mrs. Jack Bernstein, Mrs. Philip Ratkoff and Mrs. Edward Rosenwald.

Mrs. Arthur Galer, chairman, announces the following hostesses for the evening: Mmes. George Goldstein, Samuel Greenwald, Norman Platt, Myron Idelson, William Gordon, Myron Swartz and Sidney Tackman.

Lucy Jackson Chapter, D.A.R.

The Time Is Now

Of all the afflictions besetting humankind, polio is one of the worst. It reaches into the lives of the rich and poor, the young and old, the saint and sinner with a terrible impartiality.

Polio is a lingering disease, and one which even the family of above-average means simply has not the financial resources to handle. It lasts for months, sometimes for years, often a lifetime in which the initial treatment must be followed by expensive therapy.

Polio is an affliction that can ruin the life of a family in which it may strike only one member, whether a young child or, as is increasingly the case, the breadwinner.
If any ill that strikes the human body cries out for an all-out battle on the part of all of us, it is polio.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, through its annual March of Dimes, has been the very heart of the battle we have all fought against polio.
Now, with the Salk vaccine a right promise aid last decade having produced more progress than all the rest of recorded time, the iron is hot.

This is the time to put your dimes and dollars to work to insure life for those doomed to die, a future for those doomed to a wheelchair, peace for families doomed to despair. Recognizing this, Newton residents have been generous in their response to contributing to this fund and this year as always, we have no doubt, that response will be attained again.

It is not often given to us to make a simple contribution, and turn the tide of history.

It is more than a duty, it is one of the rarest of privileges. It may never happen again to many of us.
Now is the time—today.

Political Overtones

The demotion of hard-working, capable Senator Charles J. Innes of the Back Bay from his position as G.O.P. floor leader in the upper house was another demonstration that the Republicans can be just as cold and ruthless in their fights among themselves as in battling the Democrats.

One probable outgrowth of this situation is that Innes is likely to retire from the Senate at the end of his present term, and when he does the Republicans may lose their control of that body. The shift of his seat right now to the Democrats would create a 20-20 deadlock which may be one of the reasons Innes is accepting what amounts to a stinging rebuke and holding his counsel.

The Democratic strength in Innes' district has increased steadily in recent years, and he has had several hard battles to hold his seat. He fought off a stiff challenge by School Committeewoman Mary
K. Fitzgerald last autumn.

There is no certainty that any other Republican can win election in his senatorial district, though some are understood to be ready to try, and the feud which saw him sacrificed to appease one faction in the Senate may ultimately hurt the G.O.P. more than is now apparent.

The row in the Senate has been brewing for some time. Paradoxically, it stems to some extent from the fact that Innes, who is an attorney and has a long record of service in both branches of the State Legislature, is the outstanding expert on legislation in the State Senate.

He is disposed to be blunt and outspoken, and he apparently has been somewhat tactless in informing certain of his colleagues that bills they were sponsoring were improperly drawn or worded.

You might reasonably assume that any person who achieves election to the Massachusetts Legislature should be able to draft an intelligently worded bill in order that some matter may be enacted into law.

Such, unfortunately, is not the case.
It is not uncommon, after a bill has been passed and placed on the statute books, for a dispute to arise as to exactly what it means. Even the legislators who voted on it are sometimes in disagreement as to its intent, and the Supreme Court may be called upon for an opinion as to what the legislators have in mind.

Bills are presented every year which are in conflict in violation of the Constitution.

Innes obviously bruised the sensitive feelings of some of his associates by the manner in which he picked out the flaws in measures in which they had a great pride of authorship.

Because he was both the Republican floor leader in the Senate and a recognized expert on the drafting of laws, Senate President Richard I. Furbush relied heavily on his advice and guidance for four years.

That may have been one of the reasons one element in the Senate suddenly turned their guns on Furbush, although the explanation they gave was that in more than a century no man has served more than two years as Senate president.

A group headed by Senator Philip
A. Graham of Hamilton notified Fur-bush last year that they would not back him for another term as their presiding officer.

This sent Furbush scurrying belatedly into the contest for the Republican nomination for State Treasurer and caused some party leaders to line up behind him in order to help him out of his predicament.

Despite the fact that he received powerful help, Furbush was defeated for the endorsement for treasurer by Representative Augustus G. Means of Essex at the G.O.P. State convention last June, and he was faced with the alternative of accepting an appointive position or remaining in the Senate.

Furbush decided to fight it out along the line for the Senate presidency that had been his for four years. He was reelected, and some of the Republicans who had announced that they would not vote to retain him in that capacity were defeated.

One man who had stood steadfastly behind and beside Furbush was Innes.
He backed him in the Senate. He went down the line for him at the Republican State convention, and he joined in the drive to break with tradition and elect Furbush for a third term as the president of the Senate.

Furbush was no dazzling ball of fire as the presiding officer of the Senate. If he had been, he would have achieved a place on the Republican State ticket without too much trouble. But he had been reasonably fair with the members of both parties. That caused the Democrats, who had no chance of electing one of their own members president, to approach him and offer to give him whatever votes he needed to reelect him to conduct their proceedings.

The Waltham man, however, did not want to be in the position of accepting Democratic help since it would weaken his prestige in his own party, and he turned down that proposition.

Under the Senate regulations, a president in order to win election must poll a majority of all the votes cast, and if the Republicans split their ballots and the Democrats supported a Democrat, no one would be elected.

Then the Graham wing sought out Furbush and offered to swing behind him, if he would drop Innes as floor leader. That meant that in order to hold the presidency Furbush had to toss overboard his first lieutenant. But self-preservation is often the first law of politics, and Furbush paid the price of humiliating his close friend in order that he himself would not be dropped to the status of ordinary members.

That political trade may and undoubtedly will be viewed in different lights by different people. Innes, who is unswerving in his loyalty to the Republican party, is saying nothing and will go down the line for the G.O.P. during the next two years, serving as a good political soldier.

But Furbush, although he has preserved his own position for two years, may only have postponed another embarrassing political dilemma for himself. In 1956 he will find himself with the alternative of either moving out to bid for higher office or asking his colleagues to give him an unprecedented fourth term as Senate president, when in 150 years no other man has had the honor more than four years.

The likelihood is that he will be virtually forced to stand for higher office, and if he does his demotion of Innes may come back to haunt him. For while most politicians may accept self-preservation as one of the first laws of their profession, an unwritten law which ranks almost as high as that a man also stands by his friends, particularly those who stood by him.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Police in Muskegon, Mich., informed a housewife last week that her husband had acted within his rights in locking up the telephone every day so she would do more housework. The man of the house had locked the phone in a heavy wooden box, and the guardians of the law refused to do anything about getting it out. On a previous occasion, the officers disclosed, the same husband locked up his wife's shoes every morning to keep her from spending so much time visiting the neighbors. He does not appear to be exactly the sociable type.

Herbert Jackson, 62, of Baltimore was granted a divorce after his complaint that Mrs. Bonnie Jackson, 54, in her lonely hearts advertisement, had described herself as 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighing 118 pounds, when in reality she weighed a robust 450 pounds and stood more than 6 feet in height. He said to make matters worse she grabbed a kettle, scalded him and shot at him, declaring that he didn't appreciate "a fat woman."

Mailman Charles W. O'Brien, 62, of San Francisco was let off with a year's probation after he was charged with tearing up third-class "junk" mail, addressed merely to "occupant" or "boxholder," and throwing it down a sewer. Observed Federal Judge Louis E. Goldman: "Maybe he was performing a public service."

... Your Income Taxes ...

This is the first of a series of eight articles on Federal and State Income taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

What are the changes in the tax law which will have an effect on my 1954 Federal tax return?

Some of the changes which will have an effect on your 1954 Federal return are:

1. Reduced rates
2. Changes in the requirements for filing returns
3. Due date of the return
4. Head-of-household relief
5. Dependency exemption
6. Pensions and annuity income
7. Dividend income
8. Expenses of "outside salesmen"
9. Medical expense deduc-tion
10. Child-care expenses

These changes will be explained in this tax series.

Who must file a Federal tax return?

A Federal tax return must be filed by every individual under 65 who has taxable income of $600 or more during 1954.
However, if the taxpayer is 65 or over, he must file a return only if he has gross income of $1,200 or more for the year.

Are the 1954 Federal tax rates the same as they were in 1953?

No. The rates for 1954 are approximately 10% less than they were in 1953.

When must my Federal return be filed?

You must file your individual return by April 15, 1955. As you recall, in prior years the return had to be filed no later than March 15.

What income must I report on my tax return?

You must report your gross or taxable income. Gross income includes compensation for personal services, income from a business, interest, rents, dividends (in excess of exclusion), profit from sales of property, and income from any other source unless exempt from tax.

What is meant by "exempt income"?

Exempt income is income which does not have to be included in computing your tax liability. It includes such items as the following:

1. Interest on state and municipal obligations

2. Accident insurance proceeds

3. Benefit payments to veterans under the G.I. Bill

4. Group life insurance premiums paid by your employer

5. Gifts and inheritances

6. Life insurance proceeds paid as a result of death

7. Old age and survivors' benefit payments under the Social Security Act or the Railroad Retirement Act

8. Most stock dividends

9. Supper money paid by your employer

10. Unemployment benefits

11. Veteran's disability benefits

12. Payments received under Workmen's Compensation Acts

13. Allowances to dependents of servicemen

During 1954 I received dividend income of $400 from a local manufacturing corporation. I received the $100 quarterly dividends on March 1, June 1, September 1 and December 1.
How should I report this income on my 1954 Federal tax return?

You should exclude from your gross income the first $50. If you are married and the stock is owned jointly by you and your wife, you should exclude $100 on your joint return.

In addition, you are allowed a credit against your tax of $.88, which is 4% of the dividends received after July 31, 1954. However, this credit may not exceed the lesser of your 1954 tax liability or 2% of your taxable income for 1954.

A new schedule (Schedule J) has been added to the return to take care of the exclusion and the credit for dividends received from qualifying domestic (U.S.) corporations.

Are all dividends eligible for the dividend exclusion and credit?

No. Dividends from mutual savings banks, co-operative banks, savings and loan associations, exempt farmers' cooperative associations and certain other organizations are not eligible for the dividend exclusion and credit.

To Give School Health Course In 15 Sessions

The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association is a co-sponsor of a course in School Health Education for Elementary Schools which will be given at Framingham State Teacher's College during the 1955 semester.

The course is designed to give guidance to school administrators, supervisors, and classroom teachers in elementary schools, a background for the development and administration of a well-rounded health program in the schools which will be coordinated with the Community Public Health Program.

Registration will be accepted at the first meeting to be held Thursday, January 27, Administration Building, State Teacher's College, Framingham, at 4 p.m. The course will be five-teen sessions for 3 semester hours graduate or undergraduate credit applicable at any State Teacher's College.

Miss Emma Hunt, Assistant, State Teacher's College, Framingham, will teach the course.
Miss Hunt holds a B.A. degree from Wellesley College and a master's degree from Columbia University Teacher's College.
She brings to this course a background of invaluable experience in workshop and conference participation, on human relations, health problems, and material and methods of teaching. She has taught other school health extension courses in Framingham, Worcester, and Newton.

The course is open to any teacher in public, private, or parochial schools. Veterans eligible for enrollment without charge must present discharge and proof of residence in advance of the first class meeting.

Mishkan Tefila To Open Sunday School Jan. 23

Nathan Yamins, president of Temple Mishkan Tefila, announces the opening of Sunday School classes at the Temple's temporary school headquarters at 567 Walnut street, Newton-ville, on Sunday morning, January 23. Sessions for grades I and II will be held each Sunday from 10 a. m. to noon.

Dr. Israel J. Kazis, spiritual leader of the Temple, will address the parents of pupils immediately prior to the commencement of classes that morning. The pupils, who for the most part, will be starting their religious training in the newly-opened school, will participate in a special program.

Regular classes for Nursery
(3 and 4-year-olds), Sunday School Kindergarten and afternoon Hebrew will commence next September.

Temple Mishkan Tefila of Roxbury has recently purchased the building at 567 Walnut street for temporary school and offices, as a first step in its expansion program in Newton.
Contracts with architects for the Temple site on Hammond Pond Parkway are about to be signed. Temporary plans call for a large sanctuary, vestry, schoolhouse, club rooms, play areas and ample parking space on the 23 acres of land recently acquired by the Temple. Religious services are conducted regularly at the Roxbury Temple.

Tony Bennett, Denise Lor at Totem Pole Sat.

The idol of the Bobby Soxers, Tony Bennett, and the pretty vocalist of the Garry Moore TV show, lovely Denise Lor, will share the billing with the George Shearing Quintette on "Totem Pole Matinee" Saturday,
Jan. 15, at 2 p.m. over Channel 4.

Because the show, which is televised by WBZ-TV, is so popular with the high school and college crowd of Greater Boston and draws such a big "live audience," the doors of the ball room at Norumbega Park will be open at 12:30 p.m. so that all can be seated by 1:30.

"Totem Pole Matinee" the only televised record hop in the east, features "big names" in the recording world each week. They sing, play, talk about their records and even dance with teenagers selected by genial Stan Richards, the show's disc jockey and master of ceremonies.

Another group of teenagers will rate new records with handsome Tony, glamorous Denise and the popular jazz quintette.

"Totem Pole Matinee" is sponsored by Howard Johnson's and produced by Ken Mayer.

Help Steeple Fund

An after-New Year's penny collection at the Hyde School in Newton Highlands has raised a total of $18.30 to help rebuild the steeple of the Old North Church in Boston.

Tests Made of CD Fire Pumper

Tests were made last Saturday of the new Civil Defense 250 GPM pumper at the Norum-bega testing area. The test was under the direction of Chief John E. Corcoran of the Newton Fire Department, and Chief of the Civil Defense Auxiliary Fire Department, Milton P.
Young. Chiefs Corcoran and Young were assisted by Auxiliary Assistant Chief Fred A.
Cole, Jr., Samuel Melick, Jr., Earl B. Bourne, J. Edward Early, Lester W. Bennett, Raymond A. Riley, Glenn G. Hodson, Howard F. Fowle, Richard Krukons, James Minshall, Jr.,
Roy Lannigan, and Merrill Damon.

Also in attendance were Assistant Chiefs Frederick A. Perkins, Jr. and John L. Martin, of the Newton Fire Department, and Deputy Director Wallace E.
Allen and Administrative Assistant Frank R. Wasson of the Civil Defense Department.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. and Civil Defense Director Alan D. Duff observed the tests and expressed their satisfaction with the results.

The new pumper is a 250 gallon Watrous booster pump driven by heavy duty take-off.
This piece of equipment is of great value to the department in that it is capable of going into areas where a water supply is unavailable, and pumping directly from its own storage tank which has a capacity of 500 gallons.

Coffee, donuts and eupeakes, supplied by Star Market, were served to all those present at the test by Jack Young, son of Milton P. Young, Chief of the Auxiliary Firefighters.

To Participate In Radio Show

The All-Newton Music School of 398 Walnut street, Newton-ville, has been invited to participate in the WBUR-FM radio program "Jules Wolfers Presents" next Thursday, January 20, from 7 to 8 p. m.

The topic for discussion that evening will be "The Community Music School." Joining Professor Wolfers of the Boston University Music Department will be Linwood D. Scriven, director of the Boston Music School; Nicholas Van Slyke, director of the South End Music Centre; and Mrs. Mabel B.
Worth, executive director of the All-Newton Music School. These Greater Boston schools are all members of the National Guild of Community Music Schools, Inc., which includes schools throughout the United States.

Varied Activities Described by PTA Heads at Council Meetings

Anyone who feels that the PTA is stodgy stuff has a lot to learn from the presidents of Newton's PTAs, a representative group of whom met last Thursday, with the PTA Council Executive Board.

Outstanding project for the year is that of the Auburndale Parent Group, headed by Annis Asaff. In an effort to obtain $1000 for audio-visual aids for the Burr, Williams and Murray Road schools, this group is sponsoring a concert by the Longines Sinfonietta on February 6. Mrs. Thomas Gill has offered the Totem Pole for the concert and has been of immeasurable help in all arrangements. The PTA Council congratulated Mr. Asaff and his colleagues and offered cooperation as well as best wishes for their success in this unique venture. Further details will be made public in the near future.

Several PTAs have regular bulletins which keep parents abreast of school news. Bowen's 14-page book is rapidly becoming out-of-date because of such a changing round of activities, according to Milton Levy, Bowen's president.

The Countryside bulletin is distributed to everyone in the school district, not just to parents involved at the school. To this end, reports Edward Horowitz, the group is financing an electric typewriter to facilitate the publication of their four-page news letter.

Mrs. James Cail, president of the Lincoln-Eliot PTA, said that her group also has issued a news sheet, based on board meeting notes, thus eliminating boring business details from the general meeting. Now the meetings are so interesting that attendance has risen by 50 per cent.

Another widespread PTA feature are homeroom meetings at which each teacher addresses the parents of her pupils, outlining the objectives and curricula for the year. Dr. Sam Hedrick said the Oak Hill evening of this nature was sparked by a group sing, led by James Remley and Miss Eva Jo Gregg from the Newton Schools Department of Music. Not only was this a great fun, but it established a pleasant informal feeling for the small groups. Each teacher outlined her program and gave a mimeographed copy to her parents for future reference.

Back-to-School Night has been a regular feature at Frank A. Day Junior High School for several years, reported Mrs. Evald Swanson, president. Each parent goes from room to room following his child's schedule, meeting the teachers and learning the goals for the year.

Panel discussions and workshop groups on childhood development and related subjects are proving popular in a number of schools. Memorial School, headed by Franklin Flaschner, held three discussion groups on various age levels during one evening, with resumes given at the close of the evening. Mr.

Horowitz invited the group to attend the Countryside School's panel discussion on "Developing Democratic Ideals in Our Children," on January 13. Underwood will have a program, "Securing Our Children Against Prejudice," in May, according to Mrs. Robert C. Lee.

The "French Group" at the Bowen School was news to the other PTA presidents. Eighty children meet once a week at noon to learn oral French with three teachers who are paid by the Bowen PTA. So far it has been a popular undertaking.

The newly established Beethoven PTA with Calvin Hill as president is laying plans and rehearsing a Saturday afternoon program of TV takeoffs. Parents, teachers and children are all participating with great enthusiasm. This school has also invited the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company to help them solve their parking and related safety problems.

Amos Kent, president of the Bigelow PTA, described the schools' Christmas program which features vespers sung by the Wellesley Choir and Lighting of the Hannukah Candles by Cantor Gabriel Hochberg, Temple Emmanuel, who also sang "Rock of Ages." The two services were then compared by Dr. Roger Hamilton, vice-president of the PTA Council.

It was the feeling of the presidents that so many good ideas were produced at this meeting reports made available either through a PTA Council bulletin or through the Newton School Age. It is hoped that both will be possible.

Eva Jo Gregg, of the Music Department and chairman of the Children's Activities Committee, gave a brief report of her group's work. They have assembled a long list of interested and enthusiastic volunteers who are available for help with "entertainment produced by the children." Miss Gregg pointed out that except in the high school there is little dramatic participation available in the Newton School System. The possibilities are tremendous and results in other communities have been outstanding in many ways.

In addition there are many competent people who would be of help in establishing children's groups to study dancing music and other arts under the various PTA sponsorships. The Children's Activities Committee stands ready to help in any capacity.

Mr. Wm. Perry to Wed Miss Hollick

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Hollick Albertson Jr., of Wynote, Pa., announce the engagement of their daughter Jane Elizabeth, to Mr. William Hartwell Perry, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Perry of West Newton. Miss Albertson was graduated from the Abington Friends School and Endicott Jr. College, class of 1954. Mr. Perry graduated from Noble and Greenough School in '51, and is now a senior at Dartmouth College. He is a member of Theta Delta Chi and the Dragon Senior Society.

Theresa M. Blouin Engaged to Marry

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Blouin of 316 California street announce the engagement of their daughter, Theresa Marie, to Paul Vincent Noonan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Edward Noonan of Winchester.

Miss Blouin is employed at the Newton-Wellesley Bank and Trust Company. Her fiancé is serving in the U. S. Navy.

MRS. JAMES A. COLLINS

MISS NANCY PERRY MARRIES LT. JAMES ANDREW COLLINS

Miss Nancy Catherine Perry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Perry of Waban, became the bride of Lt. James Andrew Collins, USAF, last Saturday at the St. Philip Neri Church in Waban. The Rev. John Thomas officiated at the ceremony and a reception followed at the home of the bride's parents. Lt. Collins is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer J. Collins of Needham.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of imported lace over satin, with an inserted tulle skirt and a crown of matching lace and seed pearls. Her bouquet was of stephanotis centered with a beautiful white orchid.

Her matron-of-honor and only attendant was Mrs. Alan Kerivan of Norwell who wore a waltz-length, off-the-shoulder gown of red velvet and carried a white carnations and ivy bouquet.

Mr. Alan R. Kerivan of Norwell was best man and Mr. James Kennedy of Dedham and Mr. James Kenary of Worcester ushered.

Miss Perry attended Regis College and the bridegroom studied at St. Michael's College and Boston University. They will make their home in Marianna, Fla.

Marjorie Robbins To Wed Mr. Sperber

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Robbins of Newton Centre announce the engagement of their daughter, Marjorie Ann, to Mr. Lawrence James Sperber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin E. Sperber of Chestnut Hill. Miss Robbins attended Chevy Chase College, Washington, D. C., and is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design. Mr. Sperber graduated from Harvard College, class of 1952, and will be graduated from the Harvard Law School this June.

Joan C. Kinsella, F. S. Keith, 2nd Engaged to Marry

A September wedding is being planned by Miss Joan Carole Kinsella, whose parents Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kinsella of Brookline and Cazenovia, N. Y., announce her engagement to Mr. Frederick Scott Keith, 2nd, son of Mrs. Theodore K. Keith of Wellesley, formerly of Newton and the late Dr. Keith.

Mr. Keith will be graduated this year from Cornell University School of Civil Engineering.

Miss Frances W. Wood to Speak At Mid-Winter Get-Together

Miss Frances W. Wood, field worker with the department of education, Council of Liberal Churches (Universalist-Unitarian), will be the guest speaker at the Mid-Winter Get-Together for parents, teachers and church school pupils at 4:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, January 16, at the West Newton Unitarian parish house.

Miss Wood, long connected with the American Unitarian Association's division of education, now affiliated with the Council of Liberal Churches at its Beacon Street headquarters, will address parents and teachers of the church school on family cooperation in the church program in religious education. Frederick G. Fisher, Jr., chairman of religious education at the First Unitarian Society in Newton, will introduce the speaker. The Rev. John Ogden Fisher, minister, and Harry R. Taplin, director of religious education, will welcome parents and children.

While this adult program is going on in the Alliance Room, members of the church school will enjoy an entertainment, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler, in the parish hall. Miss Virginia Chace and Miss Dorothy Lassek, of Lexington, will present Jini's Puppets in "The Frog Prince" and "Three Wishes." Guy S. Chace will assist on lighting for this puppet show which was storm-bound at the time of the Christmas party. There will also be a Walt Disney movie, "Cartoon Parade."

Children and parents will get together for an indoor picnic supper at 5:30 o'clock in the parish hall, each family providing its own food. The church school will serve milk, coffee and ice cream. Mrs. Lloyd E. Morris Jr. of Newton Lower Falls is chairman of the refreshments committee, assisted by Robert L. Townsend of West Newton. Members of the Jaynes League will also help in serving beverages and dessert.

The mid-winter all-parish dinner of the West Newton Unitarian Church is scheduled for Friday evening, Jan. 21, with Mrs. Albert K. Reed and Mrs. Edward W. Kinsman as co-chairmen of the supper committee. Mrs. Henry Whitmore Jr., chairman of the activities committee, announces a play reading as the after-dinner entertainment program.

Fourth Child

Dr. and Mrs. Theodore Shane of 80 Waltham street, West Newton, announce the arrival of their fourth child and third son, Thomas Robert, January 7 at Bellevue Hospital, Brookline.

Miss Crandall's Engagement Is Announced

The engagement of Miss Alice Ann Crandall has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred A. Crandall of 24 Groveland street, Auburn-dale, to Stephen Bowers of 110 Forest avenue, West Newton, son of Fredson Bowers and Mrs. Edward B. Hall.

Miss Crandall is a graduate of Newton High School. Mr. Bowers attended Newton High School and served in the U. S. Navy. He is now attending the George Junior Republic School in Freeville, N. Y.

Ens. Fernald, Miss Chaddock Engaged

Miss Judith Anne Chaddock's engagement to Ensign Richard Russell Fernald, USNR, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edward Chaddock of Hollis, N. H., formerly of Squantum. Ensign Fernald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Herbert Fernald of West Newton.

Miss Chaddock is a graduate of The Chamberlain School of Retailing and Ensign Fernald was graduated from Amherst College and Harvard Law School, where he was a member of Theta Delta Chi and The Chancery Club.

Newtonians

Dr. William T. McLean, Jr., of 615 V.F.W. Parkway, Chestnut Hill has been appointed Teaching Fellow in Pediatrics at the Harvard Medical School. The Harvard Medical School was started in 1782 and since that time there has grown up in the vicinity of the school, and become affiliated with it, a group of hospitals which are used for clinical teaching and investigation. Dr. McLean is affiliated with the Children's Hospital.

Dr. McLean received his B.S.B. (1948) from Wake Forest College and his M.D. (1951) from the Bowman Gray School of Medicine.

A second son, Scott Brian Gordon, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Elliot Gordon (Janice Radkay) on December 17 at the Beth Israel Hospital. Mrs. Sally Radkay of Newton Centre and Mr. and Mrs. I. Gordon of Malden are the grandparents.

CAROLYN CASWELL GIVEN SHOWER BY CLASSMATES

The most delightful hoax of the holiday season was that perpetrated upon Miss Carolyn Caswell of Morse Road, Newtonville, when a hurry-up call to the telephone at the home of Miss Debby Harvey of Walnut Street, exploded into a small avalanche of girlhood friends foregathered to extend their good wishes on her recent engagement to Lt. Rollin Haynes of Melrose Highlands.

CAROLYN CASWELL

It was a happy reunion, with lovely gifts for the bride-to-be, tea, and reminiscence, as these Newtonville young people, home for the holidays from colleges in the West, South, and East, turned back the clock to their pig-tail days at the old Claffin School.

The tea table, softly lighted by candle glow, was presided over by a little bride doll in wedding veil, Miss Carol Hood (Mrs. Sherlock Holmes) deduced correctly the meaning of an extra swirl of frosting on one of the tea cakes and found the gold ring—the traditional trophy to denote the next bride.

Hostess was Miss Debby Harvey, Goucher College, Maryland. Guest were Miss Janet Boudreau, Mt. Ida College, Newton; Miss Ginny Chase, Dickinson College, Pa.; Miss Joanne Green, Skidmore College, New York; Miss Carol Hood, Cedarcrest College, Pa.; Miss Carolyn Jobs, Mt. Holyoke College, Mass.; Miss Sally Johnson, Grinnell College, Iowa; and Miss Joan Kenney, classmate of Miss Caswell at Katherine Gibbs School, Boston.

Miss Caswell was graduated from Walnut Hill School and attended Skidmore College. Lt. Haynes was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1954, attended the Ames Tuck School, and is now with the Air Force in Texas.

Tentative plans are being made for a June wedding.

Dorothy Clarke Wilson to Be At Centenary Methodist Church

Novelist Dorothy Clarke Wilson, whose latest book "Fly With Me To India" was published last November 8, will give an illustrated lecture at Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale, on Thursday evening, February 17, under the sponsorship of the Woman's Society of Christian Service.

The tour of India which Mrs. Wilson made by plane, railroad, bus, Model T, tonga, ekkia, ricksha, flatboat, elephant, and bullock cart, was undertaken for the Methodist Board of Missions and the Woman's Division of Christian Service on Missions. Because her tour was sponsored by a church group, missionaries and other officials were especially helping in enabling her to see a tremendous variety of Indian life during those six months. Prime Minister Nehru even told her that she had probably traveled over more of India than he had.

"It's the people I remember best," says Mrs. Wilson, "the leaders and officials I met who are struggling bravely with a new democracy's colossal problems, villagers facing unbelievable poverty with a vast dignity and courage, a host of gallant missionaries working untiringly to create the Beloved Community."

Mrs. Wilson, who is the only child of a Baptist minister, and the wife of a Methodist minister, Rev. Edwin L. Wilson, director of the Maine Christian Association and University Pastor of the University of Maine at Orono, has written about 60 religious plays and a volume of religious plays "Twelve Months of Drama for the Average Church." Her novels include "The Brothers," "The Herdman," "The House of Earth," and in 1947 "Prince of Egypt," which won the Westminster award of $7500 for the best religious novel of that year.

Rehabilitation of Handicapped Subject of Talk Monday

Rehabilitation was the key-note of the January 10 meeting of the Board of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association. Louis Tracy, District Supervisor of Vocational Rehabilitation of the Department of Education, guest speaker, presented a film, An Investment in Human Welfare, which dramatically depicted the story of the restoration to useful and economically productive employment of those physically or mentally handicapped by injury, disease or congenital disorder.

Mr. Tracy pointed out that the Visiting Nurse has a place in the front line of the thrilling campaign for the rescue of otherwise wasted and unhappy lives. She performs an indispensable service in undertaking the first step in the long rebuilding process—that of the restoration of health. Working closely with clinic and family doctors, she is aware at first hand of the needs of the patient and family, and is in a position to recognize and aid in the early referral of those requiring rehabilitation.

Seventy thousand men and women a year are rehabilitated through this program, Mr. Tracy disclosed, a total of five hundred thousand disabled now being gainfully employed in the United States. Since 1952, one thousand twenty-nine have been rehabilitated through his own office which serves Eastern Massachusetts.

Surprising to many unfamiliar with the accomplishments of this State-administered branch of the Federal Security Agency are the statistics which show that the record of these rehabilitated workers is better than the average. They prove fewer accidents and less absenteeism, and if the individual is properly placed, a greater degree of efficiency—some handicaps, in fact, working to the advantage of work output, as in the case of a deaf laborer working without strain in the din of a tin-can factory. In conclusion, Mr. Tracy emphasized that the costs to society of rehabilitation are far less than the costs of state care of the disabled.

Miss Katherine MacDonald, Executive Director of the Association, reported that, although the agency had been forced to operate with fewer nurses in 1954, services had not been noticeably curtailed.

One of the staff nurses, Miss June Palmer, described for the Board the intricate and complex health and family situations which the nurse must be prepared to meet in her daily rounds.

The Board voted to send a delegate to an Institute for Board Members to be held at the Boston University School of Social Work on March 23rd and 24th. Mrs. Matt Jones, Jr., president, will also attend.

Mayor Whitmore To Address the Claflin P.T.A.

The Claflin Parent-Teacher Association will have as guest speaker, Mayor of the City of Newton, Howard Whitmore, Jr., Monday evening, January 17, in the Claflin School Auditorium at 8 p.m. His topic will be, "The Mayor Looks at the Schools" and it should be a subject of all-absorbing interest to parents to hear about the progress and problems in the City of Newton schools.

Mr. Frank B. Maher, President of the Claflin P.T.A., Harry V. Anderson, Principal of the Claflin School, and the various P.T.A. committees are endeavoring at the meetings to acquaint families of Newton with speakers whom they feel play an important part in the educational program to develop a greater understanding between parents and school. In presenting these programs during the school year, it is the hope that parents and people interested in our schools will make every effort to attend.

Classrooms will be open at 7:30 p.m. in order that parents may view the work of the children. A business meeting will follow the speaker and refreshments will be served.

Newton Jaycettes

The Newton Jaycettes met January 4 at the home of Mrs. James K. Fitzpatrick. Guest Night was the feature of the evening. # Cadillac

A Great Discovery Is About to Be Made!

The hand you see here is about to turn the ignition key in a new 1955 Cadillac.

It is the hand of a man who has never driven a Cadillac before—but who finally decided to see for himself if all the wonderful things he's heard about the car are true.

Well, he's about to make an important discovery! He's about to learn that, in 1955, Cadillac actually surpasses its own great reputation!

He'll sense it the instant he makes the turn of the key—and hears the deep, rich, eager answer of that 250-horsepower Cadillac engine.

He'll sense it again when he touches his foot to the accelerator—and brings that dynamic engine into action. It will set him instantly in motion—and will carry him forward with a surge of power that is a revelation all in itself.

And then—out on the open road—the full proof of Cadillac's greatness will begin to unfold itself! He'll discover it's incredible ease of steering and handling—so marvelous that the car seems almost to read his mind.

He'll discover its antizing smoothness and levelness of ride—so great that even the road's roughest spots are difficult to perceive.

And he'll discover its marvelous balance on the curves and corners—its incredible quietness of operation—its extraordinary agility in the traffic lanes—and the reassuring action of its big, powerful brakes.

Yes, the evidence will be abundant—and the verdict without question: This is the greatest motor car performance of all time!

If you haven't as yet taken a drive in a 1955 Cadillac, you ought to do so soon.

It's really an education in all the things a motor car should be and do—and we think you owe it to yourself to get the report firsthand.

Stop in soon, won't you? We'll be most happy to give you the keys—any time!

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Few people raise an eyebrow over paying a few dollars to have a plumber come out and remove something that's stuck in a pipe... or to have a tow truck come out to push a stalled car... or to have a serviceman come out and fix the vacuum cleaner. But many a voice is raised to ask about the cost of TV service. What factors are involved in the average video service charge?

For one thing there's the cost of parts. Guess no one questions that. Parts don't come free... for an automobile, a vacuum cleaner or a TV set. Then there's the matter of time. Like the painter, the plumber or the candlestick maker, the TV technician has a big investment in his time. His time is his livelihood... and that the investment he's made in acquiring experience and technical knowledge.

That technical know-how is a big factor. The TV serviceman is a specialist... "You can't hardly get them no more." You pay a dentist for his knowledge of teeth and how to repair them... the auto mechanic for his knowledge of cars and how to repair them... and the TV technician for his thorough knowledge of TV sets and what makes them tick.

Add to all this the investment in electronic equipment, a full stock of parts, a service truck or two, and the TV technician's average service charge comes out at a bargain! It's only a bargain, though, if it's done right. That means you add dependability to the other factors we've mentioned. For dependable, expert TV service at a fair and honest price, call on us.

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia. For a better choice in the finest in TV, visit our showroom.

Is Named Ass't Chief in State PW Department

John F. McGovern of Newton Highlands, who entered the employ of the State Department of Public Works in 1935 as assistant superintendent of locks and drawbridges and, since 1937, has been supervisor of bridge maintenance and operation, was named assistant chief for maintenance and operation, a newly established position, according to announcement made by Public Works Commissioner John A. Volpe.

He will direct and coordinate

activities of the maintenance and equipment branch, including planning and coordination of maintenance of highways and bridges, control of procurement, assignment and maintenance of equipment and maintenance stores, and promotion of an Operations Safety Program.

In addition, he will provide technical administration to coordinate highway maintenance work of the seven districts of the Department and review the progress of its program; and expenditures, adopt standard highway and equipment maintenance procedures and provide inspection to insure adherence to these standards.

A native of Wadena, Minnesota, Mr. McGovern attended St. Thomas' Military Academy, St. Paul; St. Mary's College, Winona, Minn., and he is a graduate of the University of Minnesota and Northeastern University.

Prior to coming with the Department of Public Works, he had experience in marine engineering and ship repair, building construction and construction supervision. His departmental work was interrupted by service in the United States Navy between 1942 and 1945 when he was assigned to the North and South Atlantic, Mediterranean and Caribbean areas, being Chief Engineer on the Cruiser Marblehead. Mr. McGovern served as chairman of the Highway Research Board Committee on Bridge Maintenance, and, since 1951, has been a member of the Research Board's Department of Maintenance.

Mr. and Mrs. McGovern live at 20 Solon street, Newton Highlands, where he has been active in affairs of the Newton Community Fund and Heart Fund Drives.

Waban Woman's Club

It will be "Guest Night" at the next meeting of the Waban Woman's Club, to be held Monday January 17 at 8:00 p.m. in the Neighborhood Club House, Samuel H. Ramsay, Scottish-born humorist and popular American speaker will discuss, "The Value of a Sense of Humor in Human Relations." Mr. Ramsey has brought to this country a keen sense of humor as well as a remarkable ability to dramatize every-day problems. His talks, highlighted with sparkling anecdotes, are refreshing, informative and inspirational.

Avery Lectures

On January 26, at the Community Playhouse in Wellesley Hills, Miss Eunice Avery will start the second half of the Wednesday morning series with a lecture called "The Middle East and Us." All people interested in becoming better informed are cordially invited to the meeting which begins at 10:30 a.m. Tickets will be available at the door.

Miss Avery knows the Middle East intimately through study, research and extensive traveling as a free-lance reporter. Her latest trip took her to Khartoum in the Sudan as well as Cairo; to Iran's capital; through Arab refugee camps; to Beirut and Turkey. She has on-the-spot knowledge of the parts Italy, France and Britain play in this little known seething area.

The dates for the Avery lectures for the remainder of the year are: January 26, February 9 and 23, March 9 and 23. Put them on your calendar and bring a friend to hear first-hand what is going on in China, Japan, Formosa, Russia and Germany.

There is a luncheon which is held at the Wellesley Inn, following each lecture. Mrs. Edwin S. Kreig is in charge. Reservations may be made by telephoning. It is an informal group and affords a fine opportunity to meet and talk personally with Miss Avery.

Woman's Auxiliary

The next regular monthly meeting of the Auxiliary will be held on January 18, 1955 at the Massachusetts Medical Society Building at 22 the Fenway, Boston.

Mrs. Ella J. Bird of Smith, Patterson Company, Boston, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Bird is a well known lecturer on precious gems, and the title of her talk will be "The Parade of Birthstones." The lecture will be supplemented by a display of precious gems, and a question-and-answer period will follow the talk.

Mrs. Robert F. Tilley will give a brief history of the Auxiliary, entitled "This is Your Life."

Mrs. William F. Walsh and Mrs. Edward C. Smith will act as pourers during the coffee hour which begins at 1:00 P.M.

Mrs. Harry J. Morin, Auxiliary President will preside at the business meeting immediately following the coffee hour.

A cordial invitation is extended to all doctors' wives and their guests to attend this meeting.

Newton Art Ass'n

The Newton Art Association will be privileged for the second time in as many years to have as its guest artist, Mr. Emile Gruppe of Gloucester, celebrated marine and landscape painter. Mr. Gruppe will appear Thursday, January 20 at 7:45 p.m. in the Newtonville Library, at which time he will lecture and demonstrate in oil by painting a familiar Gloucester boat scene.

At the last meeting, Mr. Joseph Butera, of the Butera School of Art, lectured on the proper materials and methods needed in the treatment of canvases and frames. Having all the materials on hand, Mr. Butera explained how to combine them to produce the best results in this type of work.

Plans are under way for the fifth annual R. H. Stearns show at Chestnut Hill which begins February 11th. In other years this exhibit has created tremendous public interest and with more paintings being submitted, this one should be even better. Mrs. H. Story Grainger, exhibition chairman, is in charge of the details.

The Newton Centre Woman's Club

The first regular meeting of the New Year for members of the Newton Centre Woman's Club will be held at the Clubhouse Friday afternoon, January 14. Mrs. Maynard R. McCandless and Mrs. John W. Watts will preside at the Coffee and Social Hour immediately preceding the 2:00 o'clock business meeting. Special guests of the Club will be Officers and Woman's Advisory Committee of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company through whose generosity the afternoon speaker has been made available. At 3:00 p.m. the speaker of the afternoon, William Sutcliffe, Dean, School of Economics, Boston University, will address the meeting on "Buying Power and the Woman."

It is a privilege to open this meeting to all club members, Newton residents and friends without charge; all are urged to take advantage of such an unusual opportunity to hear an eminent economist discuss a timely subject.

God's Power Is Understood Says Lecturer

Liberation from the fear and discord of materialism through spiritual understanding of God is a practical opportunity today, Richard Knox Lee, of London, England, told an audience here Sunday, January 9.

The domination of materiality needs to be replaced by awakening to "the dominion or understanding of spiritual power," Mr. Lee said. In proportion as this is done, he added, the individual finds increased harmony and healing in his everyday life.

A member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, Mr. Lee spoke under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, Newton, in the church edifice at 391 Walnut Street, Newtonville. He was introduced by Carl H. Baesler, First Reader.

Disease, sin, and other problems are proved powerless — and healed — when God's power is spiritually understood and applied, he declared. He said Christian Science is demonstrating that the power of prayer has not diminished since the days of Christ Jesus. As illustrations he told of healings of insanity and pneumonia which he personally saw.

"Christian Science shows," he said, "that the way of deliverance from error of every kind is the way of perfect, spiritual thinking. He continued: "As we perceive and realize God's spiritual ideas in consciousness, they meet our human needs, destroying our iniquities and healing our diseases."

Temple Emanuel Sisterhood

At a luncheon next Wednesday, Temple Emanuel Sisterhood will honor its new members and their sponsors and new Life Members. The luncheon will be held at the home of Rabbi and Mrs. Albert I. Gordon at 12:30 p.m.

Mrs. David Short, Sisterhood President, will welcome all the members; and the program for the afternoon will be a delightful musical performance by Mrs. David White, pianist and Mrs. Elmer Gorn, vocalist—both Sisterhood members.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Nathan Angoff, Chairman of new members, and Mrs. Joseph Greenbaum, Mrs. Peter Groper and Mrs. Maxwell (Florence) Cohen, Chairmen of life members.

Major Bonta, Newton, Wins Bronze Star

A Newton Army major, currently an instructor with the Boston University R.O.T.C. unit, has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal for "meritorious service in connection with military operations against an armed enemy in Korea."

The award was presented to Maj. James C. Bonta of 115 Grasmere street, Newton, Tuesday morning during the R.O.T.C.'s weekly drill at the Commonwealth Armory. It covered his service as an intelligence and training officer to the First Republic of Korea Division from Aug. 15, 1953 to May 21, 1954.

As a member of the United States Military Advisory Group to the Republic of Korea, Maj. Bonta was cited for having "displayed aggressive leadership and initiative in solving the complex problems faced by the staff sections during the post-armistice training period. His profound knowledge of intelligence activities enabled him to instruct his counterparts in all matters pertaining to intelligence collection and dissemination. He rendered valuable assistance and advice in the formulation and execution of extensive programs of training for all units, and materially raised the standards of combat readiness of the division."

Emanuel Skating Party Attended By 300 Children

Under the auspices of its Youth Activities Committee and Parent-Teacher Association, Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, sponsored a recent Chanhaskah Skating Party at the Boston Skating Club for the young people of Temple Emanuel's religious schools and Youth Activities programs.

At the invitation of Temple Emanuel, children from Temple Reyim and Shalom of Newton skated also, making a gay group of over 300 children. On the committee which arranged the program were Lloyd Oppenheim, chairman of the Youth Activities Committee; Dr. Robert Freedman, president of the Parent-Teacher Association; Mr. and Mrs. Al Bickelman, Benjamin Bereson and Samuel Sepstein. Joseph Nathanson helped to supervise the afternoon with Mr. Sig Hellmann, director of youth activities at Temple Emanuel. A second skating party is planned for Monday, February 21st.

Thurs., Jan. 13, 1955 THE NEWTON GRAPHIC Page 9 Seventh Annual Golf School to Start at Newton Y Wednesday

The 7th Annual Session of the Kent School of Golf will again be held at the Newton YMCA starting next Wednesday. Classes, limited in size so that more individual attention can be given, are scheduled for convenient daytime and evening hours. The course will be open to men, women, and children, and special groups may arrange for their own private class periods.

The Kent School of Golf, which is widely known throughout Southern New England, is known for its unique and successful methods of indoor golf instruction had its modest beginning in 1948 with an initial registration of only forty students. John Hoyt Kent, a pioneer in the field of golf instruction and a Class "A" member of the Professional Golfers' Association was then its only instructor. However, with ever increasing popularity, the School has now become the largest school of golf instruction in the country and offers its excellent teaching methods through the sponsorship of many YMCA's and private organizations in New England. In the 1954 season just past, the Kent School of Golf had an all time record enrollment of 1,650 students and gave 16,500 lessons in its winter series as against 400 in 1948.

Mr. Kent enjoys an excellent reputation as an outstanding player and instructor. He was winner of the Rhode Island State Open championship in 1946, of the New Hampshire State Open championship in 1952, and winner of many lesser tournaments. He is recognized by leading professionals and amateurs throughout the country as an outstanding authority in the instruction of the perfect swing. Many fine players credit much of their success to his excellent methods of teaching.

Unique to the Kent School of Golf is its system of teaching "the swing of the playing pros" which was developed after extensive research and study through the media of the slow motion camera and other timing devices. It was found that the swings of the top professional golfers embody identical fundamentals and timing. Much has been done in past years to improve the teaching of the proper mechanics of the golf swing, while how to teach the student exact timing had never been fully understood. On the basis of his studies, Mr. Kent devised and recorded music in special rhythm to develop the perfect blend of exact timing, smoothness, and rhythm. The student is taught a series of progressive exercises which were perfected by Mr. Kent and timed to this special music to blend the fundamentals of body, arm and hand action into the perfect swing.

The Kent School of Golf combines the best of indoor golf instruction with the finest equipment. All equipment is provided by the School, but the student may bring his own golf clubs if he so desires. The competent instructors on the staff are all golf professionals of excellent playing reputation and teaching ability and, in the instruction of the student, use many new and improved aids including a special mat of original Kent design as a guide to grooving the perfect swing.

Especially featured are golf movies made of each student's swing at the first lesson and shown for analysis and correction later in the course. Instruction is given at every lesson through exercises to music in special rhythm to develop perfect timing, clinical demonstration by the instructors, ultra slow motion films of leading golfers with commentary, and individual instruction, with a supervised practice period included. Mr. Kent is untiring in his research for the best and most effective methods of teaching the perfect swing.

It is the mutual purpose of the Newton YMCA and the Kent School of Golf to bring to the golfer and potential golfer the best of indoor group instruction at a moderate fee. The nine week series is timed to conclude when the golfing season opens in the Spring, thus enabling the student to put into practice and play the instructions of the course. Registrations may be made by contacting the Newton YMCA at Bigelow 4-6050.

Day Junior High School P.T.A.

Meeting Needs Of Adolescents Topic at Warren

A film on meeting the needs of adolescents, followed by a question-and-answer period from the floor and a panel discussion, will feature tonight's (Thursday) meeting of the Warren Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association at 8 o'clock at the school.

Refreshments will be served following the meeting, and the Thrift Shop and Food Sale will open at 7 p.m. Local experts participating in the panel discussion will be:

Dr. Edward P. Landy, who will act as moderator. He is director of the Division of Counseling Service for Newton's public schools, and is a lecturer on education at the Harvard School of Education.

Mrs. Viola Isaacs, who holds a master's degree in Family Life Education from Columbia Teachers' College. A former teacher in family life and child development in New York, she is a member of the executive committee of the Tri-State Council for Family Life.

Mr. Ernest W. Kuebler, director of the Division of Education of the Council of Liberal Churches (Universalist and Unitarian). He is general editor of the Beacon Curriculum Books and is a member of the Secretariat of the International Association for Religious Freedom.

Miss Eileen M. Collins, head counselor and guidance counselor for Junior I boys and Junior II girls at Warren Junior High School. She holds a Master of Education degree from Bates and did graduate work in guidance and testing at Boston University and Boston College.

Weeks Exchange Mid-Winter Sale

Details of the mid-winter sale of the Weeks Junior High School Clothing Exchange, scheduled for Wednesday, January 26, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., were discussed Friday at a meeting in the home of Mrs. David Shrier.

At the sale, all winter merchandise will be reduced 50 per cent. Anyone not wishing to have their merchandise included in this sale must remove it from the exchange before Wednesday. There will be no appraising the day of the sale. Spring and summer goods are now being received.

Members attending the planning session included chairman Mrs. George F. Brewer, Mrs. Otis E. Stephenson, Mrs. Walter Muelder, Mrs. Vincent T. Gamble, and Mrs. Curtis B. Forbes. Arrangements are being made to have additional help available the day of the sale.

Newton Sports

Newton High came out with an expected victory in basketball, a disappointing tie in hockey and a definitely unexpected drubbing in track the past week... On the basketball front, the Orange and Black cagers evened up their season's record with a 61-48 clobbering of Watertown High. In the first half of this game—coach Ed Poskit's debut in his home court—Newton frittered away its opportunities to end up on the short end of a 24-22 count. But a third period barrage all but blew Watertown back across the Charles as the Tigers went on to an easy win... At the Arena Saturday afternoon, the Orange and Black disappointed its faithful few followers by fumbling to a 2-2 deadlock with last-place Cambridge Latin. Paul Ryan popped in both Newton tallies while defensive lapses handed the Cantabs two goals—a season's high for the weak Latin squad... And Coach Ed Boyle's tracksters were rudely jolted Saturday in Metropolitan board competition when upstart Malden turned the tables on the perennially-powerful local squad to hand the Tigers their second straight loss of the young season. This came as a distinct shock after Newton's good showing the week before against defending champion Rindge Tech... So far winter sports have given loyal Newton High rooters little to cheer about, but things will undoubtedly get better. The Tigers best hope is on the basketball court, where Poskit has gathered one of the best-looking groups of players in several years—despite the loss of co-captain Billy Hamill with a shoulder separation.

Newton High's basketballers fumbled and dawdled through a slow first half Friday while Watertown displayed eagle-eye shooting from far outside. Only foul shooting kept the Orange close to the visitors... An oddity of that half was that Newton did not commit a foul until an eye-blink before the buzzer sounded for intermission. But that foul gave Watertown a pair of points which broke a 22-22 tie.

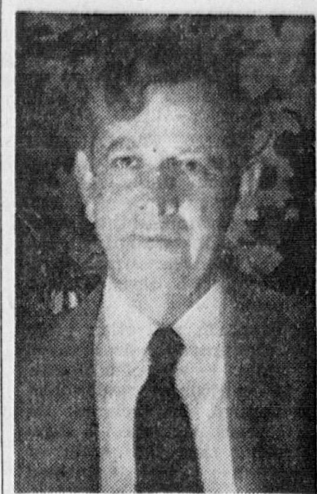

Watertown should never have come out for the last half, however. The Tigers changed their defense to a full-court press, covering the Arsenal Towners like blankets. The Watertown attack, based on set shots, was thrown off balance by Newton's pressing tactics, and the Orange and Black doubled its previous point total while holding its opponents to a mere seven... This surge gave Newton High a 44-31 lead, and Coach Poskit let substitutes play most of the fourth quarter. Lanky Stan Chamberlain, the Tigers' talented center, again took scoring honors by dunking five baskets and six fouls for 16 points. Right at his heels was co-captain Russ Halloran, who scored only one less foul. Guard Al Rogan, recovering from his twisted ankle of last week, showed no effects of the injury as he also reached double figures with 10 digits... An odd feature of Poskit's squad is its foul-committing. Against Rindge, the Tigers were fouled eight times at the start of the game while committing only one. And as mentioned above, Newton's first foul of the half came at the buzzer... Sharpshooting at the foul line kept the Tigers within hailing distance of Rindge before succumbing in the closing seconds, and against Watertown the foul points gave Newton a 7-point bulge. The Orange and Black counted on 19 out of 24 foul shots against Watertown, a good average in any league.

Failure to cash in on golden, diamond-studded opportunities cost the Tiger skaters a chance to move up into undisputed fifth place in the Greater Boston Inter-scholastic loop. Newton took 20 more shots than the Cambridge squad, but couldn't find the opposition's cage... The Tigers were expected to win this one handily, and the way things started it looked as if Jack Hall's boys would finally get victory number one.

The first period was played in the Cambridge end with only a few breathers for the embattled Contabs. Goalie Bill Tansey made some spectacular stops at the goal-mouth, and Newton cooperated by messing up plays which were set up as sure scores... At 8:50 of the period, Paul Ryan slapped home a rebound off the stick of Mike Vassalotti for the lone score of the period. As the second canto got underway, Newton appeared tired of it all. Cambridge's Bill McCarthy added some spark to the game at 6:47 by grabbing a loose puck in the center zone and outspeeding the lead-footed Newtonites to the goal. His soft shot slid under Brian Dooley to knot the count... After the Tigers messed up some passes in its own zone, with Orange and Black players colliding right and left, McCarthy again wound up with the disc and, all alone, blasted it past Dooley... Ryan slid a long shot from the blue line into the Cambridge goal one minute and 29 seconds later. Tansey, who was superb on occasions, apparently lost sight of the puck as it nestled barely into the left corner... Newton so far has been playing its good games alternately. If this pattern holds true, the Tigers will have a good one in store for Medford tomorrow (Friday) night at 9 p.m. at the Arena in the second half of G.B.I. play for the evening. Medford currently is tied for second place in the G.B.I... Malden dropped the Newton trackmen, 44-33, despite the Tigers expected performance in the shotput, taking all three places. The only first places won by the Orange in the nine-event competition were shotput (Mel Shine), 1000-yard run (Pete Nelson), 300-yard run (Barry Gilvar), and a tie in the high jump (Tom Koller). This was a real surprise, and rates as one of the most startling wins by Malden in years.

Dr. Pinnard To Speak at Temple Reyim

Board of Weeks P-T Ass'n Visits Exchange Store

The executive board of the Weeks Junior High School PTA visited the Clothing Exchange Monday to see the shop in operation.

A private demonstration of the actual business procedures was given by the heads of the various departments of the Clothing Exchange. Since the proceeds of this PTA venture go toward scholarships for worthwhile students, the success of the shop is of the greatest interest to the Executive Board.

Following the demonstration the clothing exchange committee was invited to the school library to sit in on the PTA board meeting.

THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS

Case No. 19543 Misc. THE COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS LAND COURT
(SEAL)
To James A. Waugh, Elizabeth Perry Waugh, of Newton, in the County of Middlesex and said Commonwealth, and to all whom it may concern:
Hymen Krinsky, of Brookline, in the County of Norfolk and said Commonwealth, claiming to be the holder of a mortgage covering real property in said Newton in that part known as the Newton Highlands District, and numbered 33 Floral Street, given by James A. Waugh and Elizabeth Perry Waugh to Corinne Taylor, by instrument dated January 28, 1953, recorded with the Middlesex County South District Registry of Deeds, Book 8926, Page 422, and held by the plaintiff by assignment, has filed with said Court a bill in equity for authority to foreclose said mortgage in the manner following: by entry and possession and exercise of power of sale.
If you are entitled to the benefits of the Soldiers' and Sailors' Civil Relief Act of 1940 as amended, and you object to such foreclosure you or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court on or before the twenty-first day of February 1955, at which time the plaintiff may be heard and such foreclosure is invalid under said act.
Witness, JOHN E. FENTON, Esquire, Judge of said Court this seventh day of January 1955.
(G) ja13 SYBIL H. HOLMES, Recorder.

'Fun With Food' By 1st National Here Next Week

"Fun With Food", television's popular food program starring Bonnie Lynn will be presented locally when First National Stores brings to the Newton Centre Women's Club, Newton Centre, the popular free cooking school for three sessions, starting Monday.
Sessions will be conducted from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. Monday and Wednesday afternoons, and from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday evening. Forty-five free bags will be awarded at the sessions, in addition to all of the food prepared by Bonnie Lynn. A General Electric Spacemaker Range will be awarded as a grand prize at the final session of Wednesday.
During this period, Mrs. Lynn, whose helpful, instructive cooking lectures and suggestions have been a boon to hundreds of busy housewives, will demonstrate how to prepare a tasty, palate tempting meal, with a minimum of effort and expense.
Bonnie Lynn, new star of "Fun With Food" replaces the popular Roberta Clarke who retired from the field following her marriage this summer. A home economist of wide reputation, Mrs. Lynn comes to "Fun With Food" with a background that includes the supervision and organization of homemaking and cooking classes for adults for several West Virginia and New York school systems. She holds a degree in home economics from the University of West Virginia and has been an active member of the American Association of University Women and Association of Women's Clubs.
Judging by the tremendous reception accorded the program in other New England cities and towns it is expected that the Newton Centre Women's Club will be crowded for each presentation of "Fun With Food" next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. The television program "Fun With Food" is seen every Thursday afternoon from 2:15 to 2:45 p.m. on WBZ-TV, channel four in Boston.

Heads Army Drive

Birthday Party Is Held for Billy Duffy Jan. 9

Billy Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Duffy, of 99 Fairway drive, West Newton, celebrated his 13th birthday, January 9, with a party at his home.
The party was held in the game room, which was decorated with pastel colored streamers and balloons. On the table was a large birthday cake, topped with yellow and green frosting.
Billy received many gifts, including a sum of money from his grandfather living in Springfield and his uncle and aunts living in Watertown.
Those present included: Ann Davison, Charles Crovo, Francis Keefe, Judy Kelly, Bob Sprague, Sally Remley, John Koller, Cathie Gough, Bob McCarthy, Sheila Donahue, Don Westwood, Eleanor Heubach, Bob Anderson and Sandra Herick, all pupils attending the seventh grade at the F. A. Day, Jr. High School.
Games were played and dancing was enjoyed to popular music.
Billy also was given a birthday party, the previous evening (January 8) by his cousin, Mrs. Jean Devaney of Belmont, which the family attended.

News of the Day

January's activities started in the usual busy fashion. The Daytonian staff reported a new sales record for its Christmas issue. This was deserved support for a really outstanding Daytonian presentation under the leadership of Mrs. Robbins and Editor Tom Martin.
Club meetings are once again in full swing. Several interesting groups have been formed including the Skating Club, the Stamp Club, the Archery Club and the Radio Club.
F. A. Day was "guest-starred" last Thursday. Several of our school citizens appeared in the living rooms of thousands of New England homes over the facilities of WBZ-TV. Bethel Bilezikian, Tom Martin, Elaine Morgan, Danny Dorris, Nancy Onley, and Eddie Rogan appeared on the Boston Edison Company's "Electric Living" program.

The service will include the naming and blessing of Helene Claire Solomon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Solomon; and the Bar Mitzvah of Richard Milender, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Milender.
Brenda Kastle and Linda Waterman will be usherettes.

New Garden City Lodge of Masons To Meet Tonight

A new Newton Masonic lodge, known as the Garden City Lodge, has been instituted and meets the second Thursday of each month at the Newtonville Masonic Temple.

Officers of the new lodge are: Thomas G. Walters, a 33rd degree Mason, master of the lodge; Carl S. Peterson, senior warden; Joseph Balcom, junior warden; Charles Hersh, senior deacon; Nathan Goldstein, junior deacon; Murray D. Solomon, senior steward; Irving J. Marcus, junior steward; Irving Meyers, inside sentinel; Harry Miller, secretary; and Bernard Weinstein, treasurer.

At Radar School

Seaman Lawrence A. Buckley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Buckley of 23 Maple street, Newton, is attending a course of instruction at the U. S. Naval Radarman School at Norfolk, Va.

The school conducts a basic course in the operation and maintenance of various types of shipboard radar equipment. Students are instructed in all phases of radar plotting and navigation. The course also includes voice communication procedures and the use of sound powered and radio telephones. Graduates of the school are qualified to be members of the highly skilled combat information center teams aboard ship.

On Leave in Tokyo

Two Army men from Newton recently spent a week's leave in Tokyo from their unit in Korea. They are Sgt. Harold A. Knott, son of Montague Knott of 30 Ashville road, Newton, and Sgt. Peter L. Kelley Jr., whose father lives at 387 Washington street, Newton, a unit administrator with Battery B of the 7th Infantry Division's 49th Field Artillery Battalion.

Woman's Work Is Never Done Even If You're In Politics And Bake An Apple Pie

Woman's work is never done, even in politics, if you are a woman like Mrs. Irene K. Thresher, representative in the General Court from Newton; besides regular legislative sessions and committee meetings, there is the matter of housework—and pies to be baked, superb apple pies, that is.

The energetic Newton legislator launched her political career in 1941 when she was elected to the Newton school committee; she starts her third term in the State House of Representatives this week, is the mother of four grown children and is a proud grandmother six times. She holds the genuine distinction of having been the first woman to serve on the important Ways and Means committee.

Newton's distinguished public servant is the wife of B. Alden Thresher, director of admissions at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and resides at 667 Chestnut street, Waban.

She had four children in the Newton public schools back in 1941 when she decided that being on the school committee was the best possible way of their being guaranteed the best possible teaching techniques. She was elected to the school committee in 1941 and served nine years.

Despite her active and lengthy political career, the Newton woman devotes ample time to her housewife duties; over the Christmas holidays the Chestnut street home teemed with visitors, relatives and neighbors and Mrs. Thresher is highly regarded for her home-made apple pies. In fact, this culinary delight could be a formidable secret weapon in securing a change of opinion on certain deadlocked legislative problems among her more persistent colleagues—especially the Democrats.

Mrs. Thresher is a Republican but where is there a real, old line Democrat who could stand adamant before a juicy, well-filled, well-browned apple pie?

In addition to membership on the Ways and Means committee, Irene Thresher was a diligent worker on the Public Welfare and Education committee for three years, and was in the forefront among the members of the Old Age Commission.

Her work on this commission caused Governor Herter to send her to Michigan, Washington, D. C., and New York, where she addressed legislative committees on this important phase of contemporary living. She also served on the Education Television commission and spent much time during the past summer in the interests of the teacher training program in this state.

With the change of control in the state legislature this year, Mrs. Thresher is uncertain about her status as a member of committees; however, there is always the interesting possibility contained in a batch of those toothsome apple pies.

Two of the Thresher children are married—Mrs. Daniel M. Colyer, of West Chester, Pa., and Mrs. Robert A. Weaver, of Los Angeles. Rosemary, a Colby college graduate, is a case worker for the New England Home for Little Wanderers; Colby Thresher is a freshman at Bowdoin College.

The Newton representative, one of three women serving in that capacity on Beacon Hill, is also active in club and social circles, and is a past president of several organizations including the Newton League of Women Voters, the Boston Branch of the Vassar College Alumnae, and the Boston Chapter of the American Association of University Women.

Yes, woman's work is never done—even if you are in politics—especially if your name is Irene K. Thresher. Now, what extra-curricular problems confront the male politicians, beyond passing out cigars?

HEALTH FOR ALL

STORM WARNING

When Carol, Edna, and Hazel were invading the East Coast last fall, scientists were able to plot their probable behavior and warn the public to take precautions against the hurricanes. With equal care, scientists have been watching the advance of another threat to our safety: Type A influenza.

Beginning with an outbreak in Australia last summer, Type A has followed a pattern which could bring it to the United States this winter. It may not appear at all, but doctors are on the alert.

We need not fear a disastrous epidemic such as struck this country in 1918. Many of the deaths then were the result of pneumonia or meningitis that developed following the "flu". New antibiotics and other drugs will cut down these secondary infections. Prompt treatment and careful nursing through convalescence will also help prevent complications.

If influenza does strike in your community, avoid crowds. The "flu" virus is spread by direct contact, but it can be carried and passed on by people who are not sick themselves. Watch for symptoms. If any member of the family complains of sore throat, cough, headache, fever, or nausea, put him to bed at once. Influenza moves fast to the acute stage when there may be severe pains in the back, chest and limbs, and exhaustion to the point of prostration.

Follow the doctor's instructions carefully. There is no specific cure for influenza, but the discomfort can be relieved and dangerous complications prevented. Lots of rest and a gradual return to normal activity are of the utmost importance in coming safely through influenza.

Survey Shows Legislators Representing Sections Remote From Boston Have to Be Super Errand Boys

In some of their more harassed moments, members of the Massachusetts Legislature, upon analyzing the services they perform, frequently declare that they are probably the highest-paid errand boys in New England, if not in the world.

That is especially true of the State Senators and Representatives from districts remote from Boston, out in the bucolic hills of the Berkshires, down on Cape Cod and on the rocky stretches of the upper stretches of the rocky North Shore, whose constituents don't hesitate to call upon them to perform a wide variety of chores.

Paul Driscoll, the State House reporter for the Worcester Telegram, did some research on this interesting subject and came up with the enlightening report that the average legislator through no fault of his own is an investigator, trouble-shooter, legal advisor, ticket broker, travel agent, personal shopper, one-man employment agency and at times even a part-time chauffeur.

He found that the public pays its House and Senate members to make laws but also insists that they run some errands as well. Mr. Driscoll is regarded as a highly reliable authority on the activities and service of legislators from the Worcester and Blackstone Valley areas. His observations carry more than ordinary weight. They leave us with the impression that our own law-makers don't have such a bad time after all. This in substance is what he had to say, and he is presumably speaking about the legislators from his section of the State:

John A. Baldwin Is Issued Certificate For Civic Service

John A. Baldwin was recently awarded by the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce the Distinguished Service Key and Certificate in recognition for his services to the community as the 1954 March of Dimes Chairman.

Mr. Baldwin, who is 28, resides at 17 Wilde road, Waban. In 1937 he was stricken with polio and spent several years in hospitals as well as at the Lakeville Sanatorium. Upon completion of his education he entered the insurance field and is now associated with the Union Mutual Life Insurance Company.

Riley J. Hampton, Ex-Alderman, 56, Dies Suddenly

Riley J. Hampton, 56, of 58 Page road, Newtonville, former Newton alderman and long active in civic affairs, died suddenly Wednesday morning at his home.

A resident of Newton since 1930, he was editor of the "Raytheon News," monthly magazine distributed to employees of the Raytheon Manufacturing Company. He had served as an alderman-at-large in 1949-50, when he was chairman of the public buildings committee.

Mr. Hampton, who leaves his wife, Mrs. Myra B. Hampton, was a past junior warden and vestryman of St. John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville. Among his many civic activities were chairman of the 1948 Community Fund drive, chairman of publicity for the 1949 drive, chairman of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Building Fund Campaign in 1949, chairman of the Red Cross disaster committee in 1950, and directorships in Stone Institute, the West Newton Co-operative Bank and the Salvation Army in Waltham. During World War I, he served in the Marine Corps.

Reserve Feb. 3 For Big Graphic Cooking School

Newton's big, mid-winter annual event of particular interest to women of this city, The Graphic-Boston Gas Company Cooking School, will be held Thursday afternoon, February 3 from 1:30 to 4:00 o'clock in Masonic Hall, Newtonville avenue, Newtonville.

This annual event, eagerly awaited each year, was a tremendous success last year with over four hundred present at the affair.

Make plans now to attend this most popular event, plan to attend it with your friends and be sure to remember the time, date and place and above all, get there early in order to secure a seat.

As usual, there will be many gifts awarded during the cooking school session February 3.

Study of Central Purchasing Agency Approved by Aldermen

EDMUND R. BOUCHER

Newton Man Is Promoted by State P.W.D.

Edmund R. Boucher, a native and life-long resident of this city, and associated with the State Department of Public Works since 1913, has been appointed to the position of Construction Engineer, according to an announcement of Commissioner John A. Volpe. His new duties will include the inspection and administration of contracts and, or force account work as directed by the Assistant Chief Engineer for Design and Construction.

Mr. Boucher was educated at Boston College High School and

Whitmore Claims Unit Would Save Money and Time

Continuation of a study into the city's purchasing methods, to result ultimately in the establishment of a separate Purchasing Department, was authorized by the Board of Aldermen Monday night at the request of Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr.

The aldermen voted $10,000 in advance of this year's budget to finance studies already under way "into matters and methods of instituting and establishing a Purchasing Department." An amendment to the city's ordinances setting up the department, filed with the aldermen at the same time as the appropriation request, is being considered by the claims and rules and the finance committees.

Research into the new department has been conducted by Albert Pleydell, former purchasing agent for New York City, and Harold T. Pillsbury, Mayor Whitmore's administrative assistant.

Although the $10,000 appropriation seems to give tacit approval to the project, the establishment of a Purchasing Department is still several months away. A Committee on Standards and Specifications, composed of department heads, is slated to be named to assist the purchasing agent.

With the purchasing unit, Mayor Whitmore explained, department heads would be able to save much time, and there

City Flag

Presentation of First Flag to Be Made Soon by Lodge of Elks

A design for the proposed new City of Newton flag was shown at last week's special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen by a special committee appointed by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. The committee also proposed that black and gold be adopted as the official colors of the City of Newton.

The flag has a field of gold with a black pale in the center which contains the City of Newton seal. This means that the flag is divided into three sections parallel to the pole, gold sections at each end with black in the center. The city seal with gold field is inserted in the black center strip with a gold field and black letters.

The colors, black and gold, were selected to be consistent with gold and orange of Newton High School.

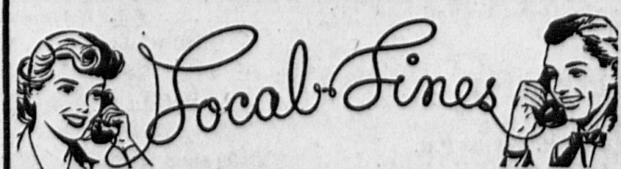

The Aldermen, sitting as a committee of the whole, saw the flag last week and will consider the special flag committee's request for an appropriation to purchase such flags to be displayed in the Mayor's

Large Gathering Honors Miss Mary O'Neil, Retired Teacher

Over two hundred parents, teachers, and other friends gathered at the Horace Mann P.T.A. meeting Tuesday evening, January 11, to honor her 35 years at this school, taught a thousand Miss Mary O'Neil, retired schoolteacher who, and youngsters how to read and write.

At the same time she taught them some of the lessons which are not found in textbooks for, during all of these years she set them an example of graciousness and patience and fairness, and was so consistently friendly and kind that she endeared herself to them and to their parents.

Mary O'Neil, who resides at 666 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls, was born in Lower Falls. She attended the Hamilton School and is remembered by her classmates as a rather quiet girl with a very keen mind and an exceptionally good memory. She graduated from Newton High School and from Framingham Teachers' College. Her first teaching position was in Seekonk, Massachusetts, where she remained for two years. From there she went to Providence, Rhode Island, where she taught for nine years. It was in 1918 that Frank Carr, then principal of the Horace Mann School, chose Miss O'Neil to replace the first-grade teacher who had left.

Miss O'Neil is described by her fellow workers as a person who always entered into all school activities and social affairs, "a good sport on the water, on the turf, at the bridge table or on the dance floor." Unanimously they acclaim her as having been a "grand person to work with — a wonderful friend."

These facts were presented in the course of a "This Is Your Life" program led by George W. Taylor, Jr., President of the

Taxpayers Directors Say 'No Voting Machines Now'

Tentative approval of creating a centralized purchasing department in Newton City Hall and "thumbs down" on voting machines, at least for the present, were voiced by the directors of the Newton Taxpayers Association in the January issue of "Taxpayer's Topics."

The directors stated they would "tend to concur" on the need for a purchasing agent "depending upon what an examination of the specific proposal would reveal."

As far as voting machines are concerned, the directors stated they would "tend to oppose this kind of expenditure in a period of Newton's growth where it is nip and tuck to hold the tax rate at the plateau it has reached after the $7.40 jump it took in 1952. This is the kind of service which, while it is certainly nice for a few who are interested in extra-speedy returns, is hardly necessary nor of overall benefit."

The centralized purchasing department, said "Taxpayer's Topics," "is an old pre-war proposal older than the Association." Although it was favored in a referendum in the 1920's, past city executives have "successfully resisted" it. The Association has "pushed for it off

Memorial Service to Be Held Sunday for Dr. Chas Arbuckle

Dr. Charles N. Arbuckle, minister of the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre for twenty-eight and a half years, 1919-1948, passed away in Claremont, California, Monday, January seventeenth.

A Memorial Service will be held in this, his former church, at the corner of Beacon and Centre street, Newton Centre, Sunday, January 23 at 4 p.m.

Participating in the service will be Dr. Everett C. Herrick, president emeritus of Andover-Newton Theological School, Dr. James P. Berkeley, professor emeritus of the same school, Dr. Ronald W. Adams, close personal friend, and Rev. Russell H. Bishop, present minister of the church.

Dr. Charles Arbuckle's life service was unique in that he held only two long ministries. His first ministry was 17 years in the Baptist Church of the Redeemer in Yonkers, N. Y. His second ministry was 28½ years in the First Baptist Church in Newton Centre.

Dr. Arbuckle was one of the most outstanding and virtuous preachers of his denomination. His inspired, direct, compelling sermons satisfied the highly educated and the uneducated, the rich and the poor, the old and the young, men and women.

His Christ-like spirit, his civic mindedness, his warm interest in, and understanding of people,

Touring Gymnasts to Appear Saturday Night in NHS Gym

Twenty-five young athletes who have developed extraordinary skill in gymnastics will appear Saturday at 8:15 p.m. in Newton High School's gymnasium under the sponsorship of the Newton Coaches Club.

The athletes are members of the famous exhibition team from Springfield College. Membership on the team is one of the coveted honors at Springfield since the squad makes numerous appearances each winter before audiences throughout the eastern United States.

The show is full of comedy and surprises. Thrilling feats on gymnastic apparatus are followed by dance routines which display rhythmic ease and grace not usually credited to gymnasts. Comedy will be handled by experts in tomfoolery.

For years the youthful collegians have toured cities throughout the East and repeatedly played to packed houses. "Physical Panorama" is not a standard gymnastic routine, but rather a series of performances designed both to thrill and to entertain. Saturday's show will mark the 31st year of Springfield College's touring gymnastic exhibition.

Precision drills, intricate team dances, long horse leaping, tumbling feats, work on the parallel bars and rings are all part of the exhibition team's schedule.

One of the most popular acts is the trampoline demonstration. The trampoline is a spring-mat type of apparatus which enables the performer to fly through the air in somersaults and twists requiring great body control and balance. Balance at its finest will be

Parking Meters Receipts Drop $2000 from '53

Parking meter receipts last year showed a drop of slightly more than $2000 over the 1953 figures, according to figures by Comptroller John D. Martin for the first two full years of meter operation.

During the first year of operation in 1953, the meters took in $36,750. This dropped to $34,700 last year, a difference of $2050. The meters actually went into operation in 1952, when the city realized $5125 from the November and December.

As would be expected, pennies and nickels flowed most freely into the meters in December of the two complete years. But closely behind was April, with March ranking a bare third and September in the also-ran position.

Over the 26-month period listed, the city took a total of $76,575 from the meters. Of this sum, nearly $34,000 went to pay for meters and spare parts, while an additional $13,700 was appropriated for other uses by the aldermen. Last month an additional $1357 was expended for extra parking meters, leaving slightly more than $27,500 in that account.

Other balances available for appropriation as of January 17, according to Comptroller Martin, were $7450 in fire station building bonds; $270,054.34 in school building bonds; $18,836.86 in sewer and drain bonds; $65,497.41 in 10-year street bonds; and $18,901 in receipts from real estate sales.

This leaves the city with $380,739.61 available on hand. Water bonds, which are self-supporting from water receipts, amount to $346,929.98 available.

Instructors Named for Safety Courses

Gilbert J. Champagne, Water Safety Chairman for the Newton Chapter, American Red Cross, announces that the Newton Chapter, in cooperation with the Waltham and Wellesley Chapters, is planning a course in Senior Life Saving and to qualify Water Safety Instructors. The course will commence on February 2nd and will continue for sixteen weeks.

The Walter E. Fernald State School in Waverly has offered the use of its pool for the classes, which will be held each Wednesday from 7 to 10 p.m.

The class will have a maximum enrollment of twenty-five and it is desirable that the applicants be eighteen years of age, as that is the minimum for the Water Safety Instructor's portion of the course.

This is the first time such a course has been offered by the Newton Chapter. It offers an excellent opportunity for those desiring summer employment as swimming instructors or lifeguards since there is a dearth of properly qualified young people in these fields. A certificate showing completion of this course will usually guarantee its holder a wide choice of positions.

Graduated From Marines School

Recently graduated from the 5-month Officers Basic Course at the Marine Corps School in Quantico, Va., were Marine Second Lt. Clarke Alvord, Michael J. Connor and Richard N. Hennessey, all of Newton.

Alvord, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Alvord of 230 Walnut street, Newtonville, has been transferred to Camp Lejeune, N.C., for duty. He is a graduate of Middlebury College.

Assigned to duty at Quantico was Connor, a graduate of Northwestern University. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Connor of 40 Bemis street, Newtonville.

Also transferred to Camp Lejeune was Hennessey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph N. Hennessey

First Meeting Slated Tuesday By Newton High P-T-S Ass'n

An 8-member panel discussion on "Our Partnership in Education" will feature the first meeting of the newly-organized Newton High School Parent-Teacher-Student Association Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

The discussion, by a panel drawn from the three membership groups in the P.T.S.A., will cover important issues such as: Should Newton High be one large campus school or two high schools? Are there too many marking periods? What should parents contribute to the schools? What about extra-curricular activities? Do we expect too much from high school students? Does Newton

Moderator of the panel will be Dr. James B. Palmer, chairman of the Newton School Committee. Representing the parents will be Albert Kahn and Mrs. Walter T. Picotti; the faculty, Miss Ruth M. Twiss, teacher of business subjects, and Francis J. Foster, supervisor of buildings and teacher of social studies.

After the discussion, the panel will answer questions from the floor. The program has been arranged by Dr. Walter Muelder and Mrs. Guy King, co-chairmen of the program committee.

An outgrowth of Newton's many parent-teacher associations, the Parent-Teacher-Student Association is the largest group of its kind in the history of Newton. It is headed by Manual Beckwith of Auburndale, and the other officers are Max Branniger, parent vice-president; Floyd Rinker, faculty vice-president; Anthony Medaglia, student vice-president; Mrs. John R. Swanton Jr., executive secretary; Harold Goldstein, treasurer; and Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson, secretary.

Ex-officio members of the Association are Dr. Leo M. Barry, Newton High principal, and Dick Lucier, president of the Newton High School Associates.

Devoted Years

The recent tribute paid to Miss Mary O'Neil, retired school teacher, reminds us all that a life of public service brings its own soul-satisfying reward. When fellow citizens give pause for a moment to recognize a lifetime spent in their behalf, the reward is doubly gratifying.

Those who devote their years and their energies to the betterment of mankind seldom accumulate fortunes. Some few may achieve fame through great scientific discoveries which change the course of history; but by far the greatest number invest their thoughts and their labors in everyday tasks which need to be done and which almost never bring spectacular results.

There are the doctor, the nurse, the fireman, the soldier, the policeman—all those whose jobs help to insure our health and safety.

There are civil officers and elected officials, the majority of whom are conscientious and hard-working and whose lot is a difficult one, likely to bring abuse and criticism upon their own heads. Sometimes only they can know the value of a difficult decision, arrived at and acted upon after careful study and sometimes prayer. Their task is to guard our community well-being and to direct the course of our national and world-wide affairs.

Supplementing the work of these people are plodding office workers and housewives who give freely of their limited spare time to furnish the manpower needed for Civil Defense, Red Cross, Community Chest, P.T.A. and Scouting—numerable worthy causes; men and women who spend hours in service to their churches. There are those who, through less formal channels, give freely of their time to assist their neighbors, really giving of themselves to make the world a better place. One might describe at length the contribution made by any of these people, might add endlessly to the list.

In that field of endeavor where multiple and conflicting interests reach for men's minds, the theologian and the teacher are the guardians of the mind. There are to be found, also, among writers and among producers of sound and picture those who take seriously their moral obligation to society and who try to serve.

There is no one to whom a word of appreciation means more than to the teacher, who can never measure his or her success in size of income or quantity of merchandise manufactured. Next only to the parents who are, after all, the child's first and most constant teachers, the school instructor has in his keeping the minds of young citizens. Strictly speaking, his job is to teach the three R's and the related knowledge so vital to our way of life. Yet, as we all know, his influence is far greater than that. A teaching job, well done, is a noble service performed for his country and for all mankind. In his own heart he knows this. How worthwhile the long years seem when he is assured that the public also knows.

Miss O'Neil embodied all these attributes and in her retirement she can well possess the satisfaction that through her patience, her guidance and her understanding, she has given to this world no small number of fine, intelligent and understanding citizens. What greater reward can be achieved by anyone.

For Safety Sake

How fast is it safe to drive on ice or snow?

With winter weather moving in on most of the nation, the National Safety Council has attempted to answer that question in a new report issued by its Committee on Winter Driving Hazards.

Considering only the road surface itself, the Council offers this advice:

To provide the same stopping ability available on dry pavement at 50 m.p.h. — Speed on ice must not be higher than 25 m.p.h. with reinforced tire chains or 15 m.p.h. with special winter tires.

Speed on packed snow must not be higher than 35 m.p.h. with reinforced tire chains or 28 m.p.h. with special winter tires.

The Council warns that these speeds are a measure of stopping traction only. Visibility, traffic and other varying conditions can make even these speeds hazardous, it says, so the rules of common sense should always be followed.

The Council's committee, composed of 35 testing experts in the field of automotive and traffic safety engineering, based the conclusions in its report on many years of testing on frozen lakes, airport runways and actual highways.

The best self-help for the motorist are reinforced tire chains, according to the report. Under some conditions, special winter tires may also be helpful.

Reinforced tire chains cut braking distances in half on both snow and ice, the report states. Starting traction is increased seven times on ice and nearly four times on packed snow, as compared with regular tires.

Reinforced tire chains, which have projecting teeth or cleats on each cross chain, "are very effective on glare ice in reducing braking distances, opposing side skids and increasing forward traction" as compared with regular road wire link chains which provide good stop-and-go traction on snow but comparatively poor resistance to side skids, the report states.

Some special winter tires, according to the report, "serve a real purpose under certain weather and road conditions, particularly when snow or slush is soft and not too deep. However, the overall improvement of even the best tires tested is not great enough to warrant less care or precaution when driving on slippery surfaces. Considering the hazards involved, drivers should also realize that a majority of the winter tires tested were poorer or little better than regular tires."

The six basic rules for safe winter driving recommended by the committee are:

1. Accept your responsibility to do all in your power to drive without accident. Don't blame the weatherman for an accident. Be prepared and meet the situation.
2. Get the "feel" of the road. Try brakes occasionally while driving slowly and away from traffic. Find out just how slippery the road is and adjust your speed to road and weather conditions. Remember you can't stop on an icy dime.
3. Keep the windshield clear of snow and ice, fog and frost. Be sure headlights, windshield wiper blades and defrosters are in top condition. You have to see danger to avoid it.
4. Use tire chains and good tires. Don't rely on worn-smooth tires. Use tire chains on snow and ice. They cut stopping distances about half, give four to seven times more starting and climbing traction. But even with the help of chains, slower than normal speeds are a must on snow and ice.
5. Pump your brakes to slow down or stop. Jamming them on can lock the wheels and throw you into a dangerous skid. A little skidding can carry you a long way.
6. Follow at a safe distance. Keep well back of the vehicle ahead — give yourself room to stop. Remember, without tire chains it takes 3 to 12 times as long to stop on snow and ice as on dry concrete.

ball, and three in track. He was selected second All-Conference one year and All-Conference end two years on the Northwestern Ohio College Conference. For three years he was also active in swimming and water polo.

Mr. Geiger began his coaching and physical education career in the schools of Van Buren, Ohio, where he was coach of football and basketball and instructor in health and physical education from 1933 to 1937. From 1937 to 1942 he served as director of athletics and physical education in Van Buren schools.

He entered the Coast Guard service with the rank of Lieutenant junior grade in June 1942, as a specialist in athletics and physical education. His first assignment was as assistant to Commander Jack Dempsey in the physical training department at the Manhattan Beach Training Station in Brooklyn. He transferred to the Coast Guard Academy in August 1942 to assist in the physical conditioning program for reserve cadets in the Reserve Officers Training School and in 1943 was assigned to the athletic and physical education staff of the regular Coast Guard Academy as head wrestling coach, track coach, and instructor of physical education. Two years later he was appointed executive officer of physical education and intramural athletics. Mr. Geiger retired from the Coast Guard with the rank of Lieutenant Commander in July 1946, and remained on the staff of the academy with the same duties under a civil service status. He was appointed M.I.T. director of Athletics in 1947 and in 1949 was named assistant professor of physical education.

Mr. Geiger, who was the author of numerous articles, won national recognition within his profession for a three-year experimental program in coeducational physical education for high school juniors and seniors in the Van Buren schools.

Newton Sports

The sun finally broke through Newton High's cloudy hockey sky Friday night as the Tigers finally racked up victory number one in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League over Medford, 4-1. The Orange and Black could only claim an even break on the basketball front, however, overtaking arch-rival Waltham, 71-63, Friday and then fumbling through a dull losing performance to Cambridge Latin, 66-58. . . . The hockey win, first for the Tigers after two ties and a pair of defeats, came after Coach Jack Hall performed a major juggling act with his charges. Paul Ryan pumped in a pair of goals to lead the scoring parade, while Capt. Paul Fitzgerald tallied once and assisted on another to pick up a pair of points. . . . Fitzgerald got the game off to a weird start when, after only 39 seconds of play, he slammed a long shot into the Mustang cage. No one was more surprised than Fitzie when the red light went on, as his goal had started out as a pass to the right side of the net. But a Medford defender about eight feet from the cage got his skate in the way, and the disc took a crazy bounce past the off-balance goaltender. . . . Mike Vassalotti, who did double duty as center and a defenseman, skated the length of the ice at 7:32 to fire another long shot that barely squeezed into the left corner of the net.

Ryan got his goals in the second and third periods. The first came after Fitzgerald, on a four-man rush, slammed a hard one that the Mustang goalie managed to stop. But the rebound came right to Ryan who lifted it over the prostrate player. . . . Number two was a close-up shot from a wide angle in the last minute of play following a face-off in the Mustang end.

This Saturday at 3 p.m. Newton is scheduled to face off against Rindge Tech, which currently is residing in seventh place in the G.B.I. Unless last week's game was only a flash in the pan, Newton should add a second scalp to its victory belt. . . . Belmont is still running away from the other teams with five straight wins—25 goals scored to only four. . . . But the Tigers, provided they can remain lively looking, are in a good spot to move up in the standings from the second division. . . . Although in fifth place, the Orange and Black skaters are only a victory away from second place. A win against Rindge would really boost Newton upward, as at least one of the three teams slightly ahead of the Tigers should lose Saturday. . . . A standing room only throng witnessed Newton's 71-63 verdict over Waltham Friday night in the Newton High gymnasium. The Watch City five took the lead in the second quarter, enjoying a one-point margin at half-time, and managed to keep out in front of the Newton squad until only 90 seconds were left on the clock. . . . With the count knotted at 60-all, Mike Donovan—a new addition to the team—dropped in a rebound. Regaining possession of the ball, the Orange and Black went into a freeze. Waltham replied by fouling, but the Tigers proved too sharp with their charity tosses. . . . Newton dunked six free throws while limited Waltham to a pair of points. Russ Halloran again led Newton's scorers with an even 20, while Stan Chamberlain, who sparkled in the rebound department, chipped in with 16.

But the roof fell in on the basketballers Tuesday afternoon when they fell apart at the seams to hand Cambridge Latin a 66-58 win. The Tigers took a 36-31 lead into the second half, then spent the rest of the game trying to catch up to Latin. . . . Newton briefly spurted out front 54-53 at the opening of the final period, but that was all for the Orange and Black.

The closest the Tigers could come after that was 56-58 with two minutes to play. Cambridge Latin went into a freeze and Newton fouled to get possession. Even though Cambridge muffed enough foul shots to make the game close, the Orange and Black couldn't come close to a sustained offensive, and wound up with loss number two of the young season. . . . Newton's first-half lead was fashioned on the astounding performance of Russ Halloran who poured 21 points through the hoop in only two periods. He must have set some sort of a record by gathering six points in about five seconds at the end of the half. . . . First he dropped in a jump shot. Then, with only one second remaining, he was fouled. Russ calmly made both shots good. Cambridge tried a "shrewd" —not unlike the Red Sox famous intentional walk-strikeout fake of last season—by rolling the ball down the floor. . . . The clock begins to move after a foul shot is made only when the ball is put in play and comes in contact with a player. Cambridge hoped to let the ball roll down the floor toward the basket, then pick it up for a quick score before the one second remaining could elapse. . . . But the ball rolled straight to Halloran who was in clear for an easy layup as the buzzer sounded. . . . The second half was a sad spectacle as Newton couldn't rebound, couldn't ball-handle, couldn't score and just couldn't do anything right. Halloran was way off his first-half performance, getting only a pair of baskets too late to help. . . . Let's hope this was just a game the Tigers had to get out of their systems, and that tomorrow (Friday) night will see a return to their form of the past three games. Tomorrow night the Tigers will play at Brookline, which has only one victory to date in the Suburban League. This should result in some measure of revenge for November's dreadful football trouncing.

Every time an ice show or top Broadway play opens in Boston, legislators know what they're in for. They get ready for telephone calls from their constituents, telling them that "since you're going to be in Boston anyhow," to pick tickets for the desired event.

Whenever a downtown department store puts on a big sale, one law-maker from Central Massachusetts knows what to expect. He has a group of women in his district who utilize him as their agent to run down and snatch a few alleged bargains for them, while the snatching is good.

A short time ago, a legislator from north of Boston had to leave his State House duties and hustle over to a store to exchange a pair of overshoes which an out-of-town woman constituent had found were not the right size, when she got them home.

Driscoll tells a story of a Worcester legislator who, during last year's session, consented to drive some women constituents to Boston so they could do some shopping.

He dropped them in downtown Boston, promising to pick them up at 5:30 and chauffeur them back to Worcester. But at 5:30 the House was in the midst of a heated debate, the doors of the chamber were locked, and the body went into a night session.

The ladies were understandably a little miffed, when the public official finally drove them home at 3 a.m., although why they didn't take off under their own power in the interim is something of a mystery. Worcester women must have more patience than their Greater Boston sisters.

Another time during the 1954 session, Driscoll recalls, a Worcester legislator received an urgent call from one of his feminine constituents who was taking part in a newspaper contest in which the gimmick was to identify historical landmarks and tell exactly where they were located.

To satisfy her the law-maker spent hours driving around Boston with a handful of pictures, making notes on the exact locations of such landmarks as Faneuil Hall, the Old North Church and Paul Revere's home.

A third Worcester legislator spent considerable time last year hunting for a spaghetti-distributing plant in the North End. It seems a family in his district had saved up a large bundle of coupons issued with boxes of spaghetti, and his assignment was to exchange the coupons for a prize.

Here are some of the other errands, chores and services which legislators from the Worcester area are called upon to perform, according to Driscoll:

Find jobs for their constituents, get them back driving licenses which have been revoked or suspended (that can't be done, Driscoll agrees), have cancelled insurance restored for a motorist (that also is almost impossible to do), arrange for a job-seeker to take a civil service examination, find out why the same job-seeker flunked the exam, obtain airplane reservations, (the constituent could do this by calling the airline instead of the legislator), appear in court to have a minor case placed on file, ascertain how a constituent can buy a pine tree from the State.

The reason why Worcester legislators do all these things, Driscoll observes, is very simple. If they turn down a request, they will surely lose a vote. If they run an errand, they may possibly win a vote—provided they also do it the next time they are asked.

When Representative Stanley E. Johnson, Worcester Republican, was seeking re-election to an eighth term last autumn, he had a brief campaign slogan. It was: "2000 favors." Evidently, his constituents knew what he meant because he was returned to office.

All we can say is that the Worcester legislators are a patient forbearing lot and that their women constituents are evidently feminine Simon Legrees with votes in their hands instead of whips. They may put some ideas in the heads of the ladies down Greater Boston way.

That distinguished scholar of politics, Mr. Charles H. McGue, is back on the State House scene with his plan for revising the congressional districts in Massachusetts so that the State would have substantially fewer Republican Congressmen on Capitol Hill.

Mr. McGue regularly stands back and shouts "gerrymander," when the Republicans advance a proposal for revamping the congressional areas to strengthen their own cause, and then he offers a substitute scheme of his own which makes the most brazen GOP plan seem mild by comparison.

There is no chance, of course, that McGue's plan will be adopted during this legislative session since he faces the impossible obstacles of a Republican Governor as well as a GOP-dominated Senate, to say nothing of the fact that it is too bold-faced even for some Democrats to support.

One of the gentlemen for whom Mr. McGue has in mind political oblivion, if he could contrive it, is Congressman Laurence Curtis of the Back Bay. McGue would like to shift both Curtis and his home ward into a new district which would be strongly Democratic.

We suspect that Mr. McGue, who spends more time studying the election laws than any other Democrat in Massachusetts, enjoys the furore he creates, knowing full well that after it subsides, his carefully worked out plan will be heaved out the window or into the nearest waste basket.

Safety Campaign By Wexler Firm

Employees of the Wexler Construction Company of Newton Highlands, which is building the new Meadowbrook Junior High in Oak Hill, are being given an added incentive to safety, according to vice-president Irving Wexler.

In cooperation with the Associated General Contractors of America, the Wexler concern inaugurated a formal safety program which will attempt to make workers more aware of industrial hazards and offer rewards for jobs completed without lost-time accidents.

"Because our operations have increased more than 100 per cent in the past five years," says Wexler, "we feel that we can no longer place the burden of safety instruction and supervision on individual foremen. While each foreman and superintendent will still be responsible for supervising the safety practices of his crew, he will receive help and direction from the company-wide program."

Safety education booklets will be issued to all workers and reminders posted on each job. Superintendents will hold regular weekly meetings with their crews to discuss special hazards present in work in progress, safety equipment to be used, and special precautions to be taken.

To stress the fact that safety pays big dividends, awards will be made monthly to all foremen operating without lost-time accidents, while superintendents with the lowest accident frequency will be honored every three months. Members of each crew achieving a record of no lost-time accidents will also be eligible for prizes.

Tuberculosis Problem, in Some Ways, Greater Than 10 Years Ago

A total of 2,242 cases of tuberculosis was reported for the first time in Massachusetts during the calendar year 1953, according to an article in the January issue of the Bulletin of the National Tuberculosis Association. Mrs. Therese D'Abre, Health Educator of the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association, announced yesterday.

The article, based on provisional information from the United States Public Health Service, states that 113,531 new cases were reported in continental United States and its territories during the year. This represented a decline of less than three per cent in comparison with 1952 for the country as a whole, but 21 states showed an increase in the number of active cases.

"In contrast to the high case rate, deaths from tuberculosis continued to decline," said Mrs. D'Abre. "The tuberculosis deaths for 1953 totaled 20,599, bringing the rate down to 12.8 per 100,000 population.

"In some ways the TB problem today is even greater than it was 10 years ago. Many persons who, 10 years ago, would have died of this disease are living today, thanks to new treatment. Thus, there are today more people eligible for and in need of rehabilitation services. These people are also returning to society in increasing numbers each year. Thus, more and more people must be checked routinely to determine that they have kept their health. If their disease recurs, it must be discovered in time for treatment to be reinstituted before the disease is spread to others. Therefore, in terms of TB services and control, the declining death rate does not mean a declining problem, but an increasing problem.

"The Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association's tuberculosis control programs, which are supported solely by the Christmas Seal Sale, are affected by this changing picture in the fight against TB."

Community Chorus Starts Rehearsals February 1

With the holiday season in the background, at least for another ten months, people's thoughts project toward the spring season. So also do the thoughts of the Newton Community Chorus project themselves, if not to the season and weather, then toward the annual Spring concert. In addition to the spring concert as the major objective, the chorus also has just six rehearsals to become prepared for the Wellesley Chorus' spring concert with whom, for the second year, a joint program has been prepared. Therefore promptness in attendance is imperative to the success of these two major appearances.

If you like to sing, join this chorus. There are no voice try-outs, everyone lets loose and sings. Rehearsals begin February 1st at the Pierce School on Temple street in West Newton at 8 p.m. If you are new just ask for "Jim" Remley, George Stevens or Kay Harney.

Women's Committee

The Women's Committee of the Jewish Family and Children's Service is sponsoring a series of child study groups for young mothers. Professional leaders will discuss with young married women the problems and relationships of average family living.

The first meeting of such a group was recently held at the home of Mrs. William Wolf, in Newton. The Women's Committee of the Jewish Family and Children's Service believes that the family has the deepest influence on a child's development. They hope that through this program of education, a parent-child relationship will be created that will lead to personal happiness and social harmony.

The Women's Committee in sponsoring this new project hopes to perform a much wanted and constructive service for young women in our community.

Past Presidents Honored by West Newton Women's Educational Club

The Past Presidents of the West Newton Women's Educational Club were honored last Friday afternoon at the club meeting held in the Parish House of Second Church, West Newton. Following the regular business meeting, the President, Mrs. Sidney R. Williams, read letters from the Past Presidents who were unable to attend the meeting: Mrs. John R. McLean, Mrs. D. Earl Brackett, Mrs. Gordon S. Heath and Mrs. Frank L. Ogilvie. Then she presented the other Past Presidents in the order of their seniority — Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, Mrs. Francis H. McCrudden, Mrs. Patrick J. Duncan, Mrs. C. Warren Howe, Mrs. Charles E. Gibson, Mrs. C. Roy Rook and Mrs. Donald C. Moody. The highlights of their administrations were touched upon and the new members learned a great deal about the activities and organization of the club in former years.

A one-act play was presented by the Drama Group under the direction of Mrs. William L. Warner, followed by a skit, "I Have a Secret," which was most amusing.

A delicious tea and pleasant social hour was enjoyed by the members and their guests, the hostesses being Mrs. Edward A. Crosby, Mrs. Francis R. Sagle and Mrs. Merrill B. Smith. The pourers at the tea table were the two secretaries, Miss Mildred Moore and Mrs. William T. Schenk. In the "Art Corner," Mrs. Chester F. MacDowell, Chairman of the Art Committee had arranged a group of charming paintings by two of the talented club members, Miss Marion K. Shaw and Miss Rita Guzzi.

Big March of Dimes Record Hop To Be Held at Normandie Room
Within the past week the National Headquarters of several service organizations have requested that the local groups give whatever assistance possible to the 1955 March of Dimes program.
Realizing the pressing need of funds to help carry out the important work done by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in polio treatment as well as polio prevention the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce and the women's auxiliary, Newton Jaycettes, will sponsor a record hop Friday, February 11. The record hop will be held at the Normandie Room at Norumbega Park.
In cooperation with this worthwhile undertaking Mr. Gill has donated the use of that room for the affair. The price of tickets is 50 cents per person.
At the present time the Newton Chapter of the National Foundation is arranging for the well known disc jockey, Ed Pen-

Mrs. Chittick Named to Board Of Health Staff
Dr. Henry W. Godfrey, Acting Director of the Newton Health Department has announced the appointment by the Board of Health of Mrs. Marian Chittick as part-time nutritionist with the department.
Mrs. Chittick will attend the Pre-school Conferences held twice weekly in the various schools and will confer and advise on dietary questions.
Mrs. Chittick is a graduate of Northfield, School for Girls, Skidmore College, 1950, and served her dietetic internship at the Massachusetts General Hospital in 1951.
Herbert L. Stevens, a junior at Boston University, was recently initiated into Scabbard and Blade, the honorary military organization of the ROTC. It is significant that candidates for membership into the organization must meet the requirements for academic and ROTC achievement and possess outstanding qualities of leadership. Stevens is also treasurer of the Student Christian Association and an auditor in the Student Activities office.

LWV School Next Week

Auburndale Man Co-chairman of Chinchilla Show
Fern D. Haselton of 224 Woodland road, Auburndale, retired insurance executive, has been reappointed co-chairman of the Greater Boston Chinchilla Show to be held January 22-23 at the Hotel Statler, Boston.
Haselton, a leading member of the Greater Boston Branch, National Chinchilla Breeders of America, which is sponsoring the show, plans to enter a number of his own chinchillas in the competition for prize-winning blue ribbon animals.
A former scientist and businessman in Claremont, N. H., Haselton began his hobby of chinchilla raising with 29 animals with which he started to build his basic herd.
Haselton retired as general agent in Boston for the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of New Jersey to concentrate on his chinchilla activities. He is a director of the Greater Boston Branch and is a past national delegate. He is a partner with Ralph Hardy on the Hardy Chinchilla Ranch in Hollis, N. H.

“Miss Newton” Good Will Ambassador to India

Mrs. Gogen Vihari Lalubhai Mehta, wife of the Indian Ambassador to the United States, is shown receiving eleven dolls, dressed by American Junior Red Cross members. The dolls are being used in an International Doll Exhibit, which opened in New Delhi in December and is to continue through January.

Newton was one of three chapters in the Eastern Area chosen to dress a doll for the exhibit. The other two chosen were the Indianapolis, Indiana Chapter, which sent the Scottish doll, and the Newark, New Jersey Chapter, which sent the doll appearing in the coat. The young lady in the foreground was sent by the Newton Chapter. She was considered so lovely that she was promptly named “Miss Newton.”

The fashion group in the High School Art Department first drew up sketches for her wardrobe. Certain of these sketches were chosen to be executed. The drawings were later used to form a backdrop against which “Miss Newton” is being displayed at the exhibit. A special box to insure safe travel was made by the Woodworking Department of the Technical High School.

Of interest to fashion-minded young ladies and their mothers will be a list of the items in “Miss Newton’s” wardrobe.

The school clothes, in which she is pictured, consisted of a white blouse with a bow tie, and a red corduroy jumper with a fitted bodice and a circular skirt. She wore her curly black hair in a semi-pony tail.

Her sport outfit was made up of Bermuda shorts of brown wool and a turquoise blue linen shirt with a stand-up collar.

Her street dress was knitted of rosy-pink yarn, flecked with white, having a separate skirt, long sleeved, turtle neck sweater, and a knitted belt, while the Empire style party dress was made of iridescent rose and blue taffeta, the bow-shaped neckline being trimmed with sequins.

“Miss Newton’s” strapless evening gown was of periwinkle blue taffeta, with a mouselline de soie overskirt and a stole of the same material. A jeweled pin was used on the bodice.

All Red Cross personnel are extremely proud of the good will ambassador our Newton Junior Red Cross members sent to India.

Congregation Literally Taking Situation Into Own Hands at Centenary Methodist Church

Pressing needs within the church school at Centenary Methodist Church in Auburn-dale resulted in the congregation literally taking the situation into their own hands. It has been felt for some time that the real needs of the children of the community were not being completely met as long as the educational plant of the church was inadequate in terms of classrooms, hobby rooms, and social rooms.

Under the able direction of Dr. Wendell Yeo, Vice-President of Boston University, the church school has carried on a vigorous, active program with the facilities available.

With increased church membership, more classroom area became necessary to serve the youth of the church properly. Under the direction of Dr. Emerson Sylvester, a building program was set up and more than $65,000 was raised. A major portion of this amount was pledged over a three-year period by the congregation. To date, with less than one year passed since the building drive, $21,000 has been received by the building fund treasurer, Warren Sutherland. When one-half of the money pledged has been raised, it will be possible to begin construction. In anticipation of this possibility within the next few months, test boring were made at the site of the proposed building Centenary Methodist Church last week. These borings were made by the Raymond Concrete Pile Co., of Boston, and will facilitate the planning of the new building. Any possible difficulties that might be encountered, such as rock ledges, can be spotted in this way.

The drillings indicate that there will be little difficulty in placing the foundation of the building. At approximately 6½ feet of ledge of shale was encountered, but this type of obstruction is soft and does not necessitate the use of explosives or heavy duty removal. With this information, it is now possible for the building committee to proceed with its plans in regard to the type of basic structure, foundation, etc., to be used.

The structure itself will house a number of new classrooms. Its approximate dimensions will be 48' by 80'. The use of enamel-coated aluminum siding for part of the church walls is being considered. At the same time that the new building is to be put up, other parts of the present parish hall will be renovated to include a more modern and adequate kitchen, a more accessible parlor, and other desirable changes. The building committee is attempting to obtain for the church community the optimum in terms of a serviceable plant.

Members of the committees working upon the improved and expanded plant are as follows: General Committee: Emerson Sylvester, M.D., (Chairman); Mrs. George H. Harvey, (Secretary); Warren Sutherland, (Treasurer); Wendell Yeo, Millard Harmon, Charles Clay, M.D., (President of Trustees); George Eyleshymer, (Lay Leader); Rev. Sydney Adams, (Minister).

Religious Educational Needs: Rev. Walter Holcomb, (Chairman); Mrs. Clifton Moore, Ronnie Burk, Miss Mary Cleveland, Mrs. Paul Schilling, Rev. Paul Deats.

Church Parlor Needs: Mrs. George Eyleshymer, (Chairman); Mrs. Lavence Smith, Mrs. Charles Cossaboom, Mrs. Maurice Hutchins.

Church Kitchen Needs: Mrs. Millard Harmon, (Chairman); Mrs. Otto Ernst, Mrs. Girdler Swett, Mrs. Warren Sutherland, Choir and General Music Needs: Mrs. Wendell Yeo, (Chairman); Mrs. Harry Nordstrom, Mrs. Willard Hatch, Mrs. Eben Baker.

Social and Recreational Needs: Rod Hall, (Chairman); Eugene Richey, Rev. Clifton Moore, Beverly Snow, Mrs. Hollis Wymán, Howard Powle.

Church Ground Needs: Ralph Orrill, (Chairman); Clarence MacDonald, John Holihan, Warren Booth.

Church Sanctuary Needs: Chester Cleveland, (Chairman); Rev. Paul Johnson, Miss Pearl Hilliard, Ted Burk.

Storage Space Needs: William Warner, (Chairman); Richard Cleveland, Maurice Hutchins.

Nutrition Center Confronted With Difficult Problem

The Annual Meeting of The Newton Nutrition Center was held at the Center’s headquarters, 1990 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, Wednesday evening, January 12.

Dessert-coffee was served, followed by the business meeting. Miss Mabel Turner, Pres. presided.

The fact that the financial support of the Community Chest and The Newton Health Dept. has been withdrawn, creates a difficult problem in keeping alive the present nutrition services to the community.

The Board of Directors reviewed some of the highlights in the work done by the center in the 20 years of operation. The program, always under the able professional leadership of a trained nutritionist, has continued to give to Newton the best in Nutrition services. New emphasis was given to the work, as need created it.

The nutrition counseling at the Well Baby Conferences, conducted by the Newton Visiting Nurse Ass’n, has long been part of the center’s work. The Nutritionist served also at the Pre-school conferences, under the direction of the Newton Health Dept.

Inquiries from individuals and Service Groups were always answered. Several calls pertaining to nutrition or health problems were often received in a single day.

Nutrition Guides, which included suggested recipes, shopping hints, and health education articles were prepared for distribution in 12 Newton Food Markets.

The staff participated in the classes for Diabetic care, which were held in Newton last year. They also arranged Weight Control classes, on the basis, that over-weight is often the result of malnutrition.

The Board of Directors will meet again in March and would welcome any suggestions as to how this important service can be continued in Newton.

Government to Be Subject of Talk by Basbas

Monte Basbas, City Clerk, will speak on Newton City Government at an open meeting of the League of Women Voters of Newton Tuesday evening, January 25 at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Robert E. Segal, 12 Morton road, Newton Centre.

The meeting, planned by Local Affairs Chairman Mrs. Jules W. Baer is for the purpose of acquainting new League members and new residents of Newton with their city’s form of government.

Mrs. Richard G. Mintz, Voters Service Chairman, will also speak. Mrs. Baer said she hoped the meeting would help guide Newton citizens to a better understanding of their city government.

Newton for the Connecticut town in 1949, made the exchange with the Lewyt Corporation of Brooklyn after reading that the company was seeking old cleaning tools to start a Museum of Household Cleaning Implements.

He brought the 1910 model cleaner with him from Newton only because “It just got mixed with a lot of other things.” When he, his wife, Jessica, and their little girl moved, the “heirloom” was a forgotten passenger in the moving van. The ancient cleaner, used by Loring’s grandmother, is a long cylinder device with a plunger handle. On his way from home to the Lewyt factory, Loring had to answer many questions about the odd-looking appliance.

Some people wanted to know if it was a new type of exterminator. Others asked if he had a secret rocket invention. Once he showed curious spectators that the antique cleaner still worked.

Told the company would replace the old cleaner with a 1955 model, Loring reacted in typical fashion—“Boy, will my wife be surprised!”

Girl Scout Council Elects Officers at Annual Meeting

Officers for the coming year were elected, the form of government of the Newton Council was changed, plans for the coming year were made known, and gifts to the Girl Scouts of Newton were announced at the Girl Scout annual meeting held Tuesday evening, at the Countryside School.

Mayor Howard Whitmore greeted the scouts and their friends and congratulated them upon their work. The Senior Girl Scouts presented the first part of the program. Entirely planned by the Senior Planning Board of which Judy Smith is President, the girls had charge of the opening half-hour. Mrs. Richard Cleveland, Advisor to the Senior Planning Board, and Mrs. Stanley Johnson, Deputy Commissioner, assisted the girls in their planning.

Troop 2, whose leader is Mrs. Alexander Goodale, opened the meeting with the flag ceremony, and Troop 52, led by Mrs. Francis J. Rogers, led the Seniors in several songs. Then the members of the Senior Planning Board presented a typical Planning Board meeting, discussing their accomplishments and their plans.

Seniors participating were Judy Smith, Melinda Robert, Joanne Shimmick, Karen Obermeyer, Linnea Bjork, Dottie Howley, Linda Borden, Nancy Derr, Maureen Moore, Grace Goodale, Betty Dutton and Debby Boyle.

Ever since the Girl Scout Council of Newton was formed in 1917 it has been composed of the officers, chairmen of committees, and village or neighborhood chairmen. This group has always held the voting power, and has settled all policy matters for the Girl Scouts. In Tuesday night this traditional form of Council was changed to bring it in line with the growth in adult Scout membership. All the more than 700 registered adults were made voting Council members in the new Constitution and By-Laws adopted Tuesday night. The

Mr. F. A. Day, Jr., informing the Council of a gift of $5000 (five thousand) dollars from his mother, Mrs. Mary Day. Mrs. Day was one of Newton’s early Commissioners, the donor of the present Camp Mary Day, and has been a life-long friend of the Newton Girl Scouts. Although she recently passed her 90th birthday, her interest in the Girl Scout organization is as keen as it ever was. The deep appreciation of the Council was voted for both these generous gifts.

Awards were made to adults for varying years of service to the organization, by Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr., a former Girl Scout Commissioner in Newton. A pin for 35 years as a Girl Scout, a leader, a village committee member, and an associate member was presented to Mrs. Robert T. Brandt, and a pin for 30 years was given to Mrs. John T. Evans, who has been a Girl Scout, a leader, and a neighborhood chairman. Other awards were made as follows:

Service awards (in addition to 30 and 35 year pins): 15 year pins, Mrs. Peter T. Reuter, Mrs.

Arthur S. Berberian, 10 year pins, Miss Ursula Hayden, Mrs. Spurgeon Donald, Mrs. Leon Lamb, 5 year pins, Mrs. Francis V. Jones, Mrs. Edwin A. Gough, Mrs. Herbert W. Frank, Mrs. James R. Hannan, Mrs. Thomas F. Fleming, Mrs. Frances W. Kent, Mrs. Robert L. Hunter, Mrs. Guy R. King, Mrs. Nathan D. Bugbee, Mrs. Henry C. Kneppenberg, and Mrs. Stanley M. Rowland.

Elected as officers and board members were the following: Honorary president, Mrs. Frank A. Day, President, Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, Vice-presidents, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson and Mrs. Harry D. Shain, Secretary, Mrs. Leonard Spangenberg, Treasurer, Mrs. Henry C. Kneppenberg, Assistant treasurer, Mrs. Nathan D. Bugbee.

Board of Directors, officers and: Field Committee chairman, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, Field Committee vice-chairman, Mrs. Nathan D. Bugbee.

Agency-

would be potential savings. He cited a large Texas city which saved 4.7 per cent of its total expenditures — or $280,000 — through the use of a central purchasing agency last year.

The agent's duty is to buy city supplies at the lowest cost for the best quality. He would also be able to transfer supplies from one department to another, and to exchange or trade supplies which have become obsolete. City departments would still have to keep their own inventories of supplies, but department heads would be relieved of the task of going on the open market individually for office supplies.

Mayor Whitmore would be able to exempt any city agency "he deems advisable" from coming under control of the purchasing agent. The proposed amendment requires competitive bids for all supplies over $1000 unless the mayor exempts the purchase.

The assisting Committee on Standards and Specifications would be composed of the director of public works, public building commissioner, recreation commissioner, welfare agent, superintendent of schools, fire chief and police chief.

In recommending the $10,000 appropriation, Earle D. Wood, chairman of the finance committee, noted that the city was fortunate to acquire the services of an expert who had no designs on becoming purchasing agent.

STREET PROJECT

No action was taken on the $30,000 Brookline street, Newton Centre widening and a straightening project. Edwin A. Tarkenton, chairman of the public buildings committee, reported his group wanted to give the matter "further consideration."

With Alderman Richard H. Lovell casting the lone opposing vote, the board approved drain and sewer construction through Lawmarrissa road and Oak Vale, Waban. The total cost of the project amounts to $13,700 to serve only two houses, he explained, and there would only be a $2612 return to the city through sewer assessments.

Lowell said it was time the aldermen "stiffen up" on spending large amounts to "bail out" homeowners who are having cesspool trouble.

Alderman Wood agreed that it was costing Newton too much for its drains and sewers. He pointed out that costs have risen greatly in the past five or six years, but assessments allowed against property serviced have remained at the old level. It is time, he stated, the city revised its figures to reflect this rise.

Also authorized was the sale of a 3-foot strip of land in the rear of the Newton National Bank in Newton Corner to the bank. According to Alderman Wood, the bank agreed to build its new quarters back from the line allowed at the request of the city so that the building would not jut out further than nearby stores.

The sale of the 3-foot wide strip makes up for the amount of land left free in front by the voluntary set-back. Originally only a 2-foot strip was to be sold, but surveyors found that the buildings actually were almost three feet back towards the city-owned parking lot. A price of $750 was set for the strip of land.

PARKING METERS

An apparent gap between the aldermen and its carrying-out by city departments was blasted by Alderman Winfield C. Anderson, who questioned why parking meters had not been placed on a Newton street as directed by the board.

Meters had been authorized, he said, on the railroad side of Washington street between Church and Richardson streets. Nothing has been done, though, despite a lapse of several months. "I've been against parking meters from the beginning, and I'm still against them," declared the aldermen, but when the board orders something, it should be done. Board President Wendell R. Bauckman agreed it was "ridiculous" for the aldermen to order something and then have someone else decide it isn't needed. He instructed the city clerk to try to find out what happened.

The meter question arose after a request for removal of the meters and the one-hour parking limit was filed with the city clerk. Alderman Adelaide B. Ball supported the removal, declaring the meters would only drive cars off Washington street into narrow side streets.

O'Neil-

Horace Mann P.T.A., and assisted by Stanley Griswold who introduced the participants from his post at the microphone beside the stage.

Creating considerable suspense, prior to revealing the identity of the guest of honor, Mr. Taylor walked from one to another of a few of the distinguished visitors who included Mayor Howard Whitmore, Alderman Stuart M. Spaulding, Supt. Harold B. Gores, and Mrs. Genevieve Oncley. He came finally to Miss Mary O'Neil and led her to the front of the auditorium where he presented her with an orchid and then conducted her to her place at the center of the stage.

While Mr. Taylor continued as master of ceremonies, Mr. Griswold acted as narrator, presenting the following people, first through their brief autobiographies, then by allowing each to speak over the "micro" before he took his place on the stage:

A three-generation group, Mrs. Clarence Wentworth of 20 Foster st., Newtonville; her daughter, Mrs. Henry Hassell of 36 Parsons st., W. Newton; and her granddaughter, Judy Hassell. Mrs. Wentworth was enrolled in the Horace Mann School as a seventh-grader in 1895, when the building was "brand new." Her acquaintance with Miss O'Neil began when her daughter entered the first grade at the same school in 1925, and she has continued her association with Horace Mann and with Miss O'Neil through her grandchildren.

G. W. Brainerd, Principal of the Burr, Murray Road, and Williams Schools in Auburndale, and formerly principal of the Horace Mann School.

Warren L. Huston, Asst. Supervisor of Health and Physical Education, Newton Public Schools, a former pupil of Miss O'Neil, who went on from grammar school and junior high to be Newton High School's most outstanding athlete, then to captain the football and hockey teams at Springfield College.

He took up teaching as a career while continuing in athletics, playing professional baseball for eight years.

Mrs. Margaret Aucoin, co-worker from 1928 to 1938, now teaching at the Ward School.

Former pupil Stuart M. Spaulding, member of the Board of Aldermen, and a leader in many civic activities.

Mrs. Elizabeth Miller, R.N., in Public Health Nursing for more than 20 years, Supervisor for the past six years. Since Horace Mann was one of the schools in her district, she came to know Miss O'Neil very well. She said, "Miss O'Neil was deeply interested in the health of her pupils and always cooperated in every way with the public health nurse and the health department."

Former pupil, Dr. Ellis J. Donovan, Boston dentist. Although he had not seen Miss O'Neil for 32 years, he has the fondest recollections of her.

Pupil representing the last class taught by Miss O'Neil, 9-year-old Glenn Ellis of 10 Walker street, Newtonville.

Former pupil, Donald E. Bowen, M.D., of West Newton, psychiatrist and neurologist and instructor at B.U. School of Medicine.

Mrs. Harold B. Gores, who had six weeks of practice teaching with Miss O'Neil in 1931. She said, "I have always been grateful for my first teaching experience with Miss O'Neil, for I feel that I caught from her the wonderful warm relationship which should exist between the teacher and her very young pupils."

Co-worker, Mrs. Nora Brooke Sully, of West Newton. Taught at Horace Mann for seventeen years.

Former pupil, Jerry Nason.

Sports Editor for the Boston Globe since 1942, and on the Globe Staff since he was 17. In 1945 winner of Dutton best sports story award, and twice runner-up since then.

Mrs. Stella Chaisson Hannon, Waltham. Friend and former co-worker. She and Miss O'Neil spent summer of 1927 together in Europe.

Mrs. Arthur Wood (formerly Miss Baker), former classmate and fellow teacher.

Former pupil Raymond Sullivan, Newton Police Force, who expressed the sentiments of all when he said, "We join together to wish Miss O'Neil many years of health and happiness in her well-deserved retirement, and may she find contentment in the memories of the happy days she spent in moulding the character of her pupils. . . . The realization comes that, with the single exception of our mother, she played a most important role in our development; and, whatever our attainments have been, a major part of the credit must be given to Miss O'Neil. May God bless and keep her."

Following this "Life" presentation, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., extended greetings from the people of the City of Newton and paid tribute to Miss O'Neil and to the many fine teachers whom she exemplifies. Dr. Harold B. Gores, Supt. of Schools, also spoke briefly, saying that "bricks and mortar mean little if buildings can be staffed by people like Miss O'Neil." Kenneth LaFlamme, present principal of Horace Mann, and Mrs. Genevieve L. Oncley, Schoolboard Member, joined in the praises which were heaped upon the quiet, soft-spoken lady, who sat smiling and happy at the center of the stage.

Harry V. Anderson, President of the Newton Teachers Federation and principal of the Cabot School spoke in behalf of the City's teachers when he said, "You have brought honor to the profession and credit to us. . . . In this day we certainly need people who can do what you did, to serve as an example to our young men and women who are looking for something to do in life. You know and I know that the teaching profession is one way in which we can do the most good. Thanks to the P.T.A. for this wonderful honor that you have paid to Miss O'Neil, a teacher."

A social period followed the meeting with refreshments served by Mrs. Gordon Ellis, 10 Walker street, Newtonville, and Mrs. Eric J. Wheatley, 17 Bunker lane, West Newton.

The food sale, under the direction of Mrs. Robert M. Stover, 54 Eddy street, Newtonville, met with great success. Assisting Mrs. Stover were Mrs. Bernard Brooks, Mrs. William Davidson, Mrs. James Kissel, and Mrs. George W. Taylor, Jr.

was graduated from Boston University Co. as a broker.

This award is sponsored annually by the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce and its affiliated state and local organizations. It presents an opportunity for Jaycees to pause briefly in their civic work and honor some young man in the community. The presentation of the key gives credit where credit is due. It spotlights the need for more young men to enter into civic work. By having the community nominate young men for this award it promotes public awareness and appreciation to the people who have been and are doing a service to the community.

The basis for the award are: achievement, leadership and service to the community; personal ability and character; only young men between the ages of 21 and 36 were considered.

Nomination blanks were distributed throughout the city by members of the Newton Jaycees. On these blanks it was stressed that the nominee need not be a member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce as well as that the award was not intended as recognition for contribution to Jaycee activities.

In making the selection of Mr. Baldwin, the committee picked a man that made his contribution to the welfare of the community outside of his regular occupation. The nominee also made his contribution with a complete disregard to his own personal disability which the dreaded disease had left him. With the assistance of others he set up and offered to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis an organization that raised a record amount in Newton of over $32,000.

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., thanked Mr. Baldwin for his contribution to the welfare of the citizens of Newton. He paid particular attention to the need of more young men to accept responsibilities not only in their business life but in their own community. He congratulated the Junior Chamber of Commerce for offering this recognition to the young men of Newton.

In making the presentation Carleton P. Merrill, president of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce, stated that "Jack Baldwin not only has the character and ability to carry out whatever he interests himself in, but the leadership needed to carry out any successful drive. It was this combination that enabled the March of Dimes program to reach a new high in Newton. Because of his efforts this program, as well as the money raised, has been and will be a service to the community."

office and the foyer of City Hall.

William J. Maloney, Chairman of the Newton Veterans' Council headed the committee which has worked on this project for the past three months and presented to the Board his committee's plans for such an emblem. Assisting Chairman Maloney were Gordon L. Hawes, Commander of Chap. Wm. J. Farrell Chap. No. 23 DAV, also an expert in Heraldry and Edward A. Cunningham, Commander of Newton Post No. 48, AL, assisted by Edmund T. Dungan, Agent of Newton Veterans Services Department.

During the past three months of the committee's work the services of three distinguished experts of heraldry were received and considered with much gratitude to the committee. They were Dr. Harold Bowditch, an international authority in Heraldry; Dr. Francis Kyle, instructor in heraldry for the Mass. Dept. of Education and Harold Wooster, City of Newton librarian.

The first city flag will be presented to the City of Newton by the Newton Lodge of Elks.

Turning to the voting machines problem, the directors explained, "This question boils down to whether or not the city wants to spend about $150,000 over the next four years in order to get local returns in the various elections three or four or, in unusual cases, even eight hours sooner on election night. "No significant case for greater accuracy can be made for the machines. As for savings, once the machines are bought and installed near permanent voting places . . . generously speaking perhaps $2000 per election could be saved."

Using these figures, the directors estimated it would take "possibly 50 or more years" for the machines to pay for themselves providing there were no repair, maintenance or replacement costs. The Association directors took the stand that not enough benefits would be derived from the mechanization of voting at this time, when holding the tax rate firm is of prime importance.

Endorse Mrs. John B. Stetson For GOP Com.

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Newton Republican Club, it was voted unanimously to advise the Massachusetts Republican State Committee of the Board's endorsement of Mrs. John B. Stetson to represent the Tenth Senatorial District on the State Committee.

The following letter has been sent to Elmer Nelson, chairman of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee:

"The Executive Board of the Newton Republican Club voted unanimously at its meeting to urge the appointment to the Massachusetts Republican State Committee of Mrs. John B. Stetson to fill the vacancy created by the death of our late member, Mrs. William R. Mattson.

"Mrs. Stetson has for years been one of the most tireless workers for the Republican Party in the City of Newton, and her active devotion to the Republican Party is recognized by all Republicans in this city.

"We feel that Mrs. Stetson will be an invaluable member of the State Committee, and earnestly hope that she will be permitted to represent the 10th Senatorial District."

The letter was signed by Stanley S. Lewenberg, president of the Newton Republican Club.

clared yesterday, "The sudden passing of Riley J. Hampton comes as a great shock to those who have been associated with him in an official capacity, or in some of his many civic and community interests, or as a friend.

"The city has lost a devoted public servant, one who was active continually in undertakings to help others. His period of service on the Board of Aldermen will always be recalled as constructive and humane.

"I know that I speak for his host of friends," the mayor concluded, "in extending profound sympathy and condolences to Mrs. Hampton."

John B. Rubenstein, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce, declared, "Riley Hampton's passing, aside from the incalculable personal loss to me of a real friend, comes as a terrible shock to the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

"A man of unusually outstanding civic spirit and devotion to his city, he will be sorely missed by all. On behalf of the officers and directors, I extend our sincerest sympathy to his wife."

At the time of this writing, funeral arrangements had not been completed.

Your Income Taxes

This is the second of a series of eight articles on Federal and State Income taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

Where can I get the answer to a question on Federal taxes? If you have an unusual tax problem, you should go to the local office of the Director of Internal Revenue or to a competent tax man.

Is the pension I receive from my former employer considered taxable income?

Your pension is considered taxable income unless you contributed a certain amount to the pension plan through payroll withholdings. An illustration will help to clarify the latter situation:

Assume that a man retired on January 1, 1954, at age 65. During his period of employment he contributed through payroll withholdings a total of $9,000 toward a pension plan. The $9,000 represents his investment in the pension plan.

Assume further that the individual received $150 a month during 1954 from his pension. Of the $1,800 received in 1954, he will have to report $1,200; the remainder, $600, is considered a return of his investment. The taxpayer will continue to report the $1,200 each year for the remainder of his life. The $600 exclusion is determined in the following way:

Investment in the contract, $9,000.

Expected return ($1,800x15) $27,000.

or 1/3 of $1,800.

The expected return is found by multiplying the amount of the annual payment, $1,800, by a multiple, 15, which will depend upon the age and sex of the individual. The $600 can also be determined by dividing the investment, $9,000, by the life expectancy of the taxpayer, 15 years.

I retired on January 1, 1954, and I am receiving a pension of $100 a month. During my period of employment I paid $3,200 into the pension fund. This was in addition to the amount contributed by the employer. How should I report this income in my 1954 tax return?

You will not have to report your pension until you have received $3,200. Thereafter, the entire amount received each year will be considered taxable income. Your pension is covered by a special rule which applies when both employer and employee contribute to the cost of the annuity and the annuity payments during the first three years will equal or exceed the employee's contribution.

Must I report the income of my wife and children?

You must report your wife's income if you file a joint return. You do not report the income of your children on your return.

My wife worked part-time during 1954. She earned $450 and her employer withheld $40. How should this income be reported?

You and your wife should file a joint return which will result in the combining of your income and the $450 earned by your wife. In this way, your income tax return will have two $600 exemptions—one for you and one for your wife.

It would be a mistake for your wife to file a separate return in order to get a refund of $40. If this were done, you would be entitled to only one exemption on your return. Thus, on your separate return, $450 of income would be excluded, but you would lose a $600 exemption.

Are contest awards and prizes considered taxable income?

Generally speaking, yes. The payment received is usually deemed to be consideration for services rendered by the contestant to the company making the award. In some instances, however, the amount received may be considered a gift rather than income for services rendered. A gift is not taxable income.

In 1954 I sold my residence for a profit. How should I report the sale on my Federal tax return?

It depends on whether or not you replaced the old residence with another residence. The replacement must be made within one year before or after the sale of the old residence.

Example: A residence purchased in 1938 for $8,000 is sold in 1954 for $14,000, net of the broker's commission. If the replacement cost is $12,500, the amount taxable as a gain is the unexpended proceeds, $1,500. If the cost of the new residence is $16,000, there would be no taxable gain because there is no unexpended proceeds.

When there is no replacement, the gain on the sale of your residence is taxable. However, a loss on the sale of residential property is not deductible because the purchase of a residence is not considered a transaction entered into for profit. If you own the property for six months or less, 100% of the profit is taxable; if you own the property for more than six months, only 50% of the profit is taxable.

Warren Junior High

The 8th and 9th grades of Warren Junior High School will hold a dance at the school tomorrow evening in the Gymnasium. This is another in a series of dances sponsored by the schools P.T.A.

The adult committee co-chairmen are: Mrs. Hartley Kelley and Mrs. Louis Vasalotti. Co-operating and assisting them is the students committee consisting of: William Biddle, Alice Jacobson, Ricky Adams, Thomas Terris, Jean Winer and Paul Daley.

Miss Whitmore, Mr. Baldwin Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Whitmore, Jr., of West Newton announce the engagement of their daughter, Carolyn, to Peter A. Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Graham Baldwin of Phillips Academy, Andover.

Miss Whitmore is a graduate of Middlebury College and her fiancé prepared at Phillips Academy of Middlebury.

One-act Comedy Play Reading To Be Given

A one-act comedy play reading will provide after-dinner entertainment following the mid-winter parish supper of the First Unitarian Society in Newton, to be held at 6:45 p.m. Friday evening, January 21 in the parish hall. This is to be an all-family gathering for the West Newton Unitarian Church.

Mrs. Albert K. Reed and Mrs. Edward W. Kinsman, co-chairmen of the supper committee, have announced that home-made chicken pie will be served. Assisting on the supper committee are Mrs. Woods Coty, Mrs. Warren E. Dutton, Mrs. Cushing W. Ellis, Mrs. Gerald C. Garcelon, Mrs. George A. Johnson, Mrs. Frank B. Layton, Mrs. John C. Olen, Mrs. Forest Paige, Mrs. Arnold P. G. Peterson, Mrs. Maynard Sears and Kenneth Watson.

Sophie Kerr's one-act comedy, "We're None of Us Perfect," will be presented as a play reading by the Activities Committee, of which Mrs. Henry Whitmore Jr. is chairman. Directed by Mrs. Ernest W. Kuebler, the cast will include Florence Raymond, Marion Cobb, Reba Townsend, Grace Whitmore and Naomi Kuebler.

Also billed as after-dinner entertainment will be a film, "Mickey's Miracle," to be shown through the courtesy of the religious education committee's visual aids division, of which Mrs. Arthur S. Laughlin is chairman.

Unique Tea at International Instit.

Mrs. Eleanor Bang of 24 Newtonville avenue, Newton is taking part as a Danish representative in a "Bread Around the World" tea which will be served at the International Institute, 199 Beacon street, Boston, tomorrow at 3 p.m.

Twenty-one women of the Institute have been planning this program which will include the folklore of bread and an exhibit. Special festival breads will be shown from Albania, Greece, Italy, Poland, Portugal and Russia. Many other kinds will be on display and served with the tea.

Newton Chapter Of Hadassah

The Newton Hadassah Board met at the home of Mrs. Philip Hamburg, 25 Huntington road, to discuss plans for the coming year. Mrs. David Bond announced the Fashion Matinee to be held at the Hotel Somerset today. It will feature an Antique Show Sherry Hour and a Fashion Show. Any member is eligible if she enrolls a new member.

The annual Education Institute will take place next Wednesday at 10:30 and the speakers will be the Honorable Esther Herlitz, Consul from Israel in Boston and Professor Salo Baron, professor of History at Columbia University.

Mrs. Lawrence Perlmuter, chairman of World Jewish Child's Day, announced that coinbooks will again be used to raise money for this project.

Hobby Class

The Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will hold its next meeting Friday, January 28 at the home of Mrs. Chester F. MacDowell, 250 Waltham Street, West Newton. Dessert-Coffee will be served at 1:30 p.m. by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. George E. Smith.

The business meeting conducted by the leader, Mrs. Homer Lucas, some of the members of the class will start to cut out and make stuffed toys to be sent to the children of the Peabody Home.

In the morning the class members who are taking lessons in braiding rugs under the direction of Mrs. William T. Dunphy, will meet at 10:30 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Sidney R. Williamson to work on their rugs, and will continue it later in the day at Mrs. MacDowell's home.

Newton Highlands Garden Club

A meeting of the Newton Highlands Garden Club will be held Thursday, January 27, at 8 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Lowell S. Trowbridge, 49 Columbus street, Newton Highlands.

Mrs. Trowbridge has arranged for the showing of most interesting colored motion pictures, with sound, of the growth of flowers and plants, illustrating the activity cycle, root functions, and insectivorous plants. The committee in charge are Mesdames Malcolm E. Agnew, Noel G. Monroe and Francis G. Collier. The President, Mrs. Harold G. Sheehan will preside.

Foreign Relations Assembly

Tuesday, the ninth grade was privileged in having a visit from two Englishmen. They were Mr. Alan Barker, who is on Information Officer of the British Consulate, and Mr. Eric Waller, who is an exchange teacher from England. An assembly was held during fourth period, the purpose of which was to promote foreign relations. Each of the men gave a talk to help us get acquainted with England.

Mr. Barker was first to speak. He said that the first step toward successful foreign relations is to understand the people. Among the things which he said he liked about our country were the domestic aids, the standard of living, and the friendliness. He said he misses Britain's pageantry, color, and courtesy.

Mr. Waller, who spoke next, told three interesting stories which illustrated typical American characteristics. Joel Wise acted as moderator. When the speakers were through, a panel of students had the opportunity to ask Mr. Barker and Mr. Waller questions. These students were: Andrew Lees, Alan Paulson, Helga Mueller, Peter Shrier, Elliot Gardner, Elinor Yudin, and Alan Berger.

In the remaining time, the audience had a chance to question the men.

After the assembly, they visited some of the classrooms to answer the students' questions.

We all enjoyed the assembly, and learned a lot from it.

College Notes

Theodore R. Molinari, of 139 Day Street, Abundale, and Bruce Allen Peters of 37 Beaumont Avenue, Newtonville, are two students who have enrolled for the new term at Babson Institute of Business Administration in Wellesley. They expect to carry a concentrated schedule which will enable them to earn the degree of Bachelor of Science in three years of college work instead of four.

Robert Schilling, 49 Pigeon Hill Road, Abundale, organist with the Boston University Seminary Singers, was with the group when they boarded their bus last Friday for a three-week concert tour down the Atlantic seaboard to Florida. With a record of nearly 850 concerts since they were organized in 1926, the Singers have given concerts from coast to coast and, in addition to the southern tour, will be going to Germany this summer to present a series of concerts on invitation of churches.

Among the 45 men in the chorus are represented 24 states and three foreign countries—Germany, Japan and the Philippines. All of these men are preparing for the Christian ministry at Methodist's oldest seminary in the United States. Ten of the men are sons of Boston University graduates, two of whom were also Seminary Singers in their college days.

Miss Kristen Swansfeldt and Miss Sylvia Zottu of Mount Holyoke College are doing honors work this year in their respective major fields. Honors work is independent research under the direction of a faculty advisor to encourage intellectual curiosity. It is undertaken by those having a high general standing and the approval of the department concerned. The honors work of each student is tested by a special examination. The plan is modeled after the English university tutorial system; there are 29 students doing honors work during the first semester.

Miss Swansfeldt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Swansfeldt, 214 Bellevue Street, is majoring in French and is doing her honors paper on Balzac's opinion of the political situation during the Restoration, under the direction of Mr. Saintonge.

Miss Zottu, a Chemistry major, is doing research on the subject of Photochemistry and is planning to set up an experiment for the pre-Chem class. Her advisor is Miss Harrison. In 1954 she received the Stimson Chemistry prize. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Zottu, 95 Country Club Road, Newton Center.

Both Miss Zottu and Miss Swansfeldt are members of the class of '55 and Sarah Williston Scholars.

Newton Community Club

The Fine Arts Department of the Newton Community Club will have an afternoon of music and drama at the Grace Church Parish House on February 3. The "Nightingales," a chorus of club members, dressed in old-fashioned costumes, will sing a number of the old familiar songs under the direction of Mrs. Carl Thornquist, music chairman.

A one-act play entitled, "It's A Woman's Privilege," by Mabel Conklin Allen, and directed by Mrs. Samuel E. Cutler, chairman of the Literature and Drama Committee, will be presented. The small admission fee charged will benefit the club's philanthropic fund.

To Form Mishkan Tefila Supper Club January 30

"The Philosophy of Conservative Judaism" will be the topic for discussion to be led by Dr. Israel J. Kazis at the organizational meeting of the Temple Mishkan Tefila Supper Club, Sunday, January 30, at 7 p.m., at the Temple's Newton Headquarters, 567 Walnut street.

The Supper Club is being organized primarily for parents who are interested in the Temple's educational program in Newton. Sunday School classes for Grades I and II commence this Sunday. Next September, classes in Nursery, Kindergarten and Daily Hebrew will be conducted. The building recently acquired by Temple Mishkan Tefila at 567 Walnut street is being used temporarily until such time as the permanent Temple on Hammond Pond parkway is completed.

3 Names Drawn For Jury Duty

Names of three Newton residents were drawn for jury duty in Cambridge Superior Court by a trio of gentlemen Monday night in City Hall.

Chosen by lot for jury duty starting Monday, February 7, were Frank A. Mesmer of 18 Gould road, Waban; Harold D. Truax of 18 Meredith avenue, Newton Highlands; and George E. Daley of 97 Manet road, Chestnut Hill.

Their names were selected by Aldermen Charles H. Cosgrove, Lawrence B. Damon and William A. Diman, respectively.

Junior Aid Association

Members of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association will meet tonight (Thursday) at 8 p.m., in Allen Riddle Hall, Nurses' Home, at the hospital. Guest speaker for the evening, Mrs. Lucien B. Taylor of Dover, will be introduced by Mrs. Jack S. Parker, program chairman. Mrs. Taylor's topic: "Amateur Gardening."

The business meeting will be conducted by Mrs. Thomas Franks of Wellesley Hills, vice-president of the association. Reports on the recent and successful bazaar will be given by the various committee chairman.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments will be served under the direction of Mrs. Edward Allen, hospitality chairman, of Newton Highlands.

Newtonians

Mr. Paul McGrath left for England, via Pan American Airways on a business trip, after visiting with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Augustin McGrath of 415 Albemarle road, Newtonville.

The many friends of Mrs. Florence E. Black of 17 Circuit avenue, Newton Highlands, will be pleased to know that she is well on the road to recovery after suffering a severe heart attack while visiting her son, John, in Woolwich, Me. She was transferred to her home from Maine by ambulance and has been under the constant care of a nurse.

Returns Home After Funeral of Father

Mrs. Eleanor M. Gordon and son David of 35 Lindbergh avenue, West Newton, have returned from Henniker, N. H., where they attended the funeral of Mrs. Gordon's father, Mrs. Charles J. Phelps.

Mr. Phelps died of a heart attack suffered last Thursday. He was buried in Concord, N. H. Miss Jean Gordon was unable to attend the funeral due to a bad cold.

Since the day after Lincoln's death the outpouring of words about him has never ceased. There are now some 6000 Lincoln books and pamphlets, states Greer Williams in the current Reader's Digest. Biographies have been written in German, Spanish, Norwegian and Japanese. The little book in which Lincoln as a boy wrote, "Abraham Lincoln, his book and pen, he will be good but God knows when," brought $3600 at a New York City auction in 1952. A copy of the 266-word Gettysburg Address—one of five which exist in Lincoln's handwriting—sold for $150,000.—Hoaxes have given much trouble to truth-seekers about Lincoln. One dealer has turned down a sofa "Lincoln hair" to stuff a sofa.

Some 25 million U.S. auto drivers now using our highways have never had any examination of any kind to prove their fitness to drive, writes J. C. Furnas in the February Reader's Digest. This is a "colossal hangover" from the time when many state licensed anyone of legal age who paid the fee.

Packard Clipper Models Have Many New Features

The all-new Packard and Clipper automobiles for 1955 offer a revolutionary new kind of safe, comfortable ride; the auto industry's top performance in new V-8 engines; a new Twin-Union transmission, new styling and more than 100 other major advancements, states Diener Motors of Watertown and Waltham.

Available in a wide selection of distinctive body styles, the new models go on display in Packard dealerships throughout the nation this week.

Highlight of the new Packard models is the luxurious Four-Hundred, a Packard hardtop. The Constellation, another smartly styled hardtop, is the powerful star of the Clipper series of cars.

In addition to featuring top V-8 engine performance, Packard and Clipper Custom models strike the most dramatic note in this year's new model parade with the introduction of a Tor-sion-Level Ride.

Packard torsion bar suspension, which completely replaces the conventional front-coil and rear-leaf springs, brings to American cars the first major improvement in riding comfort and riding safety since the introduction of front-coil springing in 1934. The Tor-sion-Level Ride is standard equipment on all Packard models and on Clipper Custom models.

Packard Four-Hundred and Packard models are powered by a big 352 cubic-inch displacement V-8 engine of 290 horsepower. Boasting a torque rating of 355 foot pounds at 2,400-2,800 r.p.m., this is the largest displacement engine available in the passenger car field. Its size, say Packard engineers, is based on the fact that high torque performance can only be obtained from an engine of adequate displacement.

Clipper Custom models, including the Constellation, are powered by a 245-horsepower V-8. Also a 352 cubic-inch displacement power plant, this engine has a torque rating of 355 foot pounds at 2,400-2,800 r.p.m. Clipper Super and Deluxe models are powered by a 225-horsepower V-8 of 320 cubic-inch displacement, with a torque rating of 325 foot pounds at 2,400-2,800 r.p.m.

Three Lectures On The New India to Be Presented Here

Three timely lectures on the new India, highlighting Christianity's struggle with ancient superstitions and modern secularism, and the emergence of India as leader of the East, will be given by Dr. Hale H. Cook, now on furlough from his post as medical missionary in India.

Newton Vets Are on VFW Committees

The 56th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars will be held in Boston, August 28 to Sept. 2, it was announced at a recent meeting of the convention corporation at the State House, Boston.

Committees were formed and chairman appointed by the corporation president, Eugene P. Carver, Jr., of Brookline, past National VFW commander. Named chairman of the encampment's publicity committee was Vincent J. Tischer, 19A Mountfort road, Newton Highlands, veteran newspaperman and former director of public relations for a large Greater Boston employees' group. His duties comprise acting as the one authoritative source of all information regarding the convention to the press.

Those from this area also serving on the committee, and all members of the Lieut. Stanton M. Amesbury Post, VFW, are Commander Joseph E. Murphy, Adjutant Waldron E. LaRose, Past Commander John M. Leonard, Jr., Harry J. Murphy and Arthur E. Hildreth.

DR. HALE HENRY COOK

Beginning on February 3, the lectures will be on three successive Thursday evenings at eight o'clock in the Educational Building of the Second Church in Newton, West Newton. The series will be sponsored by the World Service Guild of which Mrs. Anton Fried is the director.

In his position as Medical Superintendent of the Well-equipped Pierce Memorial Hospital in Wai, Dr. Cook became aware of the great needs in the primitive villages. Fitting a truck with an ambulance body with funds obtained from Second Church, he gathered together

Many Achievements Attained by Library During Past Year

Several major achievements were recorded by the Newton Free Library during the past year according to Judge Thomas Weston, president of the Board of Library Trustees in his annual report to Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., last week.

56th St. John's Annual Meeting At Parish House

Retiring officers were honored and a new slate elected recently at the 56th annual meeting of St. John's Episcopal Church in the parish house, Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

A Bible was presented to Walter B. Chase, the retiring senior warden, and a white orchid was given Mrs. Orvil F. Hagaman for her services in assisting the treasurer and preparing monthly financial reports for the Vestry.

Elected for one year terms were Herbert P. Smith, senior warden; Raymond R. Church, junior warden; John R. Rees, clerk; and Orvil F. Hagaman, treasurer. Named vestrymen for three years were Charles R. Billings, Douglas H. Grainger and Arthur W. Sweet.

Delegates to the Diocesan convention are Herbert P. Smith, Fred Fogg and C. Robinson Fish, and alternates are Raymond C. Church, Clyde V. Hicks and S. Evan Johnson.

Among some of the achievements, according to the report, were growth, expansion, revision, and reorganization of the existing facilities.

In his report to the mayor, Judge Weston stated:

"Some years in the life of a public library are routine, reflecting slow growth and change, while others show a progress or expansion, which mark them as unusual years. In the history of the Newton Free Library the year 1954 placed several major achievements on record. An Organization and Planning Study was made, seeking increased efficiency and careful planning for the next several years. Those taking part in the study were the members of the Library Board, two experienced consultants, Mr. Philip McNiff, Librarian of the Lamont Library of Harvard University; and Mr. John A. Humphrey, Librarian of the City Library of Springfield; also the Newton Librarian and Assistant to the Librarian, aided by staff department heads. The modest costs of this study were paid from an appropriate fund account. Many details of this study are to receive further study and to be made effective at favorable opportunities.

"One recommendation of the study—that a major revision and reduction of the book collection be undertaken—was put in effect by the withdrawal of 21,292 volumes which combined with the addition of 13,324 volumes was a strong factor against stagnation and obsolescence. Special credit goes to Mr. William Ernst, Assistant Librarian.

Apparent Lack of Security Measures at State Prison That Led to Uprising Calls for Careful Investigation

The tributes that have been paid to officials at the Charlestown State prison for their handling of last week's fantastic 83-hour revolt are somewhat ironical, for if the officers at the institution had been efficient and alert, the uprising could not have occurred.

The most charitable thing that can be said about the operation of the prison is that the rebellion was made possible by negligence on the part of some guards.

There are only two ways the four desperadoes could have obtained the guns and hacksaws that were in their possession. One was through the negligence and inefficiency of the men responsible for their incarceration and the other through actual complicity.

One phase of the situation which up to now has been glossed over very lightly is that the guards are supposed to go through the prison regularly testing the cell bars with an iron rod. Had that been done, it would have been discovered that the convicts were sawing their way out in an attempt to escape.

Budget Hearing

Mayor To Outline Progress During First Year of Term

Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., has announced that he will present the 1955 city budget to the Board of Aldermen at a public meeting to be held Monday evening, February 14.

The mayor proposes also to give an outline at this time of its principal features with a comparison of previous budgets and in addition will present a review of the activities of his administration during his first year as chief executive of this city.

In order that the mayor may have an opportunity to present his report, President Wendell R. Bauckman of the Board of Aldermen has re-arranged the meeting dates so that there will be three meetings of the Board this month and only one in February.

The Board of Aldermen's regular schedule calls for meetings on the first and third Monday evenings of the month. The city charter directs that the mayor present his budget to the Board by February 15 and since the budget will not be completed by the regular meeting night on February 7, the meeting of the Board has been postponed until February 14.

The February 7 meeting will take place this coming Monday evening and the meeting slated for February 21, will be held on February 14, with the following meeting to be held on March 7, when the regular schedule of meetings will be resumed.

Mayor Whitmore has stated that his message will take about half an hour and he will attempt to analyze the outstanding expenditures for 1955. Any citizens interested in attending this meeting of February 14, which will start at 7:45 p.m., are invited to be present. The Aldermanic Claims and Rules Committee has announced that meetings of this group will be held as follows: February 23, March 23, April 20, May 25 and June 22.

Big Free Cooking School to be Held On Next Thursday

The annual Newton Graphic-Boston Gas Company Cooking School, eagerly looked forward to by hundreds of local women, will take place next Thursday afternoon, February 3, from 1:30 to 4 o'clock.

Many valuable prizes have been donated by progressive Newton merchants, and a large number of those attending the school will go home with a worthwhile gift.

Gas Company experts, under the direction of Miss Susan Mack, will give practical cooking demonstrations, including pies, cakes, bread, general food and many other delicacies. The various items which have been prepared on the stage will be donated by the Boston Gas Company to members of the audience.

The school will be a practical demonstration of the best way to prepare food and cook it with gas, the most dependable fuel for consistently outstanding results. Newton women will also have the opportunity to present their cooking problems to the experts during a question period after the demonstration.

Miss Mack and her staff of culinary experts are no strangers to Greater Boston women. They annually talk to some 60,000 persons every year at cooking schools, women's clubs, civic groups and in customers' homes. In the Boston Gas test kitchen, the experts constantly experiment with new recipes and foods. They are constantly in touch with the nation's top food

City To Be Host To 377 Students of Tri-State Chorus

Newton this year will be host to the all state chorus, numbering 377 students who will come from ninety-five different communities throughout the State for the sixth annual tri-state chorus. The first tri-state chorus was held in Boston, the second and third in Worcester, the fourth in Framingham, the fifth in Springfield, and now the sixth in Newton.

The boys and girls will arrive on the Wednesday morning prior to the concert in Boston Symphony Hall on Friday evening, February 23. They will come by automobile, bus, train, and some even by airplane. While they are in Newton, the boys and girls will not "have life easy". They will practice eight hours on Wednesday and Thursday and five hours on Friday before giving their concert before the Eastern Massachusetts Music Educators Association, who are sponsoring the tri-state chorus.

The boys and girls will stay at different homes in the fourteen villages of this city. The Parent-Teacher Student Association is arranging the housing of the students and Mrs. John Swanton Jr., is the chairman of the parent housing committee.

Wesley Merritt of Newton High School is the faculty advisor and chairman of the tri-state chorus. The conductor of the tri-state chorus is Professor John Raymond, who is

To Present Talk On Christian Position In The Near East

Dr. Alford Carleton of Boston, Mass., Executive Vice President of the historic American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, Congregational Christian educator and administrator, will speak Wednesday morning, February 2, at Andover-Newton Theological School on "The Present Position of Christians in the Near East."

Dr. Carleton's "parish" is the world since the American Board serves in 15 nations and the general supervision of its activities come within Dr. Carleton's portfolio. He acts also as a liaison officer between the American Board and sister Congregational Christian groups as well as those of other communions. Pre-eminently he is an interpreter of modern Christian missions to the churches of this fellowship and to the public.

Officers of Library Bd. Re-elected

At the annual meeting of the Library Board held last Friday, all officers were re-elected for the coming year.

Those elected were: Judge Thomas Weston, president; E. Graham Bates, treasurer; Harold A. Wooster, librarian and secretary of the board.

The Board of Directors consists of the officers and Mrs. James H. Zimmer, James P. Gallagher and Frank B. Maher.

Porch Lights Shine Tonight; Mothers' March for Funds

A city-wide mobilization of mothers, and other men and women as well, will be held tonight (Thursday) as the 1955 March of Dimes concludes with an intensive, door-to-door Mothers' March for funds.

Here the Mothers' March will be held from 7 to 8 p.m., tonight. Porch lights will shine, and throughout the city men, women and children welcome their marching neighbors in their final 1955 assault on poliomyelitis. All Newton residents are urged to turn on their porch lights tonight (Thursday) between 7 and 8 p.m., as a beacon light of welcome for these public spirited citizens who are raising funds to help eradicate polio.

Bill Cunningham, Boston columnist and radio commentator, and state chairman of the March of Dimes, recently pointed out that "over the years, the good people of Massachusetts have responded generously to the need for funds for the March of Dimes. It is your gifts which have helped make possible the strides which have been made against this cruel crippler. "Now the time has come when we have the privilege of delivering what we hope and pray will be a Sunday punch against polio. This week, on the evening of the Mothers' March in Newton, let your porch light shine. "The contributions you give, as the 1955 March of Dimes comes to an end, should be as

Name Change Asked For 2 N.C. Streets

Acting on the plea of a number of Newton Highlands businessmen, the Board of Aldermen will conduct a hearing Monday night in City Hall on changing the names of part of Winchester and Needham streets to Centre street so the city would have a main thoroughfare running from Watertown to Needham.

The businessmen, many of whom are located in the Cabot, Cabot and Forbes Industrial Centre, claim that the different names of what seems to be the same street confuses many visitors to the city. They also state that Centre street should represent what its name suggests, running completely through the middle of the city.

At present, Centre abruptly changes into Winchester street at the Worcester turnpike, although it seems to be a single roadway. A short distance further on, Needham street branches off of Winchester, and again the illusion of a single street is given since the main flow of traffic also branches off there.

Even adding to the confusion for drivers coming from Needham, this same highway is known in that town as Highland avenue. Thus motorists uncertain of the correct route find themselves faced with four names for a single stretch of road.

Four other hearings are also scheduled for Monday night: The Esso gasoline station at 770 Beacon street, Newton Centre, is seeking a license to expand and rebuild its current station.

The Charles River Country Club has applied for a license to double its gasoline storage tank to 1000 gallons for private use only.

Lorraine Cleaners at 2284 Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, has requested a license to store up to 1000 gal-ant Librarian of the Lamont Library, with art education and experience, who was employed for about a month in a review of the art book and picture collection. A modest change was made in coordinating our Children's Rooms more closely with the Branch Libraries where they are located. A study of any necessary changes in the book classification system was postponed until 1955. On several occasions the officials of the Newton Public Schools consulted with Library Committees with Trustee representation on problems of coordinating library services of the Schools and the Newton

Free Library. More conferences will unquestionably be held during the coming year. Both Mrs. Zimmer, member of the Library Board, and the Librarian were Chairmen of Sub-Committees on the Study of Secondary School Education in Newton: an important community activity of the year carried out under the direction of Dr. Leo Barry, Principal of the Newton High School. The Librarian is a member of the Employees' Personnel Advisory Committee of the City of Newton, under appointment by the Mayor. The services of the Library are closely integrated with the Newton Schools and the Newton City Services.

"In the Branch Library System it should be noted that the Newton Centre and Newtonville

Branch Libraries had a combined circulation of 197,049 volumes. The Main Library circulation, including the Boys' and Girls' Library was 204,235. These three units account for nearly one half of the total annual circulation. In spite of this nine per capita circulation, which is not common, we are aware of the fact that there are new developments in the City, new schools, where the public library service has not been in position to expand and meet new requests.

"A number of physical improvements were made at the Newton Centre Branch in the past year. The Buildings Department of the City installed a new asphalt tile floor, new drapes were added, the charging desk placed to better advantage, the books re-arranged, more shelving added. Fiber glass curtains were added at the Newton Highlands Branch. The fall hurricanes uprooted trees at the Newton Centre, Newton Highlands and Waban Branches Library grounds.

"Early in 1955 we expect to move the Oak Hill Park Branch Library from a classroom in the Memorial School to a fine new store Branch in the new shopping center for this section of the City. This proposed store Branch is of generous 25 feet by 60 feet dimensions with a book capacity of some nine thousand volumes, table seating of forty, or room seating capacity for community meetings of seventy-five persons. The public support of the Newton Free Library provided it with its original library building and its system of branch library buildings, large for a city of our population but in keeping with our type of community. The long delayed matter of a new branch library for Nonantum is under active consideration, and carefully considered recommendations have been made to Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. by a Citizens' Committee appointed for the purpose. In 1954, Mr. Wilfred Chagnon presented the Library Board in appropriate public ceremony with an oil painting of former Mayor Edwin O. Childs, painted by Mr. Bernard Keyes. This painting is to be hung in the new branch library building in Nonantum, the home village of this public spirited citizen. It is our hope that this building may be erected this coming year.

"As other examples of public interest and concern, our grounds and buildings have been beautified by the helping hands of the Auburndale, Newton Centre, Newton Highlands, West Newton and Newtonville Garden Clubs. We have received a number of generous gifts of books from Library friends and patrons. Some 1,289 volumes were added to our book collection, passing as many more along to other libraries and institutions. Mr. Matthew F. Ruane was generous with gifts of flowers. Mr. Herbert C. Fraser made the border flower beds at the Main Library a source of public pleasure from early spring to late fall.

Mr. Frank B. Maher who replaced Mr. Vincent P. Roberts, the latter resigned after twenty-seven years of service. Both men have contributed their outstanding business and administrative experience to our library needs. We are grateful for the support of Library activities given by the Mayor, the Board of Aldermen and the cooperative assistance of other City Departments. This has been an unusual year, in growth, expansion, revision, reorganization. I wish to commend my fellow Library Trustees and the Library Staff for services beyond and above their usual line of duty and responsibility."

Clark-

Theodore Clark, of 101 Highland avenue, Newtonville, has been appointed an official youth delegate to the Centennial Conference of the World's Alliance of Young Men's Christian Associations.

This world conference of older boys and girls will be held from August 12, through August 23, at the Cite Universitaire in Paris, France. Young Clark has been active in the YMCA boys program for many years, having joined when he was nine years old. He attended Camp Massasoit in 1949; currently he is a junior leader, a leadership development program where 14 to 16 year old youths actually assist in gym swim and game room programs.

In attendance at this conference will be 2,000 boys and girls, age 15-18, from all over the world. The United States delegation, of which young Clark is a member, will consist of approximately 450 older boys and girls and their leaders.

The Newton YMCA will also be sending one other youth delegate in addition to Theodore Clark, Miss Olga Keane of 227 North Beacon street, Watertown.

The conference will center its study and discussion upon four major topics, living together with others, living together in the community, living together in the world of nations, and living together in the nation.

The program will provide opportunities for small group discussions, for hearing outstanding speakers, for social activities, recreation and sight seeing.

The Massachusetts delegation will leave New York the week of July 3rd and arrive in London seven to 10 days later.

A seven country tour through England, Holland, Germany, Austria, Italy, Switzerland and France will then be taken, after which the youngsters will attend the conference. The delegates should return home before Labor Day, 1955. In addition to the World Conference of older boys and girls, there will be three other conferences relating to a younger boys camp, young adult work, and professional participation. It is expected that a total of over 10,000 persons from 73 different countries will attend the YMCA world conferences.

While on furlough he has been doing post-graduate work at Harvard. He will return to India this summer to carry on extensive pioneer work in that field. Born in Boston, Dr. Cook is a graduate of Cornell University, Harvard Medical School and Hartford Theological Seminary.

Dr. Ross Cannon, minister of Second Church will introduce Dr. and Mrs. Cook, who represent Second Church in India. Mrs. Cook, a graduate nurse, has been closely associated with all phases of her husband's service.

The public is cordially invited. Dates and subjects are: Feb. 3—"Politics in India;" and Feb. 17—"Medicine in India." The latter two lectures will be illustrated.

Simonds Memorial Cross for faithful participation as a member of the Senior Choir.

A roast beef supper was served by Mrs. Raymond C. Church and her committee composed of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Clark, George Thierry, Miss Alice Steele, Mrs. Florence Moore, Mrs. Eaton Webber, Mrs. Harold Rice, Mrs. Stanley Newman, Mrs. Orvil Hagaman, Mrs. Jessie Gilbert and Mrs. W. B. Chase.

Similar bills were filed by the Newton legislator in 1953 and 1954. Both times the measures were voted by the House of Representatives but were defeated in the Senate.

"It is hoped," said Rawson, "that this year's bill will have better success in the upper branch because it will cure what has been a long-standing abuse in many places."

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

We heard a good video question, not one of those quiz shows. This was just a question raised by a disgruntled televisioner. Maybe you've wondered about it yourself. Why does one get interference in his television picture when he doesn't set it in the sound?

A good question. The fact is that your TV set receives two signals, an audio and a video. And the TV signal is one that takes up a lot of space. A television station needs about 6000 times as much room in space as a sound broadcasting station. (That's why they had to move up into Very High Frequencies and Ultra High Frequencies (UHF and VHF) to find room for new TV stations.) And what this means in reception is that the television signal, being so much a broader band, can pick up many more sources of interference than the narrower radio signal. A TV channel has a bandwidth of 6,000,000 cycles compared with 10,000 cycles for a radio channel. All kinds of unwanted electrical impulses can sneak into a band this wide — auto ignition systems, sparking motors, diathermy machines, commercial and amateur radio transmitters, these and many other devices operate on frequencies close to those used on TV. Or else they're similar enough that TV circuits respond to them. An audio signal alone, being a narrower band, isn't open to as much interference. A good antenna will help a lot in screening out interference, and there are other devices — wave traps and filters. If you have an interference problem, or any other service problem, call on us.

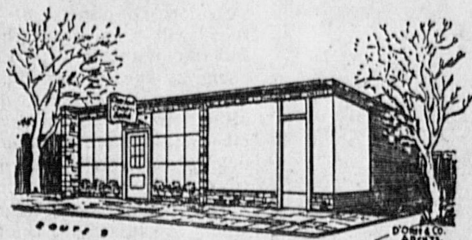

You'll find a large selection of quality sets in our display, including such precision engineered sets as CBS Columbia for better clarity in the finest in TV; visit our showroom.

Named Fund Drive Vice Chairman

Haskell C. Freedman, 1955 Red Cross Fund chairman, announces the appointment of Ernest C. Clark, Jr., as vice chairman of the campaign in charge of public information.

Mr. Clark, who resides at 24 Windermere road, Auburndale, has been a resident of Newton for five years, is a vice-president of Henry A. Loudon, Advertising, Inc., was one of Boston's leading general advertising agencies.

A Naval veteran of World War II, Mr. Clark is familiar with the world wide services of the Red Cross through personal experience during the war years. The efficient and friendly manner in which the Red Cross assisted him and many of the men under his command was the primary reason that Mr. Clark volunteered to assist in the 1955 fund campaign.

March of Dimes Asks for Return Of Coin Cards

The March of Dimes Committee on Coin Card Distribution, headed by Mrs. Alvah O. Ring of Waban, has issued a special appeal to the citizens of Newton to kindly return the coin cards at their earliest possible convenience.

These cards were delivered through the mails to every family in Newton. The card was inscribed as delivery to "Local Postal Patron." This is the first year that this method of mailing has been used. In previous years, Mrs. Ring and her committee of over 20 women had individually hand-written every envelope that went out to the 26,000 residences in the City.

This entailed a tremendous amount of tedious and laborious hours on their part; so to facilitate things and to be able to avail themselves and their energies in other directions in their volunteer polo work, the "Local Postal Patron" inscription was used.

"It has come to our attention, through telephone calls and many letters from Newton Citizens that they never did receive their cards, and would like to make their donation this year again as they have done in the past," said Mrs. Ring.

To those people who did not receive their cards, Mrs. Ring has made available through the cooperation of the Newton Library Department and the Newton National Bank to have additional coin cards placed in each of the 10 branches of the Library Department and the four branches of the Bank for those who would still like to make their donations to the Newton March of Dimes.

Army's Technical School Program Now Available

M/Sgt. Robert L. Jensen, Station Commander of the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, located on the Waltham Common adjacent to the railroad station on Carter street, has announced that the U. S. Army's Technical School Program is available to all mid-year students who are contemplating leaving school after completion of the mid-year exams.

The U. S. Army currently offers specialized training in over 100 different technical schools for students who have received their high school graduation certificates.

With the complex problem of manpower necessary to operate the multitude of specialized equipment being used in the Army today, more and more emphasis is being placed on obtaining men who have completed high school, or have obtained their graduation certificates after completion of the mid-year exams, Sgt. Jensen stated.

Included among such courses as automotive repair, electronic repair, the Army is also training men in many phases of aircraft maintenance said Jensen.

Airplane repair, helicopter repair, aircraft instrument and electrical system repair and aircraft powertrain and engine repair are just a few of the courses now available to young men who wish to start training for a future in civilian aircraft maintenance and other allied fields pertaining to aircraft.

Men who are interested in this program, may obtain additional information by stopping in at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station on the Waltham Common, or by phoning WA 5-9289.

The first great gift we can bestow on others is a good example.

"The government should get out of business. It has no place in it, except possibly in grave military emergency. The properties should be sold and the proceeds used to reduce taxes and the debt. Once in private hands they would be subject to

An Hour of Decision

In every major human endeavor, there comes a moment which spells success or failure—the climactic time when the planning has been done and people must act.

That hour has come for the 1955 March of Dimes in Newton and throughout the State.

This week, thousands of women—and men, too—will join in a statewide Mothers' March on Polio. It is the largest fund-raising event, and the final effort, of the month-long campaign for the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

We all know the polio story. We know that today medical science may be on the threshold of victory over its paralytic effects, through the Salk vaccine now undergoing extensive evaluation. If the vaccine is a success, the Foundation is prepared to vaccinate without charge every first and second-grade public and private school pupil in Massachusetts this Spring. The cost, nationally, will run high into the millions. Meanwhile, the expenses of research, patient care and education continue unabated.

The Mothers' March is your way to join this battle. When it is held in this community this week, let the porch lights shine bravely and brightly—the sign that we are doing our fair share by contributing as generously as possible to keep the fight going.

This is our hour of decision. Let us make it the right one.

Productivity the Answer

With little attempt to understand the why of it, some nations look upon our achievement of the world's highest standard of living as a stroke of luck.

It isn't, of course. We have worked hard, risked much, produced much, the growth factor of our economy averages about three percent a year. We have been able to produce more because of constant new technological developments, investments in new factories, management ability and employee skills.

We were once an underdeveloped country ourselves—we give our success-formula to any country that will accept it. And to maintain and strengthen it here at home, we can hope and work toward a long-range tax program for economic growth "which will diminish present tax rate unfairnesses and at the same time encourage economic growth and development."

Political Overtones

When the four convicts go to trial on the charges stemming from their attempted breakout, answers may be provided for some of the questions now being asked, for one public official who has promised them nothing more than an early trial is Attorney General George Fingold who quiet obviously is unimpressed by the sentimental slop that has been poured out concerning four incorrigible criminals who pleaded for some ray of hope after they had failed to scale the prison wall and after they had threatened to kill the five guards they were holding as hostages.

A question that Mr. Fingold is almost certain to want answered is what happened to the iron dust and shavings that must have fallen on the floor outside the Cherry Hill cells while the cell doors were being sawed.

It must have taken a convict hours to saw four times through heavy iron bars, at the top of two bars and at the bottom of them.

Presumably, the other criminals drowned out the noise of the sawing by turning up their battery radios. It is not difficult to understand why a guard might not have heard a hacksaw grinding against a cell bar during the din undoubtedly created.

But no matter how careful a convict was, some iron dust would have fallen outside his cell, and an alert guard certainly should have noticed it because there was no way the prisoner could reach out to clean it up.

That is one of the little mysteries of the incredible story of Cherry Hill. Another, of course, is how the convicts got their guns and hacksaws in the first place.

There are three possible ways: one is from a visitor, the second from one of the trusty prisoners who act as errand boys or runners to Cherry Hill, and the third is from a guard.

When one of the four desperadoes had a monthly visitor, they talked through a wire screen, and ostensibly there was no way a gun or hacksaw could be passed to them. That doesn't mean, of course, that it wasn't done. But guards are on duty, watching inmates and their visitors to prevent such an exchange.

This is a case where in all fairness a writer does not make any assumptions, and this observer is merely citing the facts and the possibilities involved.

It certainly is fair to state, however, that the supervision maintained over four prisoners, who were known to be incorrigible, dangerous, desperate and ingenious criminals, was not what it should have been.

Some of the mushy sympathy expressed for the desperadoes after the negotiating committee sat down with them in a stranger-than-fiction parley, was so absurd as to be revolting.

The members of the committee demonstrated a good deal of courage in meeting with the four convicts, for there always was a possibility that one of the four might go berserk with a gun at any time.

But it also seems obvious that some of the more gullible committee members were taken into camp by the convicts, and under the circumstances that was not altogether surprising.

When Attorney General Fingold was summoned to the Charlestown prison last Friday to give his assurance that the four convicts would be given an early trial on the escape charges, one of the committee members expressed fear that his presence in the institution might "tip over" the negotiations.

"They don't like you," Fingold was told. "They called you a —."

"Well I don't like them either," retorted Fingold, "and I certainly don't care what they think of me. I'm here to give my word that they'll get a quick trial, and that's the only concession I'll make to them."

"They're pretty resentful," the committee member went on, "about your announcement that if they killed one of the guards, you'd send them all to the electric chair."

"I meant what I said," Fingold flashed back angrily, "and isn't it too bad they didn't like it?"

"They're also sore about the statement Mayor Hynes made, when he said he hoped they wouldn't see the light of day again," the Attorney General was informed.

Fingold at that point exploded with the observation that what really offended the sensitive feelings of the four was that the ladder they built wasn't big and strong enough to get them over the prison wall.

"Do you think they'd be talking about reforming the penal system if they got over the wall," he demanded.

Fingold was one official who kept his feet on the ground and his values pretty straight, when some of the committee members were talking about the "favorable impression" made on them by a murderer, a rapist, a hold-up man and a bank robber, and when one committee member remarked that what started out as an attempted escape ended as a "reform movement."

The so-called "reform movement" for Messrs. Green, Balben, Flaherty and Swenson came a little late.

The four convicts talked to the committee members about the fact that some criminals are rehabilitated and reformed after spending only a short time in prison.

That may well be the fact, and it is sincerely hoped that it is, but none of that four was reformed or rehabilitated after spending a short time in prison. They have been in and out of prison without any noticeable beneficial effect upon them, and their quest for a "spark of hope" was a little tardy in starting. The spark of hope they were seeking was a ladder that would get them into the freight yards next to the Charlestown prison.

The ridicule that these men brought upon the Commonwealth of Massachusetts by their holdout for 85 hours against the forces of the law was a serious thing. But even more serious was the effect upon impressionable teen-agers of the preposterous attempt to glamorize them and to build sympathy for four convicts who on the basis of everything they have done to date are chronic and incorrigible criminals.

RANDOM CLIPPINGS

Officials in West Germany are worrying about a gambling craze, and they blame it all on Americans as the developers of the slot machine industry. They declare that the Ruhr, with the largest concentration of working people in Western Europe, has become a poor man's Monte Carlo.

New York's Mayor Wagner has urged his City Council to extend daylight saving time through next October, declaring that such a move might bring pleasure to thousands of people as well as save the city treasury a substantial amount of money for street lighting alone. The fact that New York was on standard time last October, while Massachusetts had daylight saving time, caused considerable confusion.

Arrested for firing a shotgun and wounding two of the six teen-agers who were hurling rocks at his house, William W. Gordon, 79, apparently elated over his marksmanship, remarked: "I've shot at them lots of times before, but I'm near-sighted, and this is the first time I ever was lucky enough to hit one."

Community Club Nightingales At Grace Church Next Thursday

The Fine Arts Department of the Newton Community Club will entertain the club with an afternoon of music and dramatics in the Grace Church Parish House at 2:30 next Thursday afternoon.

The Newton Community Club "Nightingales" dressed in old fashioned costumes will make their first appearance in an entertaining program of beloved old songs under the direction of Mrs. Carl J. Thornquist. The group consists of Mrs. Frederick S. Bacon, Mrs. Clinton C. Brown, Mrs. Ashley D. Burt, Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., Mrs. Maurice W. Dennison, Mrs. Herbert B. Dwight, Mrs. Ray A. Endsen, and Mrs. Freeman C. Howes.

A one-act play, "It's a Woman's Privilege," by Mabel Conklin Allyn, will be another feature of the day. Mrs. Samuel E. Cutler will direct and members of the cast will be Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Miss Cynthia Brown, Mrs. John J. McDonald, Mrs. Donald MacKenzie, Mrs. F. Crockett Brown, Mrs. David Hamblen, and Miss Judy Backman.

Mrs. Alfred W. Barr, chairman, and her committee will serve tea following the entertainment.

Order of Rainbow for Girls Guests of Fraternity Lodge

Last Friday night Newton Assembly, No. 60, order of the Rainbow for Girls were the guests of Fraternity Lodge, A.F. & A.M., at the Masonic Temple in Newtonville for the purpose of conferring the degrees of Rainbow upon the following: Sandra L. Marshall, Barbara Binion, Joy D. Buell, Margaret A. Lengeman, Judith Ann Ross, Suzanne Simonds, Joanne Valletly, Mary Elaine Poole.

The degrees were exemplified by the Worthy Advisor, Beverly Cummings, Worthy Associate Advisor, Alice Crandall, P.W.A. and present Grand Courier of the Massachusetts Grand Assembly (substitute), Charity, Cynthia Brown, Hope, Mary Ayres, Drill Leader, Nancy Wilburt, and Chaplain, Barbara Whiting, and other officers of Newton Assembly No. 60.

Following the work of the evening the Worshipful Master of Fraternity Lodge, Allister F. Marshall, congratulated the girls on the excellence of the initiation as exemplified for the members of Fraternity Lodge and presented Newton Assembly with a gift of appreciation from the Lodge.

An informal reception followed with refreshments provided by the officers' wives of Fraternity Lodge.

Safety Expert to Be Presented By Newton Highlands Men's Club

How safe are the new super-powered automobiles — and how are they being made even safer?

The Men's Club of Newton Highlands, at its dinner meeting February 14, at 6:45 p.m. in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church, will present F. J. Crandell, assistant vice-president of Liberty Mutual Insurance Company, who will talk and show pictures of research work in the industry's drive to cut automobile accidents.

Lessons gleaned from these pictures, taken in research laboratories at Cornell University, help the motor car manufacturers to design the cars of tomorrow for safer driving under all road conditions.

Hot-rodgers and ordinary drivers alike will enjoy — and profit by — this educational picture-talk.

Meanwhile the Men's Club Bowling League, which meets every Monday at 7 p.m. at the Bowling Green, Needham, is rolling along in the second half of the season with high scores, good attendance — and sizzling competition.

The first half, after a rugged battle, was won by Team 2 captained by Frank Willey. With the handicap system in force, close competition looms all the way to the finish of the second half, after which a rolloff will decide the champions for 1954-55.

The first-half bowling banquet is coming soon, time and place to be announced shortly.

F. A. Day Junior High School

The F. A. Day Jr. High School held its second P.T.A. meeting January 20. A short business meeting was led by Mrs. Evald Swanson, president.

Mr. Ralph Morse, principal, introduced the speakers for the evening, Mr. Julian Alexander and Mr. Vincent Jurglewicz, teachers of art and music at Day Junior High.

Mr. Alexander, a graduate of Massachusetts School of Art, has also taught at Boston University, and is a new teacher at Day this year. He gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "What is Art?" indicating the progress of creative activity in art from the seventh grade through the ninth grade, and accompanying his explanation with many examples of the pupils' work. Mr. Alexander's explanation of modern methods of teaching and encouraging art in youngsters was very well received, and parents came away with the feeling that while their children may not all turn out to be great artists they can learn to enjoy and develop their creative powers to the fullest extent of their abilities.

Mr. Jurglewicz, a graduate of the Conservatory of Music at Warsaw, Poland, needed no introduction to the parents of Day pupils as his abilities are well known to anyone who has seen his "spring concerts," an annual feature at Day. He spoke to the parents about the "listening" program in music classes at the school, how he develops the ability to listen to good music and how the pupils progress in this respect from a waltz to a symphony. By popular request Mr. Jurglewicz has promised to cover this subject for a P.T.A. meeting sometime in the future when his time will not be limited.

The ninth grade mothers contributed delicious refreshments and these were served by Mrs. Peter Bilezikian and her committee.

"American industry has a direct responsibility to do its utmost to protect its employees in the right to obtain and hold jobs without compulsion to join or not to join any organization,"—Henry G. Riter, 3rd.

Temple Shalom To Mark Jewish Tercentenary

A unique program will mark the celebration of the American Jewish Tercentenary by Temple Shalom of Newton tomorrow evening (Friday). In place of the traditional Sabbath sermon, Dr. Daniel Miller, a member of the Temple, will discuss the contributions of persons of Jewish descent to the development of medicine in America. Dr. Miller's talk will trace the roles played by Jewish physicians, scientists and educators from colonial times to the present in research, clinical discoveries, medical education and service to the armed forces.

DR. DANIEL MILLER

Dr. Miller, a practicing otolaryngologist, is an assistant professor in his specialty at Tufts Medical School, a member of the staff of the Massachusetts General and New England Center Hospitals and a former president of the Greater Boston Medical Society. Dr. Miller's talk will be the first occasion on which this interesting subject has been discussed in this area, and all physicians and other members of the public are cordially invited.

Preceding the service the Temple will play host to its many new members at a special Sabbath hour arranged in their honor. This event which will begin at 7:30 will be an informal reception at which Rabbi Rothman and the Temple officers and trustees will greet newly affiliated members and welcome them into the Temple family. Refreshments will be served at the reception and at the Oneg Shabbat which follows at the close of the Sabbath services.

Abraham J. Fox Named Temple Reyim Sexton

Nathan Goldstein, president of Temple Reyim and Dr. Theodore Shane, chairman of the Religious Service Committee, announce the appointment of Abraham J. Fox as sexton for the Temple.

Mr. Fox, who was born in the Ukraine, received his education from eminent European Rabbis. Mr. and Mrs. Fox, and daughter, Phyllis reside at 166 Eastside parkway, Newton. Phyllis is a student at Leslie College. A married son, Leon, is a practicing attorney.

Mr. Fox is now available to assist all members of the congregation in any problem they may have regarding the arrangements for services and affairs at Temple Reyim.

Oak Hill Park Association

There will be a meeting of the Oak Hill Park Association, Inc., next Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. There will be a representative from the Waltham Field Station who will speak to the members on landscaping. Pictures will also be shown of additions to homes and information will be given on them. This should be of considerable interest to the group.

Last Monday night there were tryouts for the Oak Hill Park Association 1955 Show. The talent scouting was done at the Memorial School at 8 p.m.

Your Income Taxes

By JAMES R. CANAVAN, C.P.A.

This is the third in a series of eight articles on Federal and State income taxes distributed by Boston Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants.

On page 1 of the Federal tax return it says "Adjusted Gross Income." How is this amount determined?

Adjusted gross income, an extremely important figure on the tax return, is determined by deducting from your gross income certain expenses which relate to general business activities.

A partial list of these expenses, which are sometimes called adjusted gross deductions, follows:

1. Business expenses
2. Expenses of rental property
3. Travel expenses including the cost of meals and lodging while away from home in connection with your employment
4. Expenses of "outside salesmen"
5. Losses from sales of certain property

How many types of deductions are there on the Federal return?

There are two types of deductions on the return — adjusted gross deductions, which are listed on page 2, and other deductions, which are listed on page 3. Other deductions are more personal in nature, such as contributions to your church, real estate taxes on your residence, excessive medical expenses, etc.

It is very important to classify properly your expenses on a tax return. The proper classification of your expenses will, in many instances, reduce your tax liability. This point will be discussed further after "other deductions" have been explained.

What expenses of rental property may I deduct?

You may deduct depreciation, real estate taxes, interest on a mortgage, insurance, water and repairs. If you occupy one apartment in the house, you may not deduct the depreciation, insurance, water and repairs applicable to your apartment.

I occupied one apartment in a two-family house which I sold for a loss, May I deduct the entire loss on the sale?

No. You may deduct only that portion of the loss which is attributable to the rented apartment. The loss on the portion of the house occupied by you is considered a loss on the sale of a personal residence and is, therefore, not deductible.

I sold rental property in 1954. How should I report the sale on my tax return?

A gain on the sale of rental property is taxable and a loss is deductible. The gain or loss is the difference between the selling price of the property and its adjusted basis. The adjusted basis of your property is the original cost plus capital expenditures a new roof, a new boiler, storm doors and windows, etc.) minus depreciation. If you had a loss on the sale, you may deduct the full loss. If you had a profit on the sale and held the property for longer than six months, you pay a tax on only 50% of the gain.

Example: A taxpayer sold rental property, purchased in 1940, for $18,000 less a broker's commission of $900. The adjusted basis of the property was $10,000 (cost $12,000, plus capital expenditures, $2,000, minus depreciation, $4,000). Since the taxpayer held the property for longer than six months, he would pay a tax on 50% of the gain, $7,100 ($17,100-$10,000). If the property was sold for $8,000, less a broker's commission of $400, the taxpayer would deduct the full loss, $2,400 ($10,000-$7,600).

What expenses may an "outside salesman" deduct?

An "outside salesman" may deduct expenditures for entertainment, split commissions, secretarial help, transportation expenses and the like.

An "outside salesman" is a full-time employee engaged principally in soliciting business for his employer at places other than the employer's place of business.

Carleton-

"Distance is no longer measured in miles, but in understanding. Unfortunately, the very nearness of the nations, brought about by the swiftness of modern travel and instantaneous communication by radio, often produces misunderstanding rather than comprehension. In consequence our scientific progress, instead of bringing about understanding, has produced more urgent problems," says Dr. Carleton. "We are learning that to live as neighbors in this world our own influence abroad, diplomatic, economic, or of any kind, must be permeated by the spirit of Christ if it is to be at all representative of the life and thought of the Christian Church."

"The natural expectancy that as the world got smaller so Our Christian World Mission could shrink has been denied by the events that have come to pass. Instead the natural shrinking of the world has produced an expansion of our responsibilities until there is now no limit within the circle of the globe to what the Christian church must think and act upon if it is to fulfill its obligation as representative of 'the Gospel of Christ in the modern day,'" he adds.

Boston Edison Company and the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company have applied for joint pole and wire locations on Beacon street, 180 feet northeast of Belgrade road, Waban; and on Upland avenue, opposite Druid Hill road, Oak Hill.

Only six items for action have been forwarded by Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr. in time for inclusion into the preliminary docket for the aldermen's meeting.

The Street Department is seeking $7800 for drain and sewer construction on Cottonwood road, Oak Hill, and the Law Department is asking $2500 for technical assistance. The Engineering Department has requested a $280.12 appropriation to hire a temporary title clerk for the month of February.

The mayor has recommended a $30,000 appropriation for the Engineering Department to definitely establish the new precinct lines in Newton within the general bounds outlined by the Board of Aldermen in December.

Jewish Music Month To Be Held Feb. 2

The Rev. Russell N. Bishop and the Women's Guild of the First Baptist Church of Newton, and Rev. Nathaniel M. Gup-till and the Women's Benevolent Society of the First Church in Newton, Congregationalist, will be the guests of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel, Newton, at a luncheon meeting next Wednesday at 12:30 in the Community Hall of Temple Emanuel.

Also attending will be Mrs. Herbert J. Gezork, wife of the President of the Andover-New-ton Theological School, and the wives of the faculty members of the Theological School.

In addition to greetings from Mrs. David Short, Sisterhood President, and Dr. Albert J. Gordon, Rabbi of Temple Emanuel, there will be responses by the guest clergymen. Guided tours through the Temple and School buildings will be held for the guests.

The meeting will feature a program entitled "Songs of Our People" and will include vocal selections by Cantor Gabriel Hochberg of Temple Emanuel, the Sisterhood Choral Group, and violin selections by Mr. Louis Siagell, Choir Director. Accompanist for the program will be Mrs. Gert Teich.

Mrs. Barnett Grossman will be hostess of the day and the opening prayer will be read by Mrs. Frank Metcalf. Mrs. Al-fred Bernstein is Program Chairman.

Reciprocity of the invitation extended by the Women's Guild of the First Baptist Church during Brotherhood Week last year, and in keeping with the cordial relationships which have developed between Temple Emanuel and the Church groups

Countryside School Second Birthday

Countryside School celebrates its second birthday on Wednesday, February 2nd, and to mark the occasion two parties are planned. Directed by Recreation Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis, a party for the children will be held in the afternoon at 2:30 p.m. featuring John Sisson and his famous Punch and Judy Show. The children of all grades are cooperating in decorating the halls and foyer. Refreshments will be served to the children.

In the evening the parents will gather in the gymnasium for a Square Dance and Waltz Party. Chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Herman hope to make this a festive evening. Door Prizes are to be awarded and refreshments will be served.

Proceeds will be used towards the purchase of an electric typewriter as a birthday gift to the school. Further information may be obtained from the Herman's at DE 2-2548.

Emanuel Couples To Stage Parody

Casting rehearsals are now under way for the production of the Temple Emanuel Couples Club to be held Sunday, April 17, according to Mel and Dorothea Fine, presidents of the club.

Written by Dr. Herb Greenblatt and directed by Lou Sa-gel, the production will be a parodied version of Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Mikado." The show committee is headed by Manny and Leona Glickman.

Oak Hill Park Shopping Center To Open Shortly

The Oak Hill Park Shopping Center, long-awaited by residents of the veterans housing development and neighboring parts of Newton, is tentatively slated to open for business February 10.

A variety of goods and services will be offered in the newly-completed, modern business block. A special attraction for Newton shoppers is the center's huge, 500-car parking lot providing easy access to the stores at all times.

The Oak Hill Park Shopping Center can be reached by New-ton residents. Located on Saw Mill Brook parkway, the six-story block, complete with a gasoline station, is accessible from Spiers road, which runs off of Dedham street near the Newton-West Roxbury line.

The attractive new building, designed to fit in with the residential district of Oak Hill Park, is constructed of red brick in Colonial style archi-tecture. It is 283 feet long and 60 feet in depth at its widest point.

Stores in the new building include: Market Basket Super Market, Oak Park Pharmacy, Linda Mae Food Shop, Cohn-an's One Hour Cleaning Service, Leshner's Dairy and Deli-catessen, Oak Park Barber and Beauty Shop and an Amoco Service Station for the convenience of motorists.

Store owners in the Center have formed the Oak Hill Park Merchants' Association and elected the following officers: William Stocklan, Oak Park Pharmacy, president; Nathan Shuman, Market Basket treas-urer; and Gail Nathanson, Oak Park Barber and Beauty Shop, secretary.

The Association is making plans for a gala opening at which a number of attractive prizes will be given away, with the top prize a $1,000 mink stole.

In addition to the six stores, the management of the block has turned over another store to the city for use as a public library. This will enable Newton to move the current branch from the Memorial School, leaving that room open for classwork.

The exact date of the opening and more details about the prizes to be offered will be given in a later issue of The Newton Graphic.

Mrs. R. J. Barnett In Pair of Talks

Mrs. Russell J. Barnett of West Newton will speak on "Family Planning—the Modern Way" Saturday night before the Young Married Couples Club of the Second Congrega-tional Church in South Pea-body.

Mrs. Barnett, wife of a physician and mother of two children, spoke last Sunday on "Marriage in the Making" before the Older Youth Fellow-ship at the First Methodist Church in Medford. She holds a master of arts degree from the Yale University School of Nursing and is currently on the board of directors of the Planned Parenthood League of Massachusetts.

Newton O.R.T. to Hold Honor Roll Luncheons Tuesday, February 1

To celebrate O.R.T. Honor Roll Month, the Newton Chapter of Women's American O.R.T. (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) will hold two dessert luncheons Tuesday, February 1, to which the entire Newton membership has been invited. These will be held at the homes of Mrs. Joseph Sholkin, 32 Country Club Road, Oak Hill and Mrs. Harold Singer, 63 Nathan Road, Newton Centre. Mrs. Joseph Wolbarsht will be guest speaker at the home of Mrs. Sholkin, and Mrs. Norman Lasker will speak at the home of Mrs. Singer.

This year, which commemorates the 75th anniversary of World O.R.T., finds an increasing need for Honor Roll membership to meet the growing and insistent needs for the extension of vocational rehabilitation program of O.R.T. on a world scale. This program is four-pronged, consisting of: Maintenance for Overseas Training, which provides machinery, tools and materials; Guardianship, which provides supplementary social aid for students in 9 countries, most of which are located in the depressed areas of the world; Scholarship, which affords the most qualified students at the various O.R.T. schools the opportunity to receive advanced technological training at O.R.T.'s two Teachers' Training Institutes in Anieres, Switzerland (for men) and Paris (for women); and the Student Health Program, under which many schools operate clinics, dispensaries and first-aid rooms.

O.R.T. maintains 450 schools and workshops in 19 countries on 5 continents. During the brief period in which O.R.T. has operated in Israel, it has developed into the foremost educator of the country's youth for vital economic tasks. Hopes and plans for Israel's economic future as an independent, democratic country count decisively on a steady improvement in the people's work capacity and productivity—the tasks to which O.R.T. is dedicated.

Guardianship has been of special significance in an area such as North Africa owing to the desperate economic plight of the O.R.T. student. While Guardianship is not the aim of O.R.T., it is, in a sense, a prerequisite for that aim in many places. Iran, the newest area to receive Guardianship aid, will this year see installed a proper water system so that drinking water, showers and proper sanitary installation will be made available in all the buildings. A boy's dormitory shall be equipped and a school medical program introduced.

O.R.T. started 75 years ago what the world recognizes today as the most vital ingredient for a solution to human affairs and world peace. They have trained thousands of refugees, displaced persons and underprivileged human beings to become useful, productive, self-respecting citizens. Public support of O.R.T.'s program of helping man to help himself is of vital importance in redeeming human lives, for a diploma from an O.R.T. school is a passport to life.

The following Newton members who have already pledged Honor Roll Membership for this year are: the Mesdames David Ayman, Elliott Benjamin, Paul Berkowitz, Arnold Bloch, Leo Bloch, Robert Baron, Arthur Burnes, A. Cibul, Frank Cohen, Arnold Cutler, Lester Fields, Murray Finard, Harry Finn, Edward Frutman, Ira Gerler, Fred Glass, Edward Goldfine, A. Gordon, Barnett Gordon, Joseph Gottlieb, Milton Graham, Seymour Hambro, Joel Huberman, David Kadetsky, Samuel Kowal, Warren Kohn, Louis Lappin, Peter Leavitt, Mark Levine, Theodore Libby, Philip Lowe, Harry Marks, Joseph Marks, Lee Myers, Harold Marcus, Nelson Noble, Bertram Petkun, Alfred Reiss, Stanley Rosenbaum, Herbert Rubin, Alfred Sharenow, Joseph Sholkin, Harold Singer, Paul Smith, Sidney Stoneman, Arthur Sweet, Alan Tichnor, J. S. Tarlow, Joseph Wolbarsht.

Hostesses at the home of Mrs. Sholkin will be: the Mesdames Harry Marks, Fred Glass, Joseph Miller and Joel Huberman. At the home of Mrs. Singer hostesses will be: the Mesdames Ira Gerler, Ralph Goldstein, Leo Bloch and Samuel Kowal.

The Regional Chairman of Honor Roll is Mrs. Lee Myers of Newton, and the Newton Chairman is Mrs. Alfred Sharenow.

A summer wedding is being planned by Miss June Huntington Palmer, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth N. Palmer of Wellesley, announce her engagement to Mr. William E. Conant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira M. Conant of Waban.

Miss Palmer is a graduate of Slidmore College, Department of Nursing, class of 1953. She is on the staff of the Newton Visiting Nurse Association. Mr. Conant served with the U.S. Navy four years.

Miss Paquet to Marry E. P. Flynn

The engagement of Miss Mary-Jean Paquet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Paquet of Newton Highlands and Marshfield, to Edward Peter Flynn, son of Mrs. Luke J. Keenan of Quincy, is announced by her parents.

Miss Paquet is a graduate of Mt. Alvernia Academy, attended Pembroke College and is a graduate of Katherine Gibbs School. Mr. Flynn attended Boston University, and is now an aviation cadet with the U.S.A.F. in Harlingen, Texas.

Central Circle

Central Circle of Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, was entertained last Tuesday evening by Miss Margaret Konetzney of Clarendon street, who talked of a recent trip to Europe. Her sister, Miss Gertrude Konetzney, showed a very beautiful collection of colored pictures taken in Germany, Holland, Austria, Switzerland, Italy and France. This church group, comprised of women of all ages, from other churches, as well as Central Church, meets each month. On the evening of Feb. 15, Earle F. Johnson of New England Interiors, Wellesley Hills, will give one of his fascinating lectures on "Interior Decorating".

Mammoth Rummage Sale to be at Newtonville Methodist Church

An event of interest to all who love a bargain will be held in the basement of the Newtonville Methodist Church, entrance on Newtonville avenue, Friday, February 4, at 7 p.m.

A mammoth Rummage Sale will offer new and old partially worn clothes for all ages to be worn now and later on for spring and summer. Household linens, utensils, dishes, books, bric-a-brac and other items too numerous to list will be on sale. There will be something for everyone at unbelievably low prices.

Among the women who will serve are: Mrs. Edward Raphael, Mrs. Robert Hoskins, Mrs. Harold DeWolfe, Mrs. David Rallsback, Mrs. Robert Vaughan, Mrs. Edward Kimball, Mrs. Paul Lockwood, Mrs. Joseph Heiser, Mrs. Mack Herron, Miss Henrietta Benhoy, and others. Chairmen for the two groups sponsoring the Rummage Sale are Mrs. John Morgenthau, Group VII, and Mrs. George Tracy, Group V, of the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Brotherhood of Temple Shalom Juniors to Hold Panel Discussion

The Brotherhood of Temple Shalom of Newton has been fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Arthur Blumberg as moderator Sunday at 7:30 p.m., in a program for the Juniors of Temple Shalom (JOTS) and their parents.

Dr. Blumberg is an Assistant Professor at Springfield College and is a Doctor of Education. He has had a great deal of experience in handling early-teen questions and problems.

There will be a panel and floor discussions on such important teenage topics as: Dating, Curfew Hour, Parties, Popularity, and Parent-Teen Relationships. The panel will be composed of four parents from the Temple membership, Mrs. Frank Kaplan, Mrs. Elmer Rigelhaupt, Mr. Sidney Morrison and Mr. Joel Bloom. The remainder of the panel will consist of three boys and three girls elected by the JOTS themselves with one each from the seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

Community Service Club

The monthly meeting of the Community Service Club of West Newton was held January 19 at Second Church, West Newton. Members and guests enjoyed a demonstration of flower arrangements given by a Wellesley florist. Spring flowers and many new materials were used to show formal and informal arrangements.

Hostesses for the one o'clock coffee hour were: Mrs. Theodore C. Danker and Mrs. Malcolm A. Warren. Pourers were Mrs. Nathan Bughu and Mrs. Nelson Dorr. Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, president, opened the business meeting at 2 p.m.

The art representative for the twelfth district of the State Federation, Miss Florence Alexander, announced that there will be a guided tour of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to view Oriental Art, February 10. This will be followed by a visit to the Gardner Museum and a concert there. Everyone is invited.

Mrs. Raymond J. Grenier, veterans' service chairman, conveyed the thanks of patients at the Jamaica Plain Veterans' Hospital for the gifts sent them at Christmas.

A pot luck luncheon will be featured at the meeting, February 16, followed by a program from the Drama committee. Mrs. Constance Potter is chairman.

Event Tomorrow For Newton East Little Leaguers

The Oak Hill Cubs, champions of the Newton East Little League, will be cited at the Third Annual Awards Night of the League tomorrow (Friday) night at 8 p.m. in the Bowen School, Newton Centre.

Special guests will include Cong. Lawrence A. Curtis, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr. and C. Evan Johnson, Newton's director of recreation. They will be introduced by Sidney J. Simons, outgoing president of the league.

In addition to the champions, awards will also be made to the "All-Stars" and to all boys who played in the East Little League circuit last year. Chairman Gene Blinn will call the roll of "graduates"—boys too old to compete in the Little Leagues—and a special gift will be presented to them. The incoming president, George J. Cleary, will discuss his plans for the coming season.

Lutheran Church Bean Supper Sat.

The annual bean supper sponsored by the Men's Club of the Lutheran Church of the Newtons is scheduled for Saturday night at 6 o'clock at the Parish Hall, corner of Cypress and Centre streets, Newton.

Profits from the supper will go toward the church's Debt Reduction Fund and the Exterior Painting Fund. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the club or may be purchased at the door.

Outing Club Skis At Peterborough

Seventy-three outing club members of Newton High accompanied by Miss Barbara Davis and Miss Marilyn Bickford of the Phys. Ed. Dept. of Newton High School went on a skiing trip last weekend, January 21-23, to Boston University's Sargent College Camp in Peterborough, N. H. Besides having instruction in skiing and skating, the girls were able to learn a little about dog-sledding.

They did they have the sled, but also some Siberian huskies to pull it. The girls left the school by bus at four o'clock Friday afternoon, and returned after supper Sunday night.

Harvey Towvim Publicity Mgr. Of Amherst Unit

Harvey L. Towvim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Towvim of 28 Cotton street, Newton, has been named publicity manager of the Amherst Travel Information Service at Amherst College, where he is a member of the sophomore class.

Towvim was elected to the newly-created post by the Student Council, sponsor of the service. The Travel Service is to obtain information of student travel throughout the world and make this information available to Amherst undergraduates.

A graduate of Gov. Dummer Academy, Towvim is a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity at Amherst.

Newton Art Association

Members of the Newton Art Association are looking forward to Thursday evening February 3rd at 7:45 at the Newtonville Library, when the guest artist will be Mr. Bernard Keyes, painter and teacher and a member of the Boston Guild of Artists. Mr. Keyes' portrait of the late Mayor Edwin O. Childs may be seen at the main Public Library at Newton Corner, and several of his paintings are being shown at the Newton National Bank on Centre Street. The evening will be devoted to a criticism of members' paintings.

More than one hundred members and guests were present when Mr. Emile Gruppe, celebrated Gloucester artist, gave his painting demonstration. Mr. Gruppe depicted a late afternoon scene on the Gloucester waterfront showing various types of fishing boats with their colorful reflections in the water. During the several stages of his painting the artist emphasized the importance of good drawing, proper balance and composition, simplicity and a regard for color values at every stage of the painting.

Paintings have been selected by the jury for the fifth annual R. H. Stearns Art exhibit at Chestnut Hill which will commence on February 11th. Mrs. Jessie Granger, exhibition chairman, announced that the show will continue through Saturday, February 26th and the public is cordially invited to see what promises to be an exhibit much larger and more interesting than ever. Other members of the committee are Jeanne Peters, Shepard Williams, Esther Connolly, and H. Story Granger.

Reunion Dinner Of Roxbury MHS

Roxbury Memorial High School for Girls' Class of 1929 is holding a belated 25th reunion dinner Monday at 7 p.m. at the Hotel Kenmore.

Members of the class who have not as yet been contacted are requested to get in touch with Mrs. Ruth Alpert Yaffe at LAsell 7-4976 or Mrs. Minna Goodman Aronson at MAlden 2-3206.

Woman's Club of Newton Highlands

On Wednesday, February 2, at 12:30, in the Workshop there will be a Chinese luncheon, the proceeds of which will go for the Club's philanthropies. Tickets are 99 cents and members are urged to get theirs as early as possible from Mrs. Paige.

Following the luncheon the Educational committee under Mrs. Nehemiah Roulstone and the International Relations committee under Mrs. Spencer F. Deming are sponsoring a program on India. Mrs. Eugene Redmond will speak and present colored pictures of India and a movie entitled "Somewhere in India" will show the important work of the U.N. Health Program there.

On Tuesday, February 8, the Art committee, Mrs. Melbourne A. McCullough, chairman, is planning another trip to the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. Miss Randall will show displays and comment on "Fabrics—Damasks and Brocades in Particular."

Sisterhood of Temple Shalom

The monthly meeting of the Sisterhood of Temple Shalom of Newton will take place next Wednesday. The speaker for the afternoon will be Sol Kolack, Director of the New England Regional Office of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. Mr. Kolack's topic will be "Target: Democracy—The Story of Anti-Defamation League" and will be illustrated with color slides. Mr. Kolack will discuss the role of the Anti-Defamation League in facing the problems which affect the community.

The opening prayer will be delivered by Mrs. Bertram Litman. The hostess of the day will be Mrs. George Hyde, and Mrs. Kenneth Huberman, President of the Sisterhood, will preside. A coffee hour at 1:15 p.m. will precede the meeting.

2 Water Safety Courses Begin Next Wednesday

Applications are already being received for two swimming courses—one in senior life saving and the other for water safety instructors—to be given by the Red Cross in the pool of the Walter E. Fernald School, 200 Trapelo road, Waverly.

In charge of the application is Mrs. Morris H. Adler, vice-chairman of the Water Safety Program. Overall supervision is being given by Gilbert J. Champagne, chairman of safety services of the local chapter.

The class will have a maximum enrollment of 25 young men and women 18 years of age or older, who are seeking to become qualified as swimming instructors or life guards during the summer months. Anyone interested in these Wednesday evening courses should contact Mrs. Adler at LAsell 7-6000.

Newtonville Sgt. With Air Force

Following six years of service in the Massachusetts National Guard with the 101st Field Artillery, Sgt. Albert Newman Jr., of 121 Lowell avenue, Newtonville, is now in training with the Air Force at Sampson Air Force Base, N. Y.

A 1949 graduate of Our Lady's High School, he has worked in the Newtonville Office of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company and before entering the service was assistant buyer of fabrics in the "SI Shop" of the Paine Furniture Company.

Hospital Junior Aid Association

Members of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid Association met at the hospital last Thursday evening for a most interesting program. Mrs. Thomas E. Franks of Wellesley Hills conducted the business meeting and conveyed appreciation and thanks, in the form of a letter from Mr. William S. Brines, hospital director, to the association for their recent contribution of $1,000 to the hospital, in celebration of the association's 5th Anniversary. Plans were formed for the annual Rummage Sale to be held April 2, and a Silent Auction to be held at the May meeting. Mrs. William Baker of Wellesley Hills, Treasurer, read the final report of the recent Christmas Bazaar.

At the conclusion of the business meeting, Mrs. Jack S. Parker, program chairman, introduced Mrs. Lucien B. Taylor of Dover. Thoughts immediately turned to Spring as Mrs. Taylor unfolded suggestions and plans for the amateur gardeners, particularly stressing design and the use of wild flowers. Mrs. Taylor illustrated her talk with a series of magnificent colored slides showing what can be done over a period of years throughout the grounds of a suburban home.

Refreshments were provided by the hospitality committee. Headed by Mrs. Edward Allen of Newton Highlands, members of the committee included: Mrs. Gilman Conant, Mrs. Herman Chilton, Mrs. Arthur Crosbie, Mrs. John Havlin and Miss Christine Barnes of Wellesley and Mrs. Richard Schofield of Newton. Pourers were Miss Nancy Cole of West Newton and Miss Joan Gordon of Newton Highlands.

Bacon, President, described the early history and its origin in 1877 in a member's home, and that the present building was built in 1911. Leonard D. Garfield, in charge of adult activities, gave a brief description of the program for adult participation, and John E. Danielson in charge of the youth program told of the many activities for youth, both boys and girls, at the "Y" and the summer camping program. David H. Jones, Treasurer of the Hi Y Club and Ann R. Barrs, Secretary of the Tri Hi Y Club, both members of the youth program, gave personal testimonies of their respective participation in this program. Alex R. Miller, Secretary of the Newton Y.M.C.A. concluded the program and thanked all who had participated in making the activities so successful for the youth of Newton.

Newton O.R.T.

Mrs. Albert J. Feldman, President of Eastern Mass. Region, Women's American O.R.T. (Organization for Rehabilitation through Training) announces the observance of Nation O.R.T. Day in this community on March 8, 1955. Mrs. Myer A. Moscow, Regional Membership Supervisor, will be chairman of the day.

The following personnel of the Newton Afternoon Chapter and the Newton Evening Chapter will meet with her Monday evening, January 31st, at the O.R.T. office, 325 Harvard street, Brookline, at 8 p.m. to discuss final plans for the O.R.T. Day program:

Presidents Mrs. Alfred Reiss and Mrs. David Carlson, both of Newton; All Membership and Hospitality Chairmen; All Financial Secretaries; All Publicity and Public Relations Chairmen.

Tryouts for a musical comedy to be given at New England Mutual Hall on O.R.T. Day will be held tonight at Filene's Chestnut Hill Skylight Room at

You and your friends are cordially invited to attend this meeting and to hear Mr. Casady.

College Notes

Miss Jane Lynch of 1784 Washington street, Auburndale, a member of "Swimphonics," a swim exhibition group from the Boston Young Women's Christian Association, along with 12 other members of the group has been invited to participate this evening in an exhibition at the Newton YMCA in connection with YMCA week observances.

She also took part in a swimming demonstration last Saturday afternoon at the University Club held in conjunction with squash and badminton tournaments.

Barbara Lynch, a sophomore at Lake Erie College, Painesville, Ohio, has received a "Faculty Citation for Scholarly Distinction" for her outstanding academic achievement during the fall term, according to an announcement made this week by Dr. C. T. Ruddick, secretary of the college.

Miss Lynch is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Lynch of 70 Moffat road, Waban.

...Spotlight On Weeks...

The Presto Club is now planning its annual Magic Show. In past years they have put the show on once, but this year they plan to present it twice. This will avoid overcrowding. The dates for the show are January 25 and 26, after school. Tickets may be purchased with an S.A.M. or with 25 cents. This show, as those in the past, promises to be a great one.

In Visit to Temple Shalom

Last Saturday the Junior Department of the Central Congregational Church School of Newtonville visited Temple Shalom. This group of fourth, fifth and six graders was accompanied by Edmund Sundin, superintendent of the Junior Department.

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman conducted them around the Temple and explained some of the aspects of Judaism and the significance of the various ceremonial objects.

American males spent $150,000,000 on felt and straw hats last year.

Chestnut Hill Co-operative Bank to Open Saturday

This Saturday, the Chestnut Hill Co-operative Bank will formally open for business the doors of its new quarters at 1218 Boylston street, Chestnut Hill. The bank is located in a new modern Colonial building directly across the street from the Hammond Street Chestnut Hill shopping center on Route 9.

The hours on opening day will be from 12 noon to 9 p.m. and the formal opening ceremonies will be presided over by Edward Dane, Chairman of the Board of Selectmen of the Town of Brookline, and Howard Whitmore, Mayor of the City of Newton.

The bank officials began business on October 1, 1954, in temporary quarters and have now moved into their new home especially constructed for them. The regular banking hours will be Monday through Friday 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. and it will be open Friday evening from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. for the benefit of those who are unable to bank during working hours. Also, banking may be done by mail in the specially provided postage paid bank-by-mail envelopes.

In addition, it offers the following services: systematic monthly savings accounts, regular savings accounts, paid-up share certificates, registered checks, direct reduction mortgages, G.I. mortgages, F.H.A. mortgages, construction loans, and home modernization loans.

All deposits are insured in full under Massachusetts laws.

The bank is a member of The Co-operative Central Bank, Massachusetts Co-operative Bank League, United States Savings & Loan League, and Massachusetts Bankers Association.

The Officers are: Grafton Fay, President; Stanley Gruber, Executive Vice-President and Treasurer; Harvey G. Clauson, Jr., Vice-President; Myer J. Levin, Vice-President; Ernest T. Ridlon, Assistant Treasurer; Sydney M. Goldfine, Assistant Treasurer; Morton M. Goldfine, Clerk.

The Directors are: Thomas Black, Robert C. Cochran, Jr., Hon. Martin Colton, James Condos, David L. Currier, Grafton Fay, Harry E. Franks, Morton M. Goldfine, Stanley Gruber, Myer J. Levin, Myron C. Roberts, Joseph Silvano, Melvin M. Starensier, Earl A. Umlah, Jerome J. Werby.

As banking consultants it has the advice and guidance of Charles M. Williams, Associate Professor of Banking, Harvard Business School, and Leonard Marks, Jr., Assistant Professor of Banking, Harvard Business School.

The incorporators, in addition to several of the Directors, include Owen M. Carle, Charles Kenny, Colin M. O'Brien, Theodore A. Glynn, Jr., Julian Cohen, Harold Horvitz, Arthur L. Brown, Richard H. Lee, Francis W. Muldowney, Jr., Harold G. Kirk, and Francis O. McDonnell.

Mr. Carmen, Mass. JWV Commander Is Honored

William Carmen of 48 Philmore road, Newton, Massachusetts Commander of the Jewish War Veterans, was honored at a testimonial dinner January 16 at the Hotel Sheraton Plaza, for "seven years of devoted service to the Jewish War Veterans and his community."

Born in Salem, Mr. Carmen has three children, Jane Susan, Ruby Nancy, and Dawn. He was graduated from the Saltonstall School in Salem and Worcester Academy. He received his B.S., and B.A. from Boston University in 1941.

He received a U.S. Government Aeronautics Authority ground instructor certificate in 1942 and received an appointment and was graduated from the U.S. Navy Teacher Training College in Chicago. He was an instructor in the U.S. Navy Technical Training Center in Jacksonville, Fla., from 1942 to 1944 and received an award from the U.S. Marine Aviation Training Unit as "outstanding Civilian Instructor." He resigned from this position in 1944 to enter the U.S. Navy.

He joined the JWV as a charter life member of the Sgt. Milton Louis Zelmeyer Post 627 in 1948. After holding various positions in the Post, he became Post Commander in 1951. He established the first Child Welfare Program at New England Home for Crippled Children, Children's Cancer Research Center and Ladies' Helping Hand Home for Jewish Children. He attained the largest increase in membership in Post history and won the Department membership award for the Post in 1952.

Active also in other community activities, he is the founder of the William Carmen Peace Award, Saltonstall Grammar School, given annually for self-expression on important problems of the day facing youth; active in the John Ward School PTA; CJA solicitor and captain; chairman of JWV's CJA "pilot project" in 1954, for which he received a special CJA citation.

He is a member of Temple Emanuel, Newton; Escambia Lodge, A.F. & A.M.; Pensacola Consistory A. & A. Scottish Rites; and Aleppo Temple. He is a life member of Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children and a member of American Legion Post 48 of Newton.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Kevin Carmen of Newton, he is married to the former Beverly Elaine Lipson of Providence, R.I., whom he married in 1941. Mrs. Carmen was the first president of the Sgt. Milton Louis Zelmeyer Ladies Auxiliary. They

Old Time Silent And Sound Movies Friday

Old time silent and sound movies will be presented by the Y Knights Junior Hi-Y Club Friday evening, January 28, at 7:30 p.m. at the YMCA as this club's presentation in observance of National YMCA Week.

Members and friends of the Newton YMCA are invited to attend these movies which are considered by many people to be the greatest comic movies ever filmed. On the program will be Harold Lloyd in "Spring Fling" and "Safety Last" and Buster Keaton in his most successful comedy, "The General". In addition to these excerpts from great films, there will be shown two documentary films. One is history of the movies and the other is made up of newsreel shots of "The Gay Nineties".

It was the thought of the Y Knights Junior Hi-Y Club that many of the elder citizens of Newton and vicinity would enjoy an opportunity to see again some of the movies which were being shown during the 1920's in America and a large attendance is anticipated.

Due to the cost of securing these old films, a small donation is being asked of those who attend.

At least 20 manufacturing companies today cater to the educated appetites of U. S. household pets. Dog food alone marked up $200,000,000 sales in 1953 — almost double the sales of 1947.

MacRae, Clooney And Haley at Totem Pole Sat.

It looks like Standing Room Only at the Totem Pole this Saturday, when Gordon MacRae, Betty Clooney and Bill Haley and his Comets star on "Totem Pole Matinee."

The unique TV-record hop emanates each week from the Totem Pole ballroom at Norumbega Park in Auburndale. Presented over WBZ-TV, Channel 4 each Saturday at 2 p.m., it has consistently thrilled teenagers and record fans since it was inaugurated a few weeks ago by Howard Johnson's and Ken Mayer, producer. Doors open at 12:30 p.m. so that all may be seated before air time.

Some lucky teenagers may swoon on the spot, because a few of them will be chosen to dance with MacRae. Others will form a panel with Betty and the Comets and discuss new records. Besides repeating some of the songs she sings each morning on the Jack Paar T.V. show over CBS, Betty will be interviewed by Stan Richards, the show's genial disc jockey.

Gordon will do some of the light things he has chosen for the "Comedy Hour" and also songs from many of his Warner Brothers' pictures. And of course, Haley will lead his group in "Shake, Rattle and Roll" and "Dim, Dim the Lights."

They say that there are about 32,000,000 of us in this fortunate land who are overweight and yearning to reduce.

What's in the cards for YOU?

A new home, a new car, a college education for the children, a thrilling vacation for the family... all these and more can be yours, if you save for them in advance.

Deal yourself in on good times ahead. Make sure you have an "ace in the hole" when emergencies or opportunities arise. It's as easily done as said when you save regularly here.

It's Remarkable!

Easiest of All Paints to Apply

It's the talk of the town! Gold Bond Velvet, the sensational new, rubber-base paint, flows on so smoothly, so easily that even beginners marvel at the beautiful appearance it gives to walls and woodwork. Self-priming, one-hour drying Velvet provides a tough, durable film that won't chip or crack; stays lovely-to-look-at even after repeated scrubbing. Twelve thrilling, new colors plus hundreds of intermixes.

SECRET of Velvet's resiliency is its base of latex—the magic ingredient that goes into making today's long-wearing tires.

TOUCH UP "missed" spots while painting with Velvet. The result will be a uniform finish because Velvet blends in.

SELF-SEALER. Velvet may be applied right over paint, plaster, wallboard, and wallpaper — without an undercoater.

SCRUBABLE. Finger marks, food smears wash right off Velvet-painted walls... without harming the rich, velvety finish.

Newton Sports

For the first time this season, Newton High's winter sports squads all came through with victories during the week—although it took a clutch performance by guard Al Rogan Friday night against Brookline to keep the string intact . . . Rogan pulled Newton's bacon out of the fire with three foul shots in the final seven seconds of play, giving the Tigers 54-53 nod. The local skaters dumped Rindge Technical 3-1 to tie for fourth spot in the Greater Boston Interscholastic League, and the Orange trackmen won eight of nine events in a 58½ to 18½ romp over Medford. This was the first win of the year for Newton in the Metropolitan Interscholastic Track League . . . Of the three events, the basketball win was the most heart-throbbing as Rogan, normally a low scorer, hooped 14 points to lead his teammates. Brookline couldn't do anything right from the floor in the first period and the Tigers—not so sharp themselves—hopped off to a 12-4 lead. By halftime this margin had dwindled to 24-20, but in the third quarter Newton was out in front by as much as nine points . . . But in the fourth canto, the Orange went completely sour. Brookline tossed in 13 points while Newton could only gather six, and the Tigers found themselves behind for the first time . . . As the game started to fly out the window with only seven seconds to play, Rogan was awarded a two-shot foul. The score was 53-51, setting up Rogan with a chance to tie. But Al could only sink one, and it looked as though Newton had really blown one.

With only one second remaining, however, Rogan got another chance with a brace of fouls. This time he calmly dunked both of them, and time expired before Brookline had a chance to do anything about scoring. . . . A brief fracas threatened to erupt into a free-for-all in the third period. Both teams settled down after the scuffle was halted by the referees and the coaches, and the boys played basketball after that.

At the Boston Arena Saturday afternoon, the Tigers climbed into a fourth-place deadlock with Medford by defeating Rindge Tech, 3-1. An oddity of the victory was that in addition to giving the Tigers a two-win, two-tied, two-loss record, Newton also ended up with a 12 goals for, 12 against mark . . . The last game of the regular season comes tomorrow (Friday) night, when the Orange and Black face off against Arlington shortly after 7 o'clock. A win over Arlington would assure Newton of winding up in the first division, since it seems unlikely that Medford—with a 3-3 record—will be able to upset unbeaten, high-scoring Belmont in the companion game. . . . Next week the G.B.I. starts its post-season playoffs, with the top four teams and the bottom four playing round-robin tournaments. Considering the tightness of the league standings, the team ending up on top of the second division will probably complete the season close to the runner-up spot. While the top four teams are knocking each other around, a strong fifth-place finisher would find the bottom half of the league fairly easy pickings, and a quick six points would boost any team far up the ladder . . . Although the round-robin is listed as a tournament, the victories gained are added to the season's total. So sometimes it is better to end the season like a whirlwind, rather than hit a slump at the end when the competition is the toughest.

Newton's win against Rindge followed the pattern of most of its games. The Orange and Black skaters fired shots all afternoon against the enemy cage, but they had little success in getting the disc past the goalie . . . The goaltender blocked the tremendous total of 37 blasts, and Rindge defensemen got in front of almost half as many. As usual, the Tigers managed to set up some pretty plays at the Rindge end. Still lacking, however, is someone to finish off the setups by getting the disc into the cage.

Despite Newton's wide margin in total shots, as well as the territorial edge in play, the score was tied, 1-1, going into the third period. Ken Keyes tallied first at the 7-minute mark of the opening quarter after Billy Reilly fed him a pass close in. Keyes fired, had the shot blocked, picked up his own rebound and blasted home again . . . A Rindge skater was left unguarded in front of the Newton net a minute later, and Brian Dooley was helpless before the backhand shot. Shortly after the third period started, winger Pete Fitzgerald led a 3-man rush into the Rindge zone. His shot was blocked, but Paul Ryan pounced on the rebound and slid it over to Fitzgerald for the tally. Keyes picked up his second goal 18 seconds before the end of the game, again converting a pass from Reilly . . . Newton's track win over Medford was nearly a shutout as far as first-place are concerned. Only the dash was taken by the Mustangs . . . Oddest part of the win was the performance of stellar shotputter Mel Shine, who was throwing the 12-pound lead sack like a baseball. He easily smashed the existing Metropolitan record with a 54 ft., 3 inch heave . . . Then the officials examined the ball and found that not enough lead shot had been placed in the canvas bag, with the result that it only weighed 11 pounds. Shine's toss stood as the winning mark for the meet, but naturally no record is in sight.
